Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 373 - Quality Engineering

A comprehensive coverage of modern quality control techniques including the design of statistical process control systems, acceptance sampling and process improvement.

Prerequisites: MATH 230^D and (STAT 252^D or STAT 350^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 382 - Sustainable Processes

Exploration of the scientific and legal progress in sustainability. Students will learn both the theory of sustainability as well as how sustainable processes can be implemented throughout an organization.

Prerequisites: PHYS 217^D and MATH 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 398 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 402 - Work Design

Introductory tools required for analyzing and designing both the job and the worksite in a cost-effective manner, as well as measuring the resulting output. These tools include human information processing, basic auditory and visual displays, anthropometry and musculoskeletal principles, cumulative trauma disorders, work measurement and stopwatch time study. Students taking this course should be familiar with the basic concepts of cost.

Prerequisite: ISE 372 (may be taken concurrently)^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 410 - Engineering Project Management

This course is an introduction to the concepts and practices of project management. It provides students with a basic exposure to the tasks and challenges facing today's engineering projects and in particular, those of the project manager. This course also provides students with the quantitative tools for the successful management of engineering projects. The problems of selecting projects, initiating projects, and operating and controlling projects will be discussed in this course.

Prerequisite: ENGR 340^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 420 - Simulation of Industrial Systems

In this course, the student will develop an understanding and need for discrete event simulation in practice. The course will focus on basic and advanced concepts in simulation modeling including analyzing simulation results, and successfully developing simulation models useful in production/manufacturing, supply chains, transportation, and other areas related to industrial and Manufacturing Engineering. Simulation package such as ARENA will be integrated and used throughout.

Prerequisites: (MATH 311^D or ISE 311^D) and STAT 350^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 421 - Supply Chain & Logistics Engineering

Overview of key logistics and supply chain management processes, concepts and methodologies. Emphasis is given to the Lean development of supply chain management, the analysis of logistics cost and service trade-offs among inventory transportation and warehousing activities, the strategic role of information technology in supply chains, the use of third-party logistics providers, and the methods of measuring the value of logistics performance. Instruction may include problem-based learning pedagogy.

Prerequisites: ISE 311 (may be taken concurrently)^D and ISE 373^{*D} (may be taken concurrently).

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 430 - Production Planning & Control

This course equips students with knowledge of fundamental issues in production and inventory planning and control while developing the students' modeling and analytical skills. This course emphasizes the application of industrial engineering theory and practice to the area of operations management and production planning/control. This course will cover analysis and understanding of forecasting, aggregate planning, operations strategy, capacity planning, supply-chain management, just-in-time systems, lean manufacturing, agile manufacturing, materials replacement planning, inventory management, and scheduling and sequencing.

Prerequisites: ENGR 340^D and ISE 372^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 432 - Productivity Analysis

Techniques for measuring and assessing productivity for output, labor, capital and input. Aggregation of productivity growth will also be discussed.

Prerequisite: MATH 231^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 440 - Health Care Systems Engineering

The course examines the technical structure of the healthcare delivery system and the role that industrial engineering (IE) plays in its design and improvement. Included will be how healthcare systems work in hospitals, medical offices, clinics and other healthcare organizations. Traditional IE methods for improving quality, patient safety, and employee productivity and satisfaction will be present within a systematic application of value chain engineering designed to produce lean processes.

Prerequisites: ISE 311^D and ISE 373^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 442 - Human Factors Engineering

An analytic study of human factors that need to be taken into account in the design and engineering of complex workplace systems. Body mechanics will be used to understand the needs of humans in the workplace under a variety of different constraints: physical demands, environmental conditions, human capability. system design considerations aimed at reducing safety hazards will be studied.

Prerequisite: ISE 402^D

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 460 - Engineering Risk Analysis

This course is an introduction to risk, risk assessment, and risk management in engineering systems. It focuses on building mathematical models to assess and quantify risk principally by following the methodologies of probabilistic risk analysis. In particular, the course covers concepts of risk analysis, risks in engineered systems; methods of risk analysis, fault trees and event trees; quantification of probabilities, use of data, models, and expert judgments; risks and decisions, interlinking risk analysis with risk management; applications to cybersecurity.

Prerequisite: STAT 350^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 462 - Lean Systems

The design and delivery of services. Topics include how to design and improve service offerings for sustained excellence, how to identify and overcome challenges in service delivery. Both traditional services as well as e-commerce service will be studied for both the private and public sector.

Prerequisite: ISE 372^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 480 - Industrial and Systems Engineering Undergraduate Research
Research and design problems of limited scope approved on an individual basis intended to promote independent study; results of study presented in writing.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Junior 1, Junior 2, Senior 1 or Senior 2.

ISE 487 - Industrial and Systems Engineering Senior Project I

This course provides a proposal preparation for ISE 488 which includes defining a comprehensive problem in design involving systems in manufacturing, service, and other systems to improve efficiency and quality, and optimize the resources utilization.

Prerequisites: ISE 370^D and ISE 420^D and ISE 421^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 1

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 488 - Senior Project II

Senior project in industrial and systems engineering. Requires students to complete a multi-dimensional project in their area of interest: industry, health-care, etc. The project must be approved by ISE faculty no later than the end of the fourth week of the start of the course. Students will be invited to propose their own projects or create one in collaboration with ISE faculty.

Prerequisite: ISE 487^D

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Senior 1 or Senior 2.

ISE 490 - Independent Study

Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

ISE 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Interdisciplinary Programs (INDP)

INDP 102 - Introduction to Interdisciplinary Studies

Developing a critical lens to engage in cultural studies through interdisciplinary perspectives with a specific focus on cultural diversity.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

INDP 103 - Contemporary Social Problems

An analysis of major social problems confronting modern society.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course

INDP 104 - Principles of Sociology

Basic concepts of social behavior, group structure and group processes.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

INDP 106 - Race and Ethnic Diversity in the USA

An introduction to racial and ethnic diversity in the U.S.A., with focus on trends in immigration, demographics, socio-cultural dynamics and issues, past and present.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring & Summer Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Transfer Thread Completion Course

INDP 108 - Introduction to Anthropology

Human beings as cultural and biological entities. Emphasis is on primitive and peasant societies.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

INDP 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. This course will set students along the path to becoming engaged with issues and scholarship important to a 21st century education while they learn about themselves and their place in the world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

INDP 170 - Making Sense of Our Social World

The course is an introduction to the techniques and strategies used by interdisciplinary social scientists to develop an understanding of the root causes, social context, and personal consequences that define the key issues of our contemporary social and cultural worlds.

Credits: 3

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

INDP 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

INDP 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

INDP 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

INDP 211 - Biological Anthropology

This course provides an understanding of the place of the human species within the biological system. It stresses the concepts and processes of evolution and emphasizes the study of human and non-human primates as seen in the fossil record as well as through study of genetics and behavior.

Credits: 3

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

INDP 212 - Archaeology/World Prehistory

A discussion of culture history around the world based on archaeological evidence. It begins with early signs of culture called the Paleolithic or Old Stone Age of Africa, Asia, Europe and America (where it is named Paleo Indian), and concludes with the rise of complex, stratified cultures based on agriculture in the Middle East, America, and East Asia.

Credits: 3

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

INDP 226 - Population and Society

Sociological/anthropological analysis of selected population trends, problems and controversies in the contemporary world-both literate and non-literate.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

INDP 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

INDP 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

INDP 298 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

INDP 304 - Urban Sociology

Sociological aspects of urban life. Includes metropolitan areas and small cities.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 309 - Health and Society

An analysis of health services, public policy and institutional relations. Note: This course is taught from either a sociological or anthropological viewpoint. The student should check with the instructor to determine the approach being taken in the current offering.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 310 - Cultural Area Studies

Anthropology course dealing with sociocultural phenomena of specific cultural areas. Topics to be announced. Course may be repeated one time in a different area.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 312 - Archaeology Techniques and Laboratory

A course designed to introduce students to basic techniques in the field and to provide laboratory experience in working with field materials.

Prerequisites: INDP 202^D or INDP 108^D

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 317 - Statistics for the Social Sciences

An enrichment course that introduces statistical concepts and techniques of data analysis with computer application to analyze contemporary social issues.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 318 - Research Methods in Interdisciplinary Studies

Major methods and procedures used in interdisciplinary studies, including anthropology, cultural area studies, gender and diversity studies, leadership studies, nonprofit management and sociology.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 319 - Anthropology Methods

Data gathering techniques and evaluation of anthropological phenomena from tribal, peasant and industrial societies.

Prerequisites: (SWCJ 202^D or INDP 202^D or PROF 202^D) and (SWCJ 317^D or INDP 317^D or SOWK 317^D or CRIM 317^D or PROF 317^D)

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 321 - Minority Groups

An examination of the minority group concept with special emphasis on women, the poor, behavioral and physical minorities. Note: This course is taught from either a sociological or anthropological viewpoint. The student should check with the instructor to determine the approach being taken in the current offering.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

INDP 322 - Archaeology of the Americas

This course introduces the student to the unique intellectual and cultural achievements of the Native Civilizations of Central and South America prior to the arrival of the Spanish. Two thirds of the course concentrates on Mesoamerica, especially the Aztecs and the Maya. One third on South America, with an emphasis on the civilizations of Peru. The variety of cultural developments, including their great time depth, social, political, economic, and artistic achievements as revealed through archaeological exploration, are explored.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Odd

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

INDP 323 - Deviant Behavior

The subject and nature of deviance with particular emphasis on its relativity and its relationship to social control and social change.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 324 - The Family

Comparative perspectives of the family as a universal social institution.

Note: This course is taught from either a sociological or anthropological viewpoint. The student should check with the instructor to determine the approach being taken in the current offering.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 326 - Society, Culture and Self

An examination of the relationship between personal characteristics and social environment.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 327 - Religion and Society

Explores the relationship between religion and society and some of the key issues confronting religion today.

Prerequisites: INDP 201^D or INDP 202^D or SWCJ 201^D or SWCJ 202^D or PROF 201^D or PROF 202^D

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 330 - Collective Behavior

An analysis of social movements, publics, crowds, mobs and similar social phenomena.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 339 - Gender Roles and Society

An examination of gender roles, what they are, how they develop and how they are maintained. An examination of the effects of gender roles on education, occupation, the polity and other institutions as well as the effects of role restrictions of personal relationships. Note: This course is taught from either a sociological or anthropological viewpoint. The student should check with the instructor to determine the approach being taken in the current offering.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Odd

Thematic Thread(s): Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 340 - Social Inequality

Examination of the theoretical and practical implications of economic disparity across diverse populations: class, race, ethnicity and gender.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even, Offered Summer Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 342 - Sociology of Aging

Social changes, which accompany aging. Emphasis placed upon how social processes influence patterns of aging and social problems of older people.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Winter Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 348 - Sociology of Organizations

Approaches to the study of the structure and functions of large-scale social organizations.

Prerequisites: INDP 201^D or INDP 202^D or SWCJ 201^D or SWCJ 202^D or PROF 201^D or PROF 202^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 360 - Issues in Asia; Women in Asian Societies

Students will have an opportunity to gain an in depth understanding of the issues surrounding the roles and status of women in a rapidly changing Asia; from both a historic and a current context. These issues, which are political, religious, economic, health, social justice and legal, among others are vital for women in Asia, their societies as well as this ever globalizing world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 398 - Selected Topics

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 401 - Applied Anthropology

Using anthropological concepts and methods, this course explores the role of archaeologists, and physical and cultural anthropologists in understanding and facilitating change in human biological and cultural issues.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 412 - Basic Sociological Theory

Historical and modern development of basic concepts of sociology and cultural anthropology.

Prerequisites: (INDP 201^D or INDP 202^D or SWCJ 201^D or SWCJ 202^D or PROF 201^D or PROF 202^D) and (SWCJ 318^D or SWCJ 320^D or INDP 318^D or INDP 319^D or SOWK 318^D or CRIM 318^D or PROF 201^D or PROF 202^D or PROF 318^D or PROF 319^D)

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 450 - Internship

Supervised placement in selected professional agencies.

Credits: 1-12

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 490 - Independent Study

Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 495 - Workshop

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

INDP 499 - Capstone: Applied Interdisciplinary Studies

This seminar is designed to assist students in developing awareness and skills for entry into the career or graduate studies. Students enrolled will participate in career development activities, reflection on the application of their knowledge for a future career and submit a final portfolio project.

Prerequisites: INDP 102^C and INDP 318^D

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Junior 1, Junior 2, Senior 1 or Senior 2.

Enrollment limited to students with department of Social Sciences.

A course in computer-based information systems. Course content includes: foundations of information science, techniques for system development, information architectures, and resource allocations. Case studies are discussed and utilized as class projects.

Prerequisites: CPSC 323^D or MIS 323^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MIS 423 - Advanced Business Database Systems

This course will provide students with advanced skills in database implementation and management with a focus on business systems. It will provide students with a hands-on experience of client-server databases, and the skills to develop one using reputable enterprise relational database management system. They will develop knowledge of creating, querying and maintaining relational database. Students will also learn to use advanced Structured Query Language (SQL) extensively to create integrated business systems to access, retrieve and manipulate business data. Students taking this course are expected to have a basic understanding of relational database concepts, and knowledge of a programming language.

Prerequisite: MIS 323^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Junior 1, Junior 2, Senior 1 or Senior 2.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Information Systems or Information Systems.

Enrollment limited to students in a Bachelor of Science degree.

Enrollment limited to students with the QUIE attribute.

Enrollment limited to students in the Haverlack College of Business college.

MIS 428 - Exploring Big Data for Business II

This course focuses on Big Data tools and technologies. It is for students who want to become conversant with the terminology and the core concepts behind big data problems, applications, and systems. It is for those who want to start thinking about how utilizing big data might be useful in their business or career. Students will gain skills to implement data-driven approach to decision-making, develop big data solutions to create business intelligence and competitive advantage through the use of analytical techniques and Big Data.

Prerequisites: MIS 210^D and (ECON 219^D or MGMT 219^D) and (MIS 323^D or CPSC 323^D) and MIS 328^D

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Junior 1, Junior 2, Senior 1 or Senior 2.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Information Systems or Information Systems.

Enrollment limited to students in a Bachelor of Science degree.

Enrollment limited to students with the QUIE attribute.

Enrollment limited to students in the Haverlack College of Business college.

MIS 443 - Project Management

An introduction to project management in the information systems, or IT development, area. Provides an understanding of the purpose, methods and benefits of process management by exposing the student to the concepts, practices, processes, tools and techniques used in process management for software development.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MIS 450 - Internship

Professional work experience performed as an intern at selected agencies supervised both by the agency and by the Computer Science Department.

Credits: 1-12

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MIS 453 - Fundamentals of Enterprise Architecture

This course explores the design, selection, implementation and management of enterprise IT solutions. The focus is on applications and their fit with the hosting organization.

Prerequisites: MIS 323^D and MIS 413^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MIS 490 - Independent Study

Supervised study in a special interest area. Prerequisites: Two computer science courses selected from 370 or above, permission of the instructor, departmental chairperson, and dean of the college where the study will be conducted. Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MIS 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Marine Science (MRSC)

MRSC 110 - Introduction to Oceanography

An introduction to marine sciences with emphasis on physiography of the ocean basins, waves, tides, near-shore processes, the physical and chemical nature of seawater, circulation, characteristics of marine plant and animal communities, history of oceanography, and law of the sea.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 200 - Art Workshop-Painting of the Coastal Area

This workshop is to be an intensive involvement with the esthetic qualities of the seashore and its environs. Paintings using various media (watercolor, oils, acrylics) according to personal preference will be created. Slides and other reproductions of relevant paintings by artists of historical importance will be examined and discussed.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 201 - Art Workshop-Pewter and Marine Jewelry

This workshop will explore pewter and objects found in the near-shore environment as materials for making jewelry and body ornaments. Participants will learn techniques of casting, fabricating, soldering, tinning and bezel setting for the purpose of creating unique pieces.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 204 - Writing about the Sea

A survey of literature from several genre, both fiction and nonfiction, which focuses on maritime themes and topics.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 211 - Field Methods in Oceanography

A course to familiarize students with the dynamic marine environment and field work on board small research vessels, to instruct in the use and application of standard oceanographic instruments and sampling devices and to promote and encourage independent research through the initial stages of scientific projects.

Prerequisites: (MARS 110^D or MRSC 110^D) or (EGEO 131^D or EVGE 131^D)
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 212 - Navigation

This course covers navigation, i.e. the art and science of safely bringing a boat from one position to another in a body of water. Topics covered are piloting, navigation within sight of land, electronic navigation, radio bearings by radio direction finder, LORAN, OMEGA, radar, celestial navigation, circles of equal altitude, navigational triangle, celestial lines of position, celestial fix, Greenwich Mean Time, Greenwich Hour Angle.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 215 - Marine Wildlife Photography

This class includes an in-depth study of the science of photography and how this relates to the field work of marine biology. The student will develop skills in micro- and macrophotography and an understanding of the science of optics, filter and camera techniques, and darkroom procedures and techniques. The class will learn various chemical processes for color and black/white photography. Specific articles on marine science photography will be used to develop an understanding both within the marine science laboratory and in the field.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 221 - Marine Invertebrates

A study of the invertebrate phyla with emphasis on development, reproduction, structure, function and classification of selected marine organisms. Laboratory field experience will be given in collection, preservation and classification of the phyla.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 241 - Marine Biology

A study of plant and animal life in the marine environment. Emphasis will be on physical and chemical environmental factors affecting the biota in the inter-tidal, open water, and benthic habitats. Common biota characteristic of each habitat will be investigated in terms of their natural history, morphology, and ecological relationships.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 250 - Wetland Ecology

The ecology and management of wetland wildlife with emphasis on the management of wetlands as ecological systems.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 260 - Marine Ecology

A study of the ecology of marine organisms, the relationship of plants and animals to physical, chemical and bio-logical factors and their zonation and communities.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 270 - Coastal Vegetation

In-depth examination of vegetation falling under the marine influence. Identification of same and determination of factors limiting and controlling their distribution.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 280 - Field Biology

An introduction to basic principles of ecology and natural history of selected plants and animals in terrestrial, freshwater, and marine environments. Course is suitable for non-science majors.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 285 - Recreation Management/Development in the Coastal Zone

This course focuses on the recreation component of coastal zone management. The nature, extent, location, and value of coastal recreation behavior will be probed and related to the overall coastal management framework.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 298 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MRSC 300 - Behavior of Marine Organisms

Concepts of ethology; discussion and observation of the influences of external and internal factors on the regulation and control of behavior of organisms living in the marine coastal environment.

Prerequisites: BIOL 113^C or BIOL 114^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 310 - The Mammals of Coastal Ecosystems

Distribution, behavior, physiology, adaptations, and ecological relationships of mammals with special emphasis on the mammals of the Delmarva Peninsula. In addition to the lectures and seminars, the laboratory and field work will deal with the productivity, population dynamics, species diversity, ecoenergetics, and behavior of local mammals.

Prerequisites: BIOL 113^C or BIOL 114^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 320 - Marine Microbiology

A survey of methods and concepts of marine microbiology. Attention will be given to technical aspects of sample collection, microbial ecology of the marine environment, enrichment culturing, methods of enumeration and identification with emphasis on marine bacteria.

Prerequisite: BIOL 330^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 330 - Tropical Invertebrates

An introduction to tropical invertebrates. A variety of collection and observation methods will be used to sample near-shore and reef areas. Emphasis will be on systematics and ecology using the communities approach. One week at Wallops will be intensive review of general systematics and ecology of marine invertebrates. The last two weeks in Florida will involve sampling and identifying species and describing ecological communities.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 331 - Chemical Oceanography

Treatment of a wide range of oceanic chemical phenomena, including salinity and age of the oceans, sources and residence times of chemical constituents in seawater, geochemical cycles of mineral resources and trace elements. Sampling and laboratory analysis techniques.

Prerequisites: (MARS 110^D or MRSC 110^D) or (EGEO 131^D or EVGE 131^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 342 - Marine Botany

A study of marine and marine fringe plants of the Middle Atlantic Coast, their taxonomy, ecology, distribution, life histories, physiology, and economic status. Techniques of collecting, preserving, identifying and herbarium cataloging will be stressed. Exercises in plant ecology and marine microbiology will be included.

Prerequisites: BIOL 113^C or BIOL 114^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 343 - Marine Ichthyology

A study of the fishes. Specimens collected along the eastern seaboard by the students will be used to illustrate the anatomy, physiology and systematics of this major vertebrate group. Field collections will also give students the opportunity to observe the relationships of these animals to their biotic and physical environment.

Prerequisites: BIOL 113^C or BIOL 114^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 344 - Anatomy of Marine Chordates

A course designed to familiarize the students with the qualitative aspects of the speciation process; to lay ground work for understanding the basic and specialized structure of marine chordates; to trace the most obvious or important trends (and their functional significance) in the evolution of this basic structure in various vertebrate lines. The laboratories will be devoted primarily to dissection of representative marine vertebrates, particularly those collected live on field trips.

Prerequisites: BIOL 113^C or BIOL 114^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 345 - Ornithology

Introduces the student to avian fauna of the seacoast and at the same time enables comparison with inland species. In addition to the field work providing visual and vocal identification, lecture material will include information on the distribution, behavior, physiology, and anatomy of birds.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 350 - Physiology of Marine Invertebrates

Mechanisms and regulation of organ function in marine invertebrates with emphasis on homeostasis. Invertebrate examples of fundamental principles and of unique physiological mechanisms.

Prerequisites: BIOL 113^C or BIOL 114^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 362 - Marine Geology

Structure and sedimentology of the ocean basins and shores; methods of exploration, general feature of the ocean basins, and theory of ocean basin evolution.

Prerequisites: (MARS 110^D or MRSC 110^D) or (EGEO 131^D or EVGE 131^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 364 - Physical Oceanography

A study of the physical properties of the oceans to include: mass and energy budgets; theory of distribution of variables; cause, nature, measurement, analysis and prediction of tides, currents and waves; basic instrumentation in field work.

Prerequisites: (MARS 110^D or MRSC 110^D) or (EGEO 131^D or EVGE 131^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 394 - Comparative Physiology of Marine Organisms

This course will provide an introduction to the physiology of marine organisms utilizing a comparative approach. The lecture will introduce the topics of respiration, circulation, metabolism, osmoregulation, thermoregulation, locomotion and sensory systems by drawing comparisons between the mechanisms and strategies utilized by a wide range of marine organisms. Laboratory and field work will focus on the physiological responses of marine plants and animals to common environmental stresses such as salt load, temperature variation, depletion of dissolved oxygen, and tidal flux. This will be accomplished through measurements and observations in the field, as well as through experimental manipulations in a laboratory setting.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 398 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Prerequisites: BIOL 113^C or BIOL 114^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 420 - Marine Micropaleontology

Designed for students majoring in either biological or geological sciences, the course will deal with modern, living representatives of micro-organisms important in the fossil record. Particular emphasis will be on the taxonomy, morphology, evolution and ecological affinities of the Foraminifera (Sarcodina), but other groups, including the Radiolaria, Diatoms and Ostracoda, will also be considered. Laboratory and field aspects will include sample collecting, preparation and analysis.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 431 - Ecology of Marine Plankton

Study of the phytoplankton and zooplankton in marine and brackish environments. Qualitative and quantitative comparisons will be made between the planktonic populations of various types of habitats in relation to primary and secondary productivity.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 432 - Marine Evolutionary

The study of the ecological mechanisms underlying evolutionary processes. This course is broad in scope and requires that students synthesize both evolutionary and ecological concepts and theory into an understanding of how organisms adapt to their environment. Marine, estuarine, and maritime organisms will be used as model systems and processes, which affect marine populations, will be emphasized.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 441 - Biology of Molluscs

The Mollusca is the second largest group of animals and perhaps the most diverse in terms of morphological, ecological and behavioral variations. This course offers an evolutionary, functional, and ecologic approach to studying this important group of organisms.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 451 - Coastal Environmental Oceanography

This course examines the interaction of biological, chemical, physical, geological and ecological ocean processes as applied to coastal environments. Emphasis is placed on environmental management issues of the coastal zone. Topics include water quality analysis, barrier island geology and ecology, estuarine pollution, beach defense and biological implications in areas of coastal up welling and coastal fronts. Specific cases in coastal pollution will be examined from coastal environments around the U.S., including Kepone in the James River, VA, DDT on the Palos Verde Shelf, CA., Eutrophication on the North Carolina Coast, The Exxon-Valdez Oil spill and Pfisteria in the coastal waters of N.C. and VA. Cross listed as MARS551.

Prerequisites: (MARS 110^D or MRSC 110^D) or (EGEO 131^D or EVGE 131^D)
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 457 - Marine Geophysics

A study of the basic geophysical theories about the transmission of shock waves, and gravity and magnetic fields to the understanding and exploration of the continental shelves and marine basins. The student is introduced to the use and limitations of the portable seismic refraction seismograph, gravity meter, and magnetometer.

Prerequisites: (MARS 110^D or MRSC 110^D) or (EGEO 131^D or EVGE 131^D)
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 458 - Exploration Methods in Marine Geology

A study of geophysical and geologic instruments and techniques used to penetrate the water layer obscuring the ocean bottom topography and geology and the results of some of that effort. Emphasis is on laboratory and field assignments using basic geophysical and geological instruments. The students are introduced to the use, limitations and results of these instruments.

Prerequisites: (EGEO 101^D or EVGE 101^D)
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 459 - Coastal Geomorphology

A study of coastal environments with an emphasis on understanding the inter-relationship among land forms, processes and materials. The student will participate in field studies conducted along high and low wave energy environments.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 464 - Biological Oceanography

Interdisciplinary study of the interactions between biological communities and the ocean environment as seen by distributions of coastal plankton, fish, and benthic invertebrates. Projects will involve boat trips to sample populations and to quantitatively document environmental variables with state of the art equipment, laboratory and field experiments to determine rate processes, and visits to nearby field and government laboratories. Examples of project topics include transport of plankton at barrier island passes, effect of submarine banks on fish populations, ground truth data for satellite imagery, and other current topics in biological oceanography.

Prerequisites: (MARS 110^D or MRSC 110^D) or (EGEO 131^D or EVGE 131^D)
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 490 - Independent Study

Independent research under the guidance of a faculty member.

Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor, departmental chairperson, and dean of the college where the study will be conducted. (repeatable up to 6 credits) Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 491 - Coral Reef Ecology

A study of coral reef structure, formation, types, and the relationships of reef organisms to their environment. Emphasis is given to species diversity, identification, symbioses, and effects of temperature, salinity, light, nutrient concentration, predation, and competition on the abundance and the distribution of coral reef organisms.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 492 - Marine Mammals

A study of the distribution, population ecology, behavior, physiology and adaptations of marine mammals. Student projects will entail collecting physiological and behavioral data at field sites and at facilities studying marine mammals.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 493 - Behavioral Ecology

Designed to present animal behavior within an ecological and evolutionary context. Presents mathematical and theoretical framework of behavioral ecology. An in-depth exploration of the ways in which the behavior of animals is influenced by the environment, especially with regard to resource distribution.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 494 - Marine Aquaculture

This course will include the theory and practice of raising organisms for food and for the aquarium trade. Techniques for raising economically important organisms from the egg stage to marketable size and their food supplies will be studied.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 495 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MRSC 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Marketing (MKTG)

MKTG 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. This course will set students along the path to becoming engaged with issues and scholarship important to a 21st century education while they learn about themselves and their place in the world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

MKTG 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MKTG 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MKTG 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MKTG 230 - Principles of Marketing

An analytical overview of market decision-making including product, pricing, place, and promotional strategies considering the heterogeneity and diversity of customers and markets with respect to their demographic, geographic, psychographic, cultural, and behavioral characteristics.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Thematic Thread(s): Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MKTG 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

MKTG 298 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MKTG 303 - Issues in Global Business

This course will focus on fundamental issues in the modern globalization of business. The topics covered will include the cultural environments in which business work, politics and law in global business, economic integration, global trade and investment, global finance, global operations and managing global businesses. A special emphasis will be placed on the challenges and opportunities presented to global businesses by the social, political and economic diversity encountered in the global marketplace.

Credits: 3

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 331 - Distribution Management

Principles, methods and problems relating to wholesaling, retailing and physical distribution management.

Prerequisites: MRKT 230^D or MKTG 230^D or MRKT 330^D or MKTG 330^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 332 - Business Marketing

A management perspective of the internal and external environments affecting the demand for industrial goods; marketing intelligence and control; and marketing strategy for product, service, channel, price, and promotional components.

Prerequisites: MRKT 330^D or MKTG 330^D or MRKT 230^D or MKTG 230^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 333 - Consumer Behavior

The buying process with emphasis on economic, social, cultural and psychological determinants of consumer choice.

Prerequisites: MRKT 330^D or MKTG 330^D or MRKT 230^D or MKTG 230^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 334 - Advertising Management

Management of advertising, including background, roles, planning, media strategy, message, testing, research, evaluation, and administration of advertising.

Prerequisites: (MRKT 330^D or MKTG 330^D) or (MRKT 230^D or MKTG 230^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 335 - Retail Management

Store location and layout, retail personnel management, merchandising policies and control, and marketing strategy.

Prerequisites: (MRKT 330^D or MKTG 330^D) or (MRKT 230^D or MKTG 230^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 336 - Professional Selling

Provides foundations of sales processes and management to prepare students for careers in selling or sales management.

Prerequisites: MRKT 330^D or MKTG 330^D or MRKT 230^D or MKTG 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 338 - E-Commerce

The role, structure, organization, and use of the Internet as a channel of distribution to conduct electronic commerce.

Prerequisites: MKTG 230^D or MRKT 230^D or MKTG 330^D or MRKT 330^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 398 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 425 - Marketing Analytics

Marketing analytics is the process of analyzing and utilizing data from the four P's of marketing promotion, placement, product, and pricing for marketing decision making and to assess and improve marketing performance. Types of marketing analytics included in this program are descriptive, predictive, prescriptive, and cognitive.

Prerequisites: (MRKT 430^D or MKTG 430^D) and ECON 319^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Junior 1, Junior 2, Senior 1 or Senior 2.

MKTG 430 - Marketing Research

Research methodology as a managerial tool used in problem solving and decision making in marketing.

Prerequisites: (MGMT 219^D or BUSA 219^D or ECON 219^D) and (MRKT 330^D or MKTG 330^D or MRKT 230^D or MKTG 230^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 431 - Marketing Seminar

Advanced topics in marketing with emphasis on the analysis and solution of marketing problems.

Prerequisites: MGMT 320^D and (MRKT 332^D or MKTG 332^D) and (MRKT 333^D or MKTG 333^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 437 - International Marketing

The marketing issues of firms engaged in international business with emphasis on strategies for successful foreign market penetration.

Prerequisites: MRKT 330^D or MKTG 330^D or MRKT 230^D or MKTG 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 450 - Internship

Supervised placement, work, and research in selected public and private organizations.

Credits: 1-12

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 490 - Independent Study

In-depth reading and/or research with the guidance of a faculty member in an area selected by the student. Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 495 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MKTG 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Mathematics (MATH)

MATH 113 - Mathematics as a Liberal Art

A cultural enrichment course, which introduces topics and applications from different branches of mathematics.

Prerequisites: (ACSD 110^C or ESAP 110^C) or minimum score of Y in 'WAIVE ACSD110 W HIGHER MATH'

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

MATH 115 - Financial Mathematics

Methods of solving problems arising from the growth of money through simple and compound interest. Savings accounts, loans, financing, mortgages, depreciation, bonds, pensions and life insurance are included.

Prerequisites: (ACSD 110^C or ESAP 110^C) or minimum score of Y in 'WAIVE ACSD110 W HIGHER MATH'

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Thematic Thread(s): Transfer Thread Completion Course

MATH 117 - Quantitative Reasoning

Quantitative reasoning is the application of basic mathematical skills to the analysis and interpretation of real-world quantitative information to draw conclusions that are relevant to people in their daily lives. In this course, students will explore various quantitative models and their interpretations in a way that emphasizes mathematical and statistical reasoning skills. Conceptual understanding will be stressed over manipulative skills. Students will learn to create sophisticated arguments supported by quantitative evidence and clearly communicate them in a variety of formats (using words, tables, graphs, mathematical equations, etc.) as appropriate. Technology, such as spreadsheets, will also be used. This course satisfies the Quantitative Reasoning requirement in the Rock Studies Program. This course is graded A, B, C, NC.

Prerequisites: (ACSD 110^C or ESAP 110^C) or minimum score of Y in 'WAIVE ACSD110 W HIGHER MATH'

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

MATH 118 - Elementary Geometry

A survey of Euclidean geometry and related elementary geometrical concepts. This course is not appropriate for those planning to teach geometry at the secondary level, but would be an excellent choice for those who will be teaching mathematics in the elementary school.

Prerequisites: (ACSD 110^C or ESAP 110^C) or minimum score of Y in 'WAIVE ACSD110 W HIGHER MATH'

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Early Childhood Ed (PK-4), Early Childhood Educ-Int'l Ed, School Wellness Education, Health-Physical Educ Teaching, Health and Physical Education, Early Child-Spec Ed-Intl Ed, Early Child/Spec Ed(PK-4)PK-8), Sec Education-English(7-12), Sec Education-French (K-12), Mid Level-Eng&Lang Arts (4-8), Mid Level-Mathematics (4-8), Mid Level-Social Studies (4-8), Middle Level-Science (4-8), Sec Ed-Social Stud-Hist (7-12), Secondary Educ-Spanish (K-12), Music Education (PK-12), Music Education (K-12), Music Educ-Voice (K-12), Music Educ-Saxophone (K-12), Music Educ-Instrumental (K-12), Music Educ-Piano (K-12), Elementary School Mathematics, Middle School Mathematics or Art With Certification (K-12).

MATH 120 - Intermediate Algebra

Linear functions, equations, inequalities, polynomials, algebra of functions, rational exponents, quadratic equations and inequalities, systems of equations.

Prerequisites: (ACSD 110^C or ESAP 110^C) or minimum score of Y in 'WAIVE ACSD110 W HIGHER MATH' or minimum score of 30 in 'ALEKS PPL Assessment'

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

MATH 122 - Finite Mathematics with Matrices

The algebra of matrices with applications in linear optimization, algebraic and graphical solutions.

Prerequisites: MATH 120^D or MATH 199^D or minimum score of 60 in 'ALEKS PPL Assessment'

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 123 - Introduction to Applied Calculus

The course is compatible with the background and interests of students not majoring in the physical sciences or mathematics. The theorem-proof approach of differential calculus is replaced with the explanation-example approach. The course includes an introduction to exponential and logarithmic functions, limits, derivatives, maxima/minima, and Lagrange multipliers, and applications from business, economics, and finance. Problem-solving with mathematical software will also be emphasized.

Prerequisites: MATH 120^D or MATH 111^D or MATH 199^D or MATH 125^D or minimum score of 60 in 'ALEKS PPL Assessment'

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 125 - Precalculus

A bridge between high school algebra and calculus involving polynomial, trigonometric, logarithmic, exponential functions, complex numbers, and the conic sections.

Prerequisites: MATH 120^D or MATH 199^D or minimum score of 60 in 'ALEKS PPL Assessment'

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

MATH 131 - Discrete Mathematics

This course begins the study of the language and concepts needed for higher-level mathematics. Students will learn principles of logic, focusing on logical forms, truth tables, and statement calculus. Students will analyze examples of and complete calculations involving sets, relations, and functions. Students will also receive an introduction to counting techniques and recursion. This course is not a proof-based course.

Prerequisites: MATH 125^D or MATH 225^D or MATH 230^D or minimum score of 75 in 'ALEKS PPL Assessment'

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

MATH 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. This course will set students along the path to becoming engaged with issues and scholarship important to a 21st century education while they learn about themselves and their place in the world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

MATH 180 - Introduction to Mathematical Software

An introduction to the appropriate use of mathematical software with emphasis on problem solving. Topics will include mathematical concepts from calculus, linear algebra, and differential equations.

Prerequisite: MATH 225 (may be taken concurrently)^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 1

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 210 - Mathematics for Elementary Teachers I

This course is designed for future K-8 teachers to explore number systems (including definitions, operations, and properties of whole numbers and fractions), numeration systems, proportionality, algebraic thinking, and problem-solving. Emphasis is on conceptual understanding in addition to procedural skill.

Prerequisites: (ACSD 110^D or ESAP 110^D) or minimum score of Y in 'WAIVE ACSD110 W HIGHER MATH'

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Early Childhood Ed (PK-4), Early Childhood Educ-Int'l Ed, School Wellness Education, Health-Physical Educ Teaching, Health and Physical Education, Early Child/Spec Ed(PK-4)PK-8), Early Child/Spec Ed(PK-4)PK-12, Sec Education-English(7-12), Sec Education-French (K-12), Mid Level-Engl&Lang Arts (4-8), Mid Level-Mathematics (4-8), Mid Level-Social Studies (4-8), Middle Level-Science (4-8), Sec Ed-Social Stud-Hist (7-12), Secondary Educ-Spanish (K-12), Special Education (PK-12), Music Education (PK-12), Music Education (K-12), Music Educ-Voice (K-12), Music Educ-Saxophone (K-12), Music Educ-Instrumental (K-12), Music Educ-Piano (K-12), Elementary School Mathematics, Middle School Mathematics or Art With Certification (K-12).

MATH 225 - Calculus I

This course begins the study of calculus of functions of one variable. Students will study limits and continuity of real-valued functions. Students will explore the derivative as a rate of change and learn how to calculate derivatives of algebraic and transcendental functions. Applications of the derivative to various physical and other phenomena will be considered. This course also provides an introduction to Riemann integration.

Prerequisites: MATH 125^C or minimum score of 75 in 'ALEKS PPL Assessment'

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

MATH 230 - Calculus II

This course continues the study of calculus of real-valued functions of one variable. Students will learn various techniques of evaluating antiderivatives and approximating definite integrals. These integrals will be used in various applications such as calculating areas and volumes, arc length, work, and solving simple first-order differential equations. Parametric and polar equations and their differential and integral calculus are also considered. Students will also investigate sequences and series, their convergence properties, and the use of power series to represent functions.

Prerequisite: MATH 225^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

MATH 231 - Calculus III

This course continues the study of calculus with the study of functions of several variables. Students will learn about the geometry of two- and three-dimensional space, vector-valued functions, and functions of several variables. Students will investigate these functions with partial derivatives and multiple integration. Vector calculus topics such as Green's, Stokes, and the Divergence Theorems will be covered. Computer software such as Mathematica will be used in problem solving in this course.

Prerequisite: MATH 230^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

MATH 232 - Linear Algebra

In this class, students will learn techniques for solving systems of linear equations and related matrix equations. Vectors and vector spaces will be considered along with properties relating to solving matrix equations. In particular, special care will be taken with real vector spaces and inner product spaces, and how they are used to solve problems with applications in physics and other fields. The eigenvalue/eigenvector problem will also be discussed. Students will be expected to use technology to solve problems in this class.

Prerequisite: MATH 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

MATH 235 - Foundations of Mathematical Proof

This course provides a foundation for writing mathematical proofs. Students will work with common proof techniques such as direct proof, proof by contrapositive, proof by contradiction, and proof by induction, along with the logical bases supporting them. In developing their proof-writing skills, students will work with foundational mathematical concepts such as basic set theory, relations between sets, and functions.

Prerequisites: MATH 225^C and MATH 131^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

MATH 240 - Linear Algebra and Differential Equations

Computational aspects of matrices, determinants, systems of linear equations, vector spaces, linear dependence, Wronskian, characteristic values, elementary differential equations, separable and exact equations, linear differential equations with constant coefficients.

Prerequisite: MATH 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

MATH 280 - Theory of Interest

A rigorous, calculus-based treatment of the theory of interest, including simple and compound interest/discount, continuous force of interest, time value of money, annuities, yield rates, loan repayment, amortization schedules, bonds, yield curves, duration, convexity, immunization techniques, and practical applications. This course is intended to prepare students for the actuarial examination on the theory of interest.

Prerequisite: MATH 230 (may be taken concurrently)^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

MATH 281 - Actuarial Exam Preparation I

The purpose of this course is to prepare students for The Society of Actuaries" (SOA) first professional examination. Topics will be selected from the SOA syllabus which currently includes general probability theory, univariate and multivariate probability distributions (discrete and continuous), applications involving insurance and risk analysis, and supporting topics from Calculus.

Credits: 1

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 282 - Actuarial Exam Preparation II

The purpose of this course is to prepare students for The Society of Actuaries" (SOA) second professional examination. Topics will be selected from the SOA syllabus which currently includes time value of money, yield rates, methods of loan repayment, annuities, asset/liability management, immunization, duration, convexity, bonds, stocks, mutual funds, capital budgeting, short sales, spot and forward rates, options, derivatives, futures, and arbitrage.

Prerequisite: MATH 280^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 1

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 298 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MATH 301 - Differential Equations I

First and second order differential equations, existence and uniqueness theorems, Laplace transforms, systems of linear ordinary differential equations.

Prerequisite: MATH 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 302 - Differential Equations II

A continuation of MATH 301. Series solutions of ordinary differential equations, non-linear systems and stability, partial differential equations.

Prerequisite: MATH 301^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 304 - Geometric Structures

Finite and infinite axiomatic systems, including Euclidean and projective geometrics.

Prerequisite: MATH 235^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 310 - Mathematics for Elementary Teachers II

This course is designed for future K-8 teachers to continue to explore number systems (including definitions, operations, and properties of integers, rational and real numbers), descriptive statistics, basic probability, and measurement and related geometry. Emphasis is on conceptual understanding in addition to procedural skill.

Prerequisite: MATH 210^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Early Childhood Ed (PK-4), Early Childhood Educ-Int'l Ed, School Wellness Education, Health-Physical Educ Teaching, Health and Physical Education, Early Child/Spec Ed(PK-4)PK-8), Early Child/Spec Ed(PK-4)PK-12, Sec Education-English(7-12), Sec Education-French (K-12), Mid Level-Engl&Lang Arts (4-8), Mid Level-Mathematics (4-8), Mid Level-Social Studies (4-8), Middle Level-Science (4-8), Sec Ed-Social Stud-Hist (7-12), Secondary Educ-Spanish (K-12), Special Education (PK-12), Music Education (PK-12), Music Education (K-12), Music Educ-Voice (K-12), Music Educ-Saxophone (K-12), Music Educ-Instrumental (K-12), Music Educ-Piano (K-12), Elementary School Mathematics, Middle School Mathematics or Art With Certification (K-12).

MATH 311 - Deterministic Models of Operations Research

Topics include deterministic methods in operations research. Linear programming, duality, integer programming, dynamic programming, nonlinear programming, inventory theory, transportation and assignment and network theory.

Prerequisites: MATH 231^C or MATH 240^C or (MATH 122^C and MATH 230^C)

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 312 - Stochastic Models of Operations Research

Decision making under uncertainty. Probability, Markov Chains, Poisson processes, Survival Analysis, Queueing Systems, Random Walk, Branching.

Prerequisites: MATH 231^C or MATH 240^C or (MATH 122^C and MATH 230^C)

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 313 - Introductory Analysis I

This course begins the rigorous mathematical study of the real numbers. Topics include cardinality of sets; sequences of real numbers; completeness of the real numbers; topology of the real line including open sets, closed sets, and compact sets; and continuous, real-valued functions. Students will be expected to communicate using mathematical proofs throughout the course.

Prerequisites: MATH 231^C and MATH 235^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 314 - Introductory Analysis II

This course continues the rigorous mathematical treatment of the real numbers that begins in MATH 313. The concepts of differentiation and Riemann integration of real-valued functions on the real line from calculus are explored and made rigorous. Additionally, series of functions are explored, including convergence (pointwise and uniform) and Taylor series. Students will be expected to communicate using mathematical proofs throughout the course.

Prerequisite: MATH 313^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 315 - Numerical Mathematics

The mathematics of computation and approximation, interpolation, calculating the roots of equations, curve fitting linear systems, numerical differentiation and integration and error analysis.

Prerequisites: MATH 240^D or MATH 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment limited to students with the SPECIAL APPROVAL attribute.

MATH 316 - Advanced Methods of Operations Research

Topics include Brownian motion, stationary processes, weak convergence of stochastic processes, regenerative phenomena, random walks, simulations.

Prerequisite: MATH 312^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 317 - Complex Variables

Complex numbers, analytic functions, complex integration, convergence of sequences and series, and applications.

Prerequisite: MATH 231^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 320 - Theory of Numbers

A study of the properties of natural numbers and number theoretic functions.

Prerequisite: MATH 235^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 325 - Abstract Algebra I

An introduction to groups. Topics include integers mod n , cyclic groups, permutation groups, normal subgroups, isomorphisms, finite Abelian groups.

Prerequisite: MATH 235^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 326 - Abstract Algebra II

An introduction to rings. Topics include integral domains, fields, polynomial rings.

Prerequisite: MATH 325^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 331 - Mathematical Methods of Physics and Engineering

The course covers a broad spectrum of mathematical methods relevant to physics and engineering. The emphasis is on the use of methods rather than on proofs and derivations. Topics include vector analysis, complex variables, Fourier and Laplace transforms, linear algebra, and some boundary value problems. Cross-listed with PHYS 331. This course may be counted as a physics course or as a mathematics course, but not both.

Prerequisites: MATH 230^D and PHYS 217^D and MATH 231 (may be taken concurrently)^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 335 - Mathematical Modeling

A general introduction to mathematical modeling involving optimization, dynamic and probabilistic models. Specific topics selected from dimensional analysis, optimization techniques, continuous and discrete modeling, stability analysis, linearization, eigenvalue methods, qualitative analysis, Markov chains, regression models, simulation techniques, and others as time permits.

Prerequisite: MATH 231^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 398 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 403 - Elementary Topology

Topological properties of the real line.

Prerequisites: MATH 309^D and MATH 313^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 406 - Intermediate Analysis

Selected topics.

Prerequisite: MATH 314^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 411 - Partial Differential Equations

This course in partial differential equations has wide-ranging applications in a variety of fields such as engineering and physics. Topics include first order equations and the method of characteristics; an introduction to Fourier series; second order equations including the heat, wave, and Laplace equations; numerical methods for computing solutions; conservation laws.

Prerequisites: MATH 231^C and MATH 301^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Odd

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 490 - Independent Study

Supervised study in advanced area. Prerequisites: Two 300-level mathematics courses, a 3.000 QPA in major, permission of the instructor, departmental chairperson, and dean of the college where the study will be conducted. Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 491 - Mathematics Seminar

Designed to broaden the students' backgrounds by investigating topics in mathematics not usually taught in the regular curriculum. Students may elect to take course up to three times.

Prerequisite: MATH 235^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 1

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 495 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MATH 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Mechanical Engineering (MECH)

MECH 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. This course will set students along the path to becoming engaged with issues and scholarship important to a 21st century education while they learn about themselves and their place in the world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

MECH 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MECH 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MECH 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MECH 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MECH 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MECH 298 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MECH 310 - Machines and Mechanisms

Analysis of motion and forces in linkages and mechanisms. Synthesis of plane mechanisms, analysis of cams, gears and gear trains. Fundamentals of vibrations in machines. Analysis techniques include graphical, analytical and computational methods.

Prerequisite: ENGR 240^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 320 - Manufacturing Processes

Introduction to properties and uses of engineering materials. Introduction to mechanical testing methods, metrology, tolerances, testing and inspection; semi-finished product manufacturing; macro-processing (forming, casting, powder metallurgy, metal working, composite fabrication); joining; nontraditional manufacturing processes; and surface processing.

Prerequisites: ENGR 220^D and ENGR 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 330 - Introduction to Mechatronics

Selection of mechanical and electronic components and integration of these components into complex systems. Hands-on laboratory and design experiments with components and measurement equipment used in the design of mechatronic products.

Prerequisites: ENGR 310^D or ENGR 250^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 340 - Heat Transfer

One-, two-, three-dimensional steady state conduction; transient conduction; free and forced convection; radiation; heat exchangers; heat and mass transfer by analytical, numerical analogical and experimental methods; design of thermal systems.

Prerequisites: ENGR 320^D and MATH 301^D and ENGR 301^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 398 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 410 - Machine Design

Application of fundamental engineering principles to the design of various elements found in machines. Elements include connections, shafts, keys, couplings, springs, gears, belts, chains, bearings, clutches, brakes, screws, etc.

Prerequisite: ENGR 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 411 - Automatic Control Systems

Introduction to theory of feedback and control. Performance and stability of linear systems. Design of feedback control systems. Practical application and introduction to state-space methods.

Prerequisites: ENGR 250^D or ENGR 310^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 412 - Finite Element Analysis

Modern analysis techniques used to investigate a variety of systems in engineering and science. Computational models of problems are developed using energy concepts, structural mechanics, and matrix operations. The methods used are implemented using a general finite element program and the accuracy of the results is evaluated. The learned theoretical approach is applied to common structural elements such as trusses, beams, frames, and plates.

Prerequisite: ENGR 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 420 - Design and Manufacturing

Manufacturing methods and operations. The interaction between design and manufacturing stressed in terms of drawing specifications versus process capability and tolerances, including standards applications and 1 redesign for producibility.

Prerequisite: MECH 320^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 421 - Mechanical Vibrations

Introduction to mechanical vibrations: single and multi-degree of freedom systems, free and forced vibrations, impedance and modal analysis including applications.

Prerequisites: MECH 410^D and ENGR 240^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 422 - Thermal System Design

Device design and system design of compressors, turbines, heat exchangers, piping systems, internal combustion engines, and other component equipment. Optimization including thermo-economic evaluation and energy analysis.

Prerequisites: MECH 340 (may be taken concurrently)^D and ENGR 320^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 423 - Additive Manufacturing

Introduction to technologies and processes used to translate virtual solid model data into physical models for prototyping and end-use manufacturing applications. Discussion of design tools and design considerations for additively manufactured components.

Prerequisite: MECH 320^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 430 - Mechatronics

Instrumentation and measurements emphasizing systems that combine electronics and mechanical components with modern controls and microprocessors. First and second order behavior, transducers and intermediate devices, measurement of rapidly changing engineering parameters, microcontrollers and actuators.

Prerequisite: MECH 330^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 431 - Introduction to Robotics

Introduction to robots and their types. Homogeneous transformations. Kinematic equations and their solutions. Motion trajectories, statics, dynamics, and control of robots. Robot programming. Actuators, sensors and vision systems.

Prerequisites: MATH 232^D and MECH 330^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 440 - HVAC Systems

The analysis and design of heating air conditioning systems. Topics include: psychometrics, comfort & health, heating and cooling loads, solar radiation, air distribution systems and refrigeration.

Prerequisites: MECH 340^D and ENGR 301^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 441 - Sustainable Energy

The technical, economic, environmental and physical resources constraints of energy sources are discussed in terms of both national and global development needs. The current states of both non-renewable and renewable technologies are presented in terms of their potential contribution to sustainable energy resources required for continued viable economic development.

Prerequisite: ENGR 320^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 460 - Capstone Design I

Capstone Design course is the culmination of the educational experience in Mechanical Engineering. The courses require students to draw upon all previous coursework and cultivate new skills in order to solve complex design problems associated with an assigned multidisciplinary group project. This is the first course of a year-long design experience.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Senior 1 or Senior 2.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Mechanical Engineering.

MECH 461 - Capstone Design II

Capstone Design course is the culmination of the educational experience in Mechanical Engineering. The courses require students to draw upon all previous coursework and cultivate new skills in order to solve complex design problems associated with an assigned multidisciplinary group project. This is the second course of a year-long design experience.

Prerequisite: MECH 460^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Senior 1 or Senior 2.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Mechanical Engineering.

Enrollment limited to students in the College of Engineering & Science college.

MECH 490 - Independent Study

Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 495 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MECH 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Military Science (MLSC)

MLSC 100 - The American Military Experience

Establishes a framework of reference regarding military service, an understanding of the profession of arms and its impact on and place in American society. The course begins the Army's leadership development process. Includes a lab. ++

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

MLSC 102 - Principles of Leadership

This course continues the student's introduction to the military organization and begins to teach leadership techniques and principles using military situations as a point of reference. Various academic studies of civilian-based leadership theories and styles are examined and compared to military theories and styles. Includes a lab. ++

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

MLSC 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MLSC 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MLSC 201 - Basic Military Skills

Begins to teach basic military skills such as map reading, land navigation using a map and compass, first aid, weapons marksmanship, drill and small unit tactics. Includes a lab. ++

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

MLSC 202 - Intermediate Military Skills

Continues instruction in map reading, land navigation using a map and compass, first aid, weapons marksmanship, drill and small unit tactics. Begins to integrate all skills into leading small units in tactical situations. Includes a lab. ++

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

MLSC 209 - Evolution of Modern Military Art

A survey of the development of all branches of the American military spanning the colonial period to present day, this course includes a brief introduction to the development of the western way of war from pre-Hellenistic conflict through the Middle Ages in Europe. Technological innovation, evolution of tactical through strategic levels of warfare, and the symbiotic relationship between military development, national policy, and societal expectations will be examined.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MLSC 250 - ROTC Basic Leadership Practicum

A five week experience of training and evaluation conducted in a tactical framework at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Students learn basic military skills which enable them to take advanced military science courses on campus.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MLSC 280 - Leadership Seminar

This course involves individualized instruction, research and presentation on research in areas required to fill in a student's knowledge base to be able to move into the ROTC advanced course. This course may be taken only once.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MLSC 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MLSC 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MLSC 298 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MLSC 301 - Fundamentals of Tactical Operations

Focuses on tactics at the squad level. Students learn the troop leading procedures and how to give both oral and written operations orders. Students continue to enhance their skills at land navigation and rifle marksmanship. Physical fitness conditioning is a mandatory part of the laboratory. Includes a lab. ++

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MLSC 302 - Advanced Military Skills

Continues development of intermediate level cadet leader skills in preparation for attendance at the Leadership Development and Assessment Course at Ft. Lewis, Washington. The course is supplementary in scope and includes leadership, written and oral communications, operations and tactics, land navigation, weapons, and radio and wire communications subjects. A laboratory experience is required. ++

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MLSC 350 - ROTC Advanced Leadership Practicum

A five week experience of training and evaluation conducted in a tactical framework at Fort Lewis, Washington. Cadets demonstrate and learn advanced military skills. Cadets also demonstrate their leadership skills in a variety of leadership positions in tactical and non-tactical environments.

Prerequisites: (MS 301^D or MLSC 301^D) and (MS 302^D or MLSC 302^D)
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MLSC 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MLSC 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MLSC 401 - Leadership Dimensions and Concepts

This course begins the transition from cadet to officer. Focus is on organization of the Army, command and staff functions, officer and noncommissioned officer evaluation system, military law and development of training. Students participate in a staff ride to a significant military battlefield. Includes a lab. ++

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MLSC 402 - Officership and the Profession of Arms

This course continues the transition from cadet to officer. Students begin a critical analysis of the role of the officer and the noncommissioned officer, and their interaction, at the platoon, company and battalion level. Students are introduced to joint operations and conduct some critical analysis of national military policy. Includes a lab. ++

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MLSC 450 - The Cadet Troop Leadership Internship

A three-week experience as a leader in a U.S. Army unit, under the close supervision of a U.S. Army lieutenant or captain. It gives the student the opportunity to lead real soldiers in a real U.S. Army unit. The intern will actually supervise the planning and execution of the unit's scheduled training.

Prerequisites: (MS 301^D or MLSC 301^D) and (MS 302^D or MLSC 302^D) and (MS 350^D or MLSC 350^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MLSC 490 - Independent Study

In-depth reading and research in an area of particular interest to the student with the guidance of an individual faculty member. This course may be taken only once. Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

MLSC 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Modern Languages (MODL)

MODL 105 - Introduction to Asian Civilizations

This course is an introductory, interdisciplinary course designed to give students a broad understanding of the geographic, historical and religious, cultural, artistic, social, political and economic forces that shape Asia. No prior knowledge is expected. This is a Liberal Studies, Global Community, Non-US course.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

MODL 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

MODL 151 - Self-Instructional Languages

Self-Instruction in basic language is open to serious students with previous language background. The course is designed to develop the speaking, listening comprehension of the student on a basic level. Course may be repeated in each language up to a maximum of three credits. Not applicable for modern language requirement or liberal studies. Students may choose from any world languages not available in the regular offerings.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MODL 180 - Introduction to World Cultures

This course introduces the study and understanding of World Cultures through the examination of different cultural products that people in specific cultures of the world have created, along with different practices/traditions they perform and their interconnection to the perspectives, worldviews, and identities of that specific world community. This course is taught in English.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

MODL 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

MODL 195 - Workshop

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

PNGE 312 - Petrophysics

This course provides an in depth review of the properties of the reservoir rock and fluids. Topics covered will include theoretical and applied phase behavior of hydrocarbon systems and hydrocarbon fluid properties, basic properties of petroleum reservoir rocks and laboratory evaluation of basic and special petroleum reservoir rock and fluid properties.

Prerequisites: CHEM 107^D and CHEM 111^D and PNGE 201^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 315 - Reservoir Fluids

Thermodynamic behavior of naturally occurring hydrocarbon mixtures; evaluation and correlation of physical properties of petroleum reservoir fluids including laboratory and empirical methods.

Prerequisites: PNGE 312^D and CHEM 108^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 325 - Reservoir Engineering

This course provides an in depth review of reservoir characteristics and behavior. Topics covered will include fluid flow through porous materials, evaluation of oil and gas resources and the reserves under a variety of production methods, and prediction of reservoir performance to achieve maximum conservation.

Prerequisites: (EGEO 327^D or EVGE 327^D) and PNGE 315^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 330 - Unconventional Reservoir Engineering

This course addresses topics that are specific to exploration of unconventional reservoirs - identification and characterization, economics, efficient completion technologies and development strategies. Tight gas and shale gas reservoirs and coal bed methane engineering are addressed.

Prerequisite: PNGE 325^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 398 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 410 - Drilling engineering with Lab

This course provides an in depth review of drilling engineering practices. Topics covered will include functions and design considerations for the rotating system, hoisting system and circulating system; drilling fluids calculations and selections; hydraulic programs; drilling optimization; casing string design; cementing programs; and pressure control; laboratory evaluation of mud weight control filtration, chemical contaminants and rheological models.

Prerequisites: ENGR 301 (may be taken concurrently)^D and PNGE 312^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 420 - Production Engineering

This course provides an in depth review of petroleum production engineering practices. Topics covered will include well completion, performance of productive formations, drill stem tests, completion of wells, flowing wells, gas lift methods and equipment, pumping installation design, well stimulation, emulsion, treating, gathering and storage of oil and gas, field automation.

Prerequisites: PNGE 410 (may be taken concurrently)^D and PNGE 325^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 430 - Reservoir Simulation

Mathematical models governing fluid flow in reservoirs; relevant numerical methods; numerical reservoir simulations; treatment of wells; history matching; simulation project performed using a commercial simulator.

Prerequisites: ENGR 130^D and (MATH 309^D or MATH 232^D)
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 432 - Formation Evaluation

This course provides an in depth review of techniques for formation evaluation. Topics covered will include various well logging methods and related calculations with exercises in interpretation of data from actual well logs.

Prerequisite: PNGE 312^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 435 - Pressure Transient Analysis

This course provides an in depth review of the well test analysis methods. Topics covered will include pressure transient tests and interpretation methods, unsteady-state fluid flow through porous rock, analysis of the drawdown and buildup tests, wellbore storage, application of pressure derivative in pressure transient data analysis, testing of hydraulically fractured wells, type curve method, testing of horizontal wells, unified method of analysis, well test design.

Prerequisite: PNGE 420^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 440 - Hydraulic Fracturing

This course starts with a general overview of different types of unconventional reservoirs and their geological and petrophysical properties. Second part of the course emphasizes hydraulic fracturing design and data collection for proper fracture design. Economic analysis of hydraulic fracturing will be covered as well as more advanced topics such as completion design optimization.

Prerequisite: PNGE 325^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 441 - Oil and Natural Gas Resource Valuation and Economics

This course provides an in depth review of the techniques for oil and gas property evaluation. Topics covered will include reserve estimation, decline analysis, petroleum property evaluation, interest calculations, cost estimation, and tax evaluation, investment decision analysis and computer applications in property evaluation.

Prerequisites: PNGE 325^D and PNGE 432^{*D} (may be taken concurrently).
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 443 - Enhanced Oil Recovery

This course teaches an integrated version of the basics of waterflooding and enhanced oil recovery (EOR), illustrating the connection of each process to a few fundamental principles. It reviews the specifics of thermal and solvent EOR by relating basic principles to the results of cases from the field.

Prerequisite: PNGE 325^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Senior 1 or Senior 2.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Petro & Natl Gas Engineering.

Enrollment limited to students in the College of Engineering & Science college.

PNGE 445 - Natural Gas Engineering with Lab

This course provides an in depth review of natural gas evaluation and production engineering practices. Topics covered will include natural gas properties, compression, transmission, processing and application of reservoir engineering principles to predict the performance and design of gas, gas-condensate and storage reservoirs. Includes a laboratory devoted to gas measurements.

Prerequisite: PNGE 325^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 450 - Internship

Supervised placement and research in selected public and private agencies.

Credits: 3-9

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 459 - Petroleum and Natural Gas Design/Capstone I

This course provides a proposal preparation for PNGE 460 which includes defining a comprehensive problem in design involving systems in oil and gas production, field processing, transportation, and storage.

Prerequisites: PNGE 325^D and PNGE 410^D and PNGE 420^{*D} and PNGE 432^{*D} (may be taken concurrently).

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 1

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 460 - Petroleum and Natural Gas Engineering Design/Capstone II

This course provides comprehensive problems in design involving systems in oil and gas production, field processing, transportation and storage.

Prerequisite: PNGE 459^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 2

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 470 - Petroleum and Natural Gas Engineering Undergraduate Research

Research and design problems of limited scope approved on an individual basis intended to promote independent inquiry.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Junior 1, Junior 2, Senior 1 or Senior 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the SPECIAL APPROVAL attribute.

PNGE 490 - Independent Study

Investigation of the theoretical or experimental area following a plan or proposal initiated by the student and approved by the major advisor. Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 495 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PNGE 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Philanthropy, Nonprofit Leadership, and Public Administration (NLPA)

NLPA 101 - Introduction to Nonprofit Management

An introduction to the nonprofit sector; emphasis on leadership and decision-making in rapidly growing areas of health and human service, cultural, environmental, educational, charitable, and religious organizations.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Summer Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

NLPA 120 - Civic Engagement and Community Decision-Making

An introduction to civic engagement in a democratic society with a focus on the complex nature of public policy making and the role each citizen plays in the formation and modification of socially just public policies. Students will gain introductory skills in civil voice, civil discourse, public policy analysis and community mobilizing for social good.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course

NLPA 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. This course will set students along the path to becoming engaged with issues and scholarship important to a 21st century education while they learn about themselves and their place in the world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

NLPA 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

NLPA 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

NLPA 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

NLPA 200 - Empowered to Serve

Planning a career where you will help others? The interdisciplinary approach of this course introduces students to the historical, cultural and ethical context of service; investigates the increase in the number of helping professionals; takes students on a journey of personal empowerment; and offers theories and best practices that prepare them to empower the persons they will serve in their professions. Assigned readings, case studies, service-learning experiences, structured reflection and discussions empower students to understand and develop individual purpose, become lifelong learners, and combine knowledge, skills, values and motivation to make a difference in the lives of those they serve. This course would be especially useful for students seeking careers in helping professions such as animal care and protection, community and public service, counseling, education, health and wellness, human rights, legal and protective services, the military or social services.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Transfer Thread Completion Course

NLPA 230 - Introduction to Public Administration

This interdisciplinary and global approach to public administration will explore the theories and best practices employed by public servants to promote the public good through ethical, culturally competent, and efficient and effective service provision. Through case studies and service-learning projects, students will be encouraged to consider a cross sector approach for implementing and evaluating policies and procedures that impact quality of life both domestically and globally. Students will develop a greater understanding of the role public servants have in their lives, develop skills employed by these professionals and explore public service career opportunities.

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Odd

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

NLPA 320 - Community Change and Development

This course surveys the field of community development within the context of community collaboration and civic leadership. Topics include social capital, asset-based community development, sustainable community programs, economic development programs, private/public partnerships, and the shared role of the private, public, nonprofit sectors and everyday citizens in community development.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

NLPA 325 - Social and Ethical Issues in Philanthropy and Fundraising

Resource development, including grant writing and social entrepreneurs, is increasingly important to the future of nonprofit and educational organizations. This course addresses methods for integrating resource development and income generation into an organization's life. Three themes are found in this course: resource development as a management function, resource development as a management process, and issues in resource development.

Philosophy (PHIL)

PHIL 101 - Introduction to Philosophy

A first encounter with the nature and methods of philosophical thinking in which a person's view of his/her own nature and of the world becomes challenged, explored and deepened. Students read a diverse range of primary texts, both classical and contemporary, western and non-western. They may also view films and other media that present philosophical arguments.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

PHIL 110 - Ethics and Civil Discourse

An introduction to the practice of civil discourse through a philosophical study of ethics from theoretical and applied perspectives.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

PHIL 113 - Formal Logic

An introduction to the standards and methods of inference utilized in formal systems of logic including traditional syllogistic logic and modern propositional logic. Phil 113 is designed to improve students' ability to recognize fallacies in reasoning, to identify and make valid inferences, and to construct sound arguments.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

PHIL 123 - Ethics

An introduction to the study of questions concerning right action, moral obligation, and an examination of various theories of moral judgment. This course introduces students to the many forms of inquiry and analysis conducted in the humanities, especially philosophy, and the perennial questions that philosophy addresses. Students engage a diverse range of primary texts in ethics and ethical theory, both classical and contemporary, western and non-western. They also view and analyze films and other media that present ethical arguments.

PHIL 170 - American Philosophy

An investigation of the historical genesis of American culture through a reading of the prominent philosophical literature the culture has produced.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

PHIL 171 - Philosophy of Human Existence

An investigation into and discussion of the central themes of existential philosophy. Philosophers such as Kierkegaard and Nietzsche will be studied in terms of their retrieval of the meaning of human existence.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

PHIL 180 - Philosophical Inquiry

This course guides students through the method of philosophical inquiry by exploring philosophical problems and questions in the broader context of humanistic inquiry.

PHIL 313 - Symbolic Logic

An advanced investigation of logical thought through the use of special techniques of symbolization, the logic of unquantified and quantified propositions, the nature and limits of logical systems and the foundation of mathematics are some of the important topics considered.

Prerequisites: PHIL 113^D or MATH 120^D or MATH 199^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHIL 324 - Environmental Ethics

An analysis of environmental issues using a philosophical understanding of nature, with a consideration of the ethical responsibilities in the use of the earth's resources, behavior toward non-human species, and obligations toward future generations.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHIL 325 - Medical/Health Care Ethics

A course in applied ethics about conceptual, ethical, and legal dilemmas in the institutional rights of patients, in the responsibilities of practitioners, in technological challenges to values in the modern age in caring for the seriously ill and the dying, and in rationing health care in a large society.

Credits: 3

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHIL 326 - Business Ethics

A study of applied ethics about the conceptual and ethical dilemmas in the business professions. An examination of cultural challenges of social and moral responsibility in a technically sophisticated economic climate.

Credits: 3

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHIL 331 - Social and Political Philosophy

An in-depth study of central concepts and issues in social and political thought from multiple, diverse perspectives. Issues may include just and fair societies, theories of political obligation, and theories of citizenship and civic engagement with regard to diverse, heterogeneous communities.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHIL 335 - Philosophy of Law and Justice

A study of multiple theories of law and the nature of law's relation to justice with special emphasis on a notion of justice for institutions.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

A beginning laboratory course in technological design and drawing. Topics: lettering, scales, geometric construction, orthographic sketching, and auxiliary views.

Credits: 2

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Odd

PHYS 141 - Engineering Graphics II

An advanced laboratory course in technological drawing and implementation. Topics: Vectors, graphing, nomography, isometric pictorials, technical illustration, computer graphics, and working drawings.

Prerequisite: PHYS 140^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 1

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

PHYS 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

PHYS 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

PHYS 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

PHYS 201 - Elements of Physics I with Lab

Introduction to physics at the algebra/trigonometry mathematical level. Topics include: mechanics, fluids, oscillations, waves, and sound. Course is especially designed for students enrolled in health science majors. This course must be taken with Elements of Physics Lab PHYS021.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

PHYS 202 - Elements of Physics II/ Lab

Introduction to physics at the algebra/trigonometry mathematical level. Topics include: thermal physics, optics, electricity and magnetism, and nuclear physics. Course is especially designed for health science majors. This course must be taken with Elements of Physics II Lab PHYS022.

Prerequisite: PHYS 201^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring & Summer Terms

PHYS 204 - Environmental Biophysics

An introductory course covering the energy problem and alternative solutions; radiation and its effects on man; the eye and vision; the ear, hearing and noise pollution; electrical power production alternatives and the environmental costs; some instruments used in biophysics and medicine.

Credits: 3

PHYS 211 - General Physics I with Lab

Introduction to physics using calculus and including extensive problem solving. Topics include mechanics statics, kinematics, kinetics, work-energy, rotational motion, and impulse-momentum. This course must be taken with General Physics Lab PHYS011.

Prerequisite: MATH 225 (may be taken concurrently)^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

PHYS 212 - General Physics II with Lab

This is a calculus based course, which follows PHYS 211. It develops the concepts of electric and magnetic fields. Topics covered are Gauss' Law, Ampere's Law, Biot's Law, Faraday's Law, electric charges and their dynamics, capacitance, resistance inductance, etc. Offered fall semester only. Includes a lab.

Prerequisites: MATH 225^D and PHYS 211^D and MATH 230 (may be taken concurrently)^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

PHYS 213 - General Physics III/ Lab

Covers fluids, hydrostatics and hydro-dynamics, heat transfer and measurements, laws of thermodynamics, vibrating bodies, wave motion, light lenses and optical instruments, interference and diffraction, polarization. This course must be taken with General Physics III Lab PHYS023. Offered spring term only.

Prerequisite: PHYS 211^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

PHYS 216 - University Physics 1 with Lab

First of a two semester calculus based introduction to physics sequence for science, engineering, and mathematics students. Students will acquire knowledge of fundamental physics principles and their applications as well as problem solving skills and laboratory and data acquisition experience. Topics covered: kinematics, dynamics, momentum of particles and rigid bodies, work and energy, gravitation, simple harmonic motion, and waves. This course must be taken with University Physics 1 Lab.

Prerequisite: MATH 225 (may be taken concurrently)^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

PHYS 217 - University Physics 2 with Lab

Second of a two semester calculus-based introduction to physics sequence for science, engineering, and mathematics students. Students will acquire knowledge of fundamental physics principles and their applications as well as problem solving skills and laboratory and data acquisition experience. Topics Covered: Fluids, Thermodynamics, Electricity and Magnetism, Circuits, and Optics. This course must be taken with University Physics 2 Lab.

Prerequisites: PHYS 216^D and MATH 225 (may be taken concurrently)^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 4

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

PHYS 271 - Astronomy

This course is designed for the general student. Recent findings in astronomy are discussed, i.e., black holes, quasars, etc. Other topics of interest are the evolution of stars, galaxies, and the universe since the big bang. No math required.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

PHYS 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

PHYS 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

PHYS 298 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

PHYS 301 - Physical Chemistry I

Thermodynamics and chemical kinetics. Cross listed as CHEM301.

Prerequisites: CHEM 108^D and CHEM 112^D and (PHYS 212^D or PHYS 213^D) and MATH 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 310 - Classical Mechanics

This course provides a more advanced examination of classical mechanics compared to introductory physics courses, with a strong focus on Lagrangian and Hamiltonian formalisms. Topics covered include a review of Newtonian mechanics, the principles of conservation of energy and momentum, calculus of variations, Lagrange's equations, two-body central force problems, mechanics in non-inertial frames, and Hamiltonian mechanics.

Prerequisites: PHYS 217^D and MATH 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 312 - Modern Physics

An introductory course that focuses on the transition from classical physics covered in the calculus based introductory physics sequence to contemporary physics. Topics include: Overview of special relativity, experimental and theoretical developments that led to the discovery of the atomic structure, early quantum mechanics, introduction to Schrödinger's equation, and a brief introduction to solid state physics.

Prerequisites: PHYS 217^D and MATH 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 314 - Statics

Includes the application of equilibrium conditions to structures, trusses, frames and machines, and beams with concentrated and distributed loads. Cross-listed with ENGR 210. This course may be counted as a physics course or as an engineering course, but not both.

Prerequisites: PHYS 216^D and MATH 230 (may be taken concurrently)^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 315 - Dynamics

Integrates the subject content of kinematics and kinetics that deal respectively with the description of motion of bodies and the causes for their motion.

Prerequisites: PHYS 314^D and ENGR 210^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 317 - Space Science

Introductory course in space exploration. It emphasizes the evolution of the earth with respect to its neighbors in the solar system. Other topics covered are the earth's ionosphere, magnetosphere, hazards of satellite communication, and orbital dynamics.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 325 - Analog & Digital Electronics

An introductory analog and digital electronics course designed primarily for science students. The course will start with an analysis of AC and DC circuits using Kirchhoff's laws and complex numbers. The analog part will include a study of discrete components including diodes, transistors, and SCRs as well as linear integrated circuits. The digital part will include basic gates as well as MSI and LSI circuits and will be center around interfacing computers to experiments.

Prerequisite: PHYS 212^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 331 - Mathematical Methods of Physics and Engineering

The course covers a broad spectrum of mathematical methods relevant to physics and engineering. The emphasis is on the use of methods rather than on proofs and derivations. Topics include vector analysis, complex variables, Fourier and Laplace transforms, linear algebra, and some boundary value problems. Dual-listed with MATH 331. This course may be counted as a physics course or as a mathematics course, but not both.

Prerequisites: PHYS 217^D and MATH 230^D and MATH 231^{*D} (may be taken concurrently).

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 371 - Physical Optics

This is a physical optics course dealing with the nature and transmission of light. Topics covered will include the propagation of light, coherence, interference, diffraction, Maxwell's Equations, optics of solids, thermal radiation, optical spectra and lasers.

Prerequisites: PHYS 212^D and PHYS 213^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Odd

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 375 - Thermal and Statistical Physics

This course focuses on the fundamental concepts of thermodynamics, the kinetic theory of gases, and the statistical approach to understanding physical systems. Emphasis is placed on developing problem-solving skills, with application to both physics and engineering.

Prerequisites: PHYS 217^D and MATH 231^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 381 - Advanced Physics Laboratory

An introduction to the techniques of experimental physics. Experiments are selected from a wide range of fields in physics that are of a more advanced level than those given at the general or intermediate level. Emphasis includes scientific instrumentation and data collection, scientific computing, lab procedures and safety, data analysis and interpretation, and technical communication.

Prerequisite: PHYS 217^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 2

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2, Sophomore 1 or Sophomore 2 may not enroll.

PHYS 382 - Optics Laboratory

This course will provide in depth experience in laboratory techniques, data acquisition and analysis in the field of Optical Physics. Experiments are of a more advanced grade than those given at the general or intermediate level. Each experiment will be an extended piece of careful, thorough work, culminating in a detailed report. Appropriate for students majoring in the Biological, Earth, Environmental, Health, Mathematics and Physical sciences.

Prerequisites: PHYS 211^D and PHYS 212^D and (PHYS 213^D or PHYS 201^D) and PHYS 202^D and (MATH 225^D or MATH 230^D or MATH 231^D)
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 2

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2, Sophomore 1 or Sophomore 2 may not enroll.

PHYS 385 - Computational Physics

This course introduces computational methods in physics, focusing on numerical techniques, data analysis, and machine learning. Students will learn to implement algorithms for numerical integration, differential equations, Fourier analysis, and Monte Carlo simulations while exploring applications in classical mechanics, quantum systems, and statistical physics as well as predictive modeling. The integration of data science techniques, such as data visualization and analysis, with machine learning models enables students to tackle predictive and analytical tasks in physics. Practical applications and in-class projects prepare students for research and industry, bridging physics and modern computational tools.

Prerequisites: PHYS 217^D and MATH 301^D and CPSC 146^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 398 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 410 - Electricity and Magnetism

Electric fields and potentials of charge distributions and polarized materials, magnetic fields and vector potentials of current distributions and magnetized materials; electric and magnetic energies and application of Maxwell's equations.

Prerequisites: PHYS 217^D and PHYS 331^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 412 - Modern Physics 2

This course explores the applications of Quantum mechanics and relativity. Topics covered will include atomic physics, quantum statistics, solid state physics, nuclear physics, astrophysics and cosmology.

Prerequisites: PHYS 312^D and MATH 231^D and PHYS 331 (may be taken concurrently)^D
^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 1

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 421 - Materials Safety and Equipment Overview for Nanofabrication - NMT 311

This course provides an overview of basic nanofabrication processing equipment and materials handling procedures with a focus on safety, environment, and health issues. Topics covered include: cleanroom operation, environmental, safety, and health issues, vacuum pump systems operation, environmental safety and health issues (covering direct drive mechanical, roots blowers, turbomolecular, and dry mechanical systems); thermal- processing equipment operation, safety, environmental, and health issues (covering horizontal, vertical, rapid thermal annealing tools); chemical vapor deposition system operation, safety, environmental, and health issues (covering gas delivery, corrosive and flammable gas storage and plumbing, regulators, and mass flow controllers); and vacuum deposition/etching system operation, safety, environment, and health issues (covering microwave and RF power supplies and tuners, heating and cooling units, vacuum gauges, valves, and process controllers). Specific materials handling issues include those arising from using deionization water, solvents, cleansers, organic materials, ion implementation sources, diffusion sources, photoresists, developers, metal dielectrics and toxic, flammable, corrosive and high purity gases as well as packaging materials.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 422 - Basic Nanofabrication Processes - NMT 312

The course provides an overview of basic processing steps used in all applications of nanofabrication. Both top-down and bottom-up nanofabrication are included. The majority of the course details a step-by-step description of the equipment and processes needed to fabricate devices and structures such as bio-chips, CMOS transistors, power devices, microelectromechanical (MEM) devices, and opto-electronic structures. Students learn the similarities and differences in both the equipment and process flows needed in fabricating all of these various structures.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 423 - Thin Films in Nanofabrication - NMT 313

This course covers thin film deposition and etching practices in nanofabrication. The deposition techniques addressed in the first part of the course include atmospheric, low pressure, and plasma enhanced chemical vapor deposition and sputtering, thermal evaporation, and beam evaporation physical vapor deposition. Also included are self-assembling molecule based techniques. Materials considered include organics, dielectrics (e.g., nitrides, oxides), polysilicon (doped and undoped), metals (e.g., aluminum, tungsten, copper), adhesion promoters and diffusion barriers. The second part of the course focuses on etching processes and emphasizes reactive ion etching (single wafer, batch), high-ion-density reactors, ion beam etching and wet chemical etching. Students receive hands-on experience in depositing and etching dielectric, semiconductor, and metal materials using state-of-the-art tools and experience practicing the steps critical to micro- and nanofabrication of structures used in a variety of fields from biotechnology and the biomedical fields to microelectronics.

Credits: 3

PHYS 424 - Advanced Lithography and Dielectrics Nanofabrication - NMT 314

This course covers all aspects of lithography from design and mask fabrication to pattern transfer and inspection. The course is divided into three major sections. The first section describes the lithographic process from substrate preparation to exposure. The second section examines the processes from development through inspection (both before and after pattern transfer). This section introduces optical masks, aligners, steppers and scanners. In addition, critical dimension (CD) and profile control of photoresists are investigated. The last section discusses advances in optical lithographic techniques such as phase shifting masks and illumination schemes as well as molecular ruler, e-beam, x-ray, EUV, and ion beam lithography.

Credits: 3

PHYS 425 - Materials Modification in Nanofabrication - NMT 315

This course covers in detail the processing steps used in modifying material properties in nanofabrication. Included are chemical reaction, growth and annealing processes. The impact of thermal processing and thermal processing on defects, gettering, and impurities and overall electrical, mechanical, optical, and chemical properties are studied. The student grows and measures gate and field oxides, implants and activates source and drain regions, and evaluates thermal budget requirements using state-of-the-art tools. Included also are other modification technologies such as ion implantation, diffusion and chemical surface preparation and treatment. Substrate preparation processing such as slicing, etching, polishing and epitaxial growth are also covered.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 426 - Characterization, Packaging and Testing of Nanofabrication Structures - NMT 316

This course examines a variety of measurements and techniques essential for controlling micro- and nanofabrication processes. Monitoring techniques such as residual gas analysis (RGA), optical emission spectroscopy (OES) and end point detection are discussed. Characterization techniques such as scanning electron microscopy x-ray photoelectron spectroscopy, atomic probe methods advanced optical microscopy, optical thin film measurements, ellipsometry, and resistivity/conductivity measurements are introduced and tied to process control. Basic measurements for yield analysis and process control are also stressed. These include breakdown measurements, junction testing, and capacitance-voltage and current voltage characterization. In addition, the characteristics of some simple bio-chip structures and MEMs devices are obtained and discussed. The student learns about the manufacturing issues involved in interconnects, materials compatibility and final device assembly. Aluminum, refractory metals and plastic fabrication techniques and characterization are discussed in detail along with topics such as diffusion barriers, contact resistance, electro migration, corrosion, and adhesion. The importance of planarization techniques such as deposition/etchback and chemical/mechanical polishing are emphasized. Lastly, procedures such as die separation, bonding, and sealing and final test for both conventional Cs and MEMs and biomedical devices are examined.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 450 - Internship

Supervised placement and research in selected public and private agencies.

Credits: 1-12

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

PHYS 480 - Quantum Mechanics

This course covers the foundations of quantum mechanics, including the basic postulates, Schrödinger equation, Dirac notation, operator formalism, spherically symmetric systems, angular momentum, spin, and identical particle statistics.

Prerequisites: (PHYS 331^D or MATH 331^D) and PHYS 312^D and MATH 301 (may be taken concurrently)^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 485 - Condensed Matter Physics

This is an introductory course on the properties and behavior of condensed materials, mainly solids. Topics covered include, crystal structures, electronic and thermal properties, lattice dynamics, and energy band models. Time permitting, topics such as magnetic materials and superconductivity will also be introduced.

Prerequisite: PHYS 312^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 490 - Independent Study

Investigation of the theoretical or experimental area following a plan or proposal initiated by the student and approved by the major advisor. Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 495 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PHYS 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Political Science (POLI)

POLI 101 - American National Government

A survey of American national politics, emphasis on the constitution, parties, interest groups, elections, organization and structure of government.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

POLI 103 - International Relations

An overview of the politics of various governments; the nature of relations among nations; a study of problems such as terrorism and multinationals as political participants.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

POLI 110 - Foundations of Political Science

This course introduces students to contemporary political problems and how political scientists think about those problems. Students will learn the language of political science including the big themes, concepts, and models that span centuries of political science literature and provide insight into global and domestic political conflict. Students will use the lens of political science to explore concepts such as liberty, equality, justice, rights, individual autonomy, democracy and representation, identity and tolerance, the appropriate role and limits of government, and sovereignty of states in the international system. Although non-democratic forms of governance will be examined, this course will focus on democratic governance - why we chose it, what political practices and reforms can improve it, and how citizens through engagement and dialogue can help to strengthen it. This course will emphasize the relevance of the core concepts of political science in relation to important contested political issues in the US and the global community today.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Transfer Thread Completion Course

POLI 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. This course will set students along the path to becoming engaged with issues and scholarship important to a 21st century education while they learn about themselves and their place in the world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

POLI 170 - Investigating Politics

This course guides students through the methods of social science inquiry by exploring major problems facing modern societies on the local, national, and/or global levels. Students will use the scientific process to learn how we know and what we know about the social world. Students will learn basic research concepts, explore the use of theories and models to guide research, and develop and use social science to become knowledgeable citizens and critical consumers of political news and information. Students will also learn how social science differs from natural science in its attention to normative and ethical questions and the role of power dynamics in shaping social, economic and political outcomes.

Credits: 3

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

POLI 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

POLI 195 - Workshop

Special topics of interest to undergraduates and selected members of the community. A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

POLI 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

POLI 200 - State and Local Government

Examines state levels of government. Emphasis is on constitutions, parties and interest groups, elections, organization and structure of government.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

POLI 215 - Introduction to Political Theory

An introduction to classical and modern theories of politics, governments and ideologies.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

POLI 220 - Foreign Policy

The study of selected instruments of foreign policy, how it is formulated and implemented; the focus is on the U.S.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

POLI 223 - Law and Courts

An introductory examination of the structure of the judicial branch of government; what we mean when we talk about the "law"; how our understanding of what is law has developed and changed throughout our history; how our state and federal courts are administered and structured; the nature of legal education; the work of the Supreme Court, judges, and lawyers; how the criminal justice system chooses juries, tries defendants, negotiates justice through plea bargaining, and depends on its judiciary; and the role of the legal system in resolving private disputes.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Odd

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

POLI 235 - Civil Discourse and Democracy

This course is an introduction to civil discourse, or the practice of constructive dialogues and deliberation, based in mutual respect, which ultimately seeks to advance the public interest. Students will use the lens of political science to explore contemporary political problems and how to approach, discuss, and analyze them.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

POLI 255 - Introduction to Public Policy

This course introduces students to the idea that private actions create problems for communities that citizens and community leaders must work together to solve. Students learn a universal framework for overcoming community problems as well as the skills needed to recognize the moral and democratic dilemmas inherent in these problems. Students hone their knowledge by gathering evidence, researching, and addressing real community issues.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course

POLI 263 - Introduction to Comparative Politics

The stress is on descriptions and conceptions of the state and political institutions in the non-Western and Western worlds; with attention on policy-making, national issues, and systems.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Thematic Thread(s): Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

POLI 290 - Experimental

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 321 - Drugs and Behavior

Psychoactive drugs and their action on the human nervous system; legal and sociocultural aspects of drug abuse.

Prerequisite: PSYC 105^C
^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology, Psychology-Developmental, Psychology-Neuroscience or Psychology-Pre PA-SRU 3+2.

PSYC 325 - Introduction to Experimental Psychology

This course will teach students how to design, conduct, and report psychological research. Topics include the nature of science, formulation of hypotheses, research methods and design, and ethical issues in using human and nonhuman subjects. Emphasis will be given to experimental design techniques, evaluation of published research in psychology, and the writing of research reports. The course will also focus on the teaching of library research skills and producing formal research reports in APA manuscript style

Prerequisites: INDS 110^D and ENGL 102^C and PSYC 105^C and PSYC 221^C
^D Requires minimum grade of D.
^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Corequisite(s): PSYC 326

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology, Psychology-Developmental, Psychology-Neuroscience or Psychology-Pre PA-SRU 3+2.

PSYC 326 - Experimental Psychology Laboratory

A laboratory experience to accompany PSYC 325 in which students will conduct a series of literature searches, design and execute laboratory experiments, perform and interpret statistical analyses of data collected, and report experimental findings in APA style.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and PSYC 221^C and (INDS 110^D or LIBR 110^D) and ENGL 102^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Corequisite(s): PSYC 325

Credits: 1

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology, Psychology-Developmental, Psychology-Neuroscience or Psychology-Pre PA-SRU 3+2.

PSYC 334 - Health Psychology

An overview of the field and of the role of psychology in health. Topics include health-enhancing and health-compromising behaviors; the effects of stress, coping, and personality on health; psychoneuroimmunology; treatments of specific problems and disorders; and interacting with health care services.

Prerequisite: PSYC 105^C
^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology or Psychology.

PSYC 355 - Topical Seminar in Neuroscience

Topical Seminar in Neuroscience will focus on reading, evaluating, and presenting primary literature. This course will provide students with an opportunity to read and discuss primary literature related to Neuroscience. Through reading and discussing primary literature students in this course will explore a breadth of career paths and neuroscience techniques while developing methodological and content knowledge in the foundations of neuroscience, and will gain skills in the ability to critically evaluate primary literature. Students may repeat the course once for credit.

Prerequisite: PSYC 105^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 1

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 360 - History of Psychology

A review of the philosophical and natural science antecedents to the science of psychology and the development of psychological paradigms from our origins to the present, including attention to the interactive influence of world events/psychology. The historical perspective allows students to understand the relationships between different fields in psychology.

Prerequisite: PSYC 105^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2, Sophomore 1 or Sophomore 2 may not enroll.

PSYC 364 - Child and Adolescent Development

Intensive study of the biosocial, cognitive, and psychosocial aspects of development of children and adolescents.

Prerequisite: PSYC 105^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Transfer Thread Completion Course

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 365 - Psychology of Aging

Psychosocial, clinical and developmental aspects of aging, implications of optimal developmental and effective management of problems confronting the aged.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and (PSYC 325^C and PSYC 326^C) or (PSYC 232^C and PSYC 231^C) and (PSYC 344^C or PSYC 244^C)

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 375 - Psychopathology of Adulthood

Advanced study of adult mental disorders, including symptoms, phenomenological aspects, diagnosis, and treatment. Students will examine the etiology, symptom constellations, and treatment of psychological disorders in depth and begin to understand what people with the disorders experience through various stages of adulthood. Psychological theory and research findings will guide the student in gaining an understanding of mental illness.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and PSYC 244^D and PSYC 276^D

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology, Psychology-Developmental or Psychology-Neuroscience.

PSYC 377 - Social Psychology

The psychological implications of our social existence; a study of the social forces affecting human behavior.

Prerequisite: PSYC 105^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 392 - Cross Cultural Psychology

This course will introduce and familiarize students with the concept of cross-cultural psychology by examining the extent to which the theories, principles, and knowledge of the discipline of psychology are universally applicable to humans. The goal of exploring the psychological implications of cultural differences and of contact among members of different cultures is to consider the role which psychological research and theory can play in advancing intercultural understanding.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and PSYC 377^D

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 398 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 415 - Multicultural Identity Development

This course examines biological, psychological and social influences on identity formation through the lifespan with a focus on intersectionality of identities such as race, gender, sexual orientation, class and disability.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and (PSYC 344^C or PSYC 244^C)

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 420 - Community Service Internship in Psychology

Students complete 160 hours of supervised placement in selected public or private agencies at appropriate institutions. Regular meetings with the internship supervisor along with relevant didactic requirements assist the student with integrating the experience.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and PSYC 231^C and PSYC 232^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology or Psychology.

Enrollment limited to students with the SPECIAL APPROVAL attribute.

PSYC 421 - Advanced Behavioral Statistics

Intermediate forms of statistical analysis of behavioral research, their rationale, and computer applications are introduced.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and PSYC 221^C and PSYC 325^C and PSYC 326^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 428 - Social and Emotional Development Across the Lifespan

This course uses a lifespan theoretical perspective to examine social and emotional influences on social relationships (e.g., parent-child, sibling, grandparent-grandchild, romantic) with an emphasis on the socio-historical context and the influence of intersecting identity factors (e.g., age and race).

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and (PSYC 244^C or PSYC 344^C)

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology, Psychology-Developmental or Psychology-Neuroscience.

PSYC 430 - Research Practicum in Psychology

Supervised research experience with Psychology department faculty member. Students identify a mentor and work together with their mentor to develop and implement a research plan, and write an APA style paper reporting the results. Notes: Course grading: Pass/No Credit. Prerequisites: Declared major; Jr/Sr standing; minimum overall and Psychology GPA of 3.0; a grade of C or higher in PSYC 105, PSYC 231 and PSYC 232; at least 12 additional credits in Psychology; written application and departmental permission.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and PSYC 232^C and PSYC 231^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2, Sophomore 1 or Sophomore 2 may not enroll.

PSYC 435 - Resilience Across the Lifespan

This course uses a scientific and theoretical approach to understanding, developing, and utilizing resilience within the context of life challenges. Content will include behaviors that enable individuals and communities to thrive and live fulfilling lives in the face of adversity, loss, overwhelming grief, and death. Eastern philosophies and other diverse populations will be included in the course. Students will gain an understanding of factors that promote well-being that include love, social support and connection, faith and spirituality, gratitude, forgiveness, hope, and optimism.

Prerequisite: PSYC 105^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms, Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 445 - Infant and Child Cognition

This course examines theories and research in cognitive development with an emphasis on infancy and early childhood. Piagetian, Vygotskian, Information-processing, and Dynamic Systems Approaches are explored while examining the development of processes including attention, perception, memory, language, and reasoning. In addition to learning about theories and research findings in the field, students will (1) become familiar with the research methods employed by psychologists to study cognitive development; (2) think critically about current cognitive developmental questions; and (3) apply cognitive developmental findings to real world contexts.

Prerequisite: PSYC 105^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 449 - Seminar in Psychology

Advanced topics will be announced in the schedule.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 450 - Field Capstone Internship in Psychology

Students complete 280 hours of supervised placement in selected public or private agencies at appropriate institutions. Regular meetings with the internship supervisor along with relevant didactic requirements assist the student with integrating the experience. Requires application and permission to register. Students must have at least 15 additional credits in Psychology and a minimum GPA of 3.0 in Psychology and Overall in order to apply.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and PSYC 231^C and PSYC 232^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Corequisite(s): PSYC 485

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2, Sophomore 1 or Sophomore 2 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology or Psychology.

Enrollment limited to students with the SPECIAL APPROVAL attribute.

PSYC 451 - Research Capstone Internship

This course is designed to provide an immersion experience in undergraduate research in laboratory or clinical settings. Under supervision of a SRU psychology faculty member, the student will integrate concepts gleaned from prerequisite undergraduate courses and scientific knowledge. Psychology theory, research methods, and statistical applications will be applied to prepare students who are planning to pursue careers in research in psychology related fields or to further their education in graduate programs in all psychology related fields, neuroscience, and professional programs such as physician assistant, occupational therapy, and medical schools. Notes: Declared major; Jr/Sr standing; minimum Overall GPA of 2.0 and Psychology GPA of 3.0; a grade of C or higher in: PSYC 105 and (PSYC 231 or (PSYC 325 and PSYC 326)) and (PSYC 232 or PSYC 221); written application and departmental permission. (repeatable up to 12 credits)

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and (PSYC 231^C or (PSYC 325^C and PSYC 326^C)) and (PSYC 232^C or PSYC 221^C)

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Junior 1, Junior 2, Senior 1 or Senior 2.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology-Developmental or Psychology-Neuroscience.

Enrollment limited to students with the SPECIAL APPROVAL attribute.

PSYC 471 - Psychopharmacology

This combined lecture and laboratory course will provide a basic introduction to psychopharmacology: the study of the effects of drugs on the brain and human behavior. Emphasis will be on drugs that effect the central nervous system and treat mental health disorders.

Prerequisite: PSYC 311^B

^B Requires minimum grade of B.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 473 - Hormones and Behavior

This combined lecture and laboratory course will provide an in-depth exploration of the study of hormones and behavior, introduce students to methodologies used to study hormones and behavior, and explore the evolutionary, behavioral and social influences that can change the expression of hormones and the resulting behavioral consequences.

Prerequisite: PSYC 311^B

^B Requires minimum grade of B.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 475 - Behavior Modification

Application of learning and other psychological principles in behavior therapy.

Prerequisite: PSYC 105^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 476 - Clinical Neuroscience

This course surveys the role of neural mechanisms on the development, diagnosis and treatment of psychological disorders. The biological basis of neurological and psychiatric disorders will be explored using integrative approach that includes genetics, neuroanatomy, chemistry and physiology, development, environment, behavior, culture and evolution.

Prerequisites: PSYC 276^C and (PSYC 325^C and PSYC 326^C) or (PSYC 231^C and PSYC 232^C) and PSYC 311^B and PSYC 312^B

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

^B Requires minimum grade of B.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2, Sophomore 1 or Sophomore 2 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology or Psychology.

PSYC 477 - Developmental Neuroscience

This course explores the biology of behavioral development and the integration of organismic and environmental process that regulate the development of the brain and behavior. Topics will include phases of ontogeny including prenatal, perinatal, early childhood, adolescent, adult and aging brain development, sensitive and critical periods, the role of environment, genetics and child-parent interactions on brain development and implications of neuroscience research on assessment and intervention.

Prerequisites: PSYC 276^C and (PSYC 325^C and PSYC 326^C) or (PSYC 231^C and PSYC 232^C) and (PSYC 344^C or PSYC 244^C) and PSYC 311^B

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

^B Requires minimum grade of B.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2, Sophomore 1 or Sophomore 2 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology or Psychology.

PSYC 480 - Behavior Management

Principles, methods and ethics of behavior management in community, industrial and/or congregate facilities.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and PSYC 303^D

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

PSYC 485 - Seminar in Professional Psychology

This course integrates knowledge and skills acquired through the psychology curriculum and during the Field Placement Internship in Psychology with didactic experiences that facilitate learning and synthesis of information. Students will refine professional skills and career goals, apply psychological knowledge to various consumer populations, and build applied skills in the field.

Prerequisites: PSYC 105^C and PSYC 231^C and PSYC 232^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Corequisite(s): PSYC 450

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2, Sophomore 1 or Sophomore 2 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Psychology, Psychology or Psychology.

Enrollment limited to students with the SPECIAL APPROVAL attribute.

PSYC 490 - Independent Study

Propose and complete a supervised project, either historical, theoretical or experimental. Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 495 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

PSYC 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Recreational Therapy (RCTH)

RCTH 120 - Disability, Community Inclusion, and Diversity

This course is designed to introduce the student to inclusive leisure services. The course reviews attitudes regarding people with disabilities, barriers to inclusion, enabling terminology, and legislative initiatives, which promote inclusion. The ADA will be highlighted along with information on various disabling conditions. The goal of this course is to facilitate an increased awareness of people with disabilities and considerations for providing inclusive services.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course

RCTH 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. This course will set students along the path to becoming engaged with issues and scholarship important to a 21st century education while they learn about themselves and their place in the world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

RCTH 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

RCTH 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

RCTH 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

RCTH 220 - Recreational Therapy Services

Introduces students to the general field of recreational therapy and provides an introduction to various disabilities and how the RT process applies.

Prerequisites: PREE 120^D or RCTH 120^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

RCTH 232 - Recreational Therapy for People with Physical Disabilities

This course will provide information on various physical disabilities and the potential application of Recreational Therapy services with individuals with physical disabilities. The incidence, prevalence, etiology and treatment for each disability will be presented along with implications for RT practice.

Prerequisites: PREE 120^D or RCTH 120^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

RCTH 233 - Recreational Therapy for People with Psychosocial and Mental Disorders

This course will provide information on various mental health impairments and addictive and social disorders. The incidence, prevalence, etiology and treatment for each condition will be presented along with implications for Recreational Therapy practice.

Prerequisites: PREE 120^D or RCTH 120^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

RCTH 252 - Equine Assisted Activities and Therapies

An introduction to equine assisted activities including basic safety skills, lesson preparation, benefits for individuals with disabilities, tack/equine selection, and certification procedures. Students will gain practical experience through riding horses and assisting individuals with disabilities during lessons.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

RCTH 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

RCTH 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

RCTH 305 - Animal-Assisted Therapy for Diverse Populations & Settings

This course is designed to provide students with an overview of the various populations that can potentially benefit from Animal-Assisted Interventions (AAI) and Animal-Assisted Therapy (AAT). The focus will be on how these potential benefits of AAT can be incorporated into various settings of service. Students will learn the different approaches to using animals as a partner in facilitating therapeutic outcomes. Students will be exposed to research evidence that supports AAT with populations generally served by health and human services areas. The design of program/treatment plans to facilitate outcomes will be incorporated into the course as well as practical application of AAT.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Animal-Assisted Interventions.

RCTH 314 - Clinical Aspects of Recreational Therapy

This course provides a more in-depth look at Recreational Therapy including professional standards of practice, health care accreditation, documentation methods and application of activity analysis in treatment planning. Lab experiences are incorporated into the course.

Prerequisites: PREE 220^D or RCTH 220^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

RCTH 316 - Applied Research and Evidenced-Based Practice

Applied Research and Evidenced-Based Practice will focus on reading research from various methodologies (randomized control trial, experimental, quasi-experimental, single case design, qualitative) to help students become educated consumers of research. Students will gain an understanding of the factors (grading categories) that determine quality research for health care professionals and learn the process for using research results to design evidenced-based interventions. The course will emphasize health professions' research focused on health outcomes. Students will become educated consumers of research for preparation of evidenced-based intervention. Students will also gain skills in understanding and applying APA guidelines to writing research papers.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

RCTH 317 - Organization and Management of Recreational Therapy Practice

This course is designed to provide recreational therapy (RT) majors with the knowledge and skills required to effectively supervise and manage resources within various health and human service settings. Emphasis is placed on accreditation standards, legislative and regulatory requirements, public relations and marketing, strategic planning and decision making, quality improvement and risk management practices, fiscal planning and budgeting and human resource management.

Prerequisites: PREE 220^C or RCTH 220^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Therapeutic Recreation Serv, Recreational Therapy or Therapeutic Recreation.

RCTH 319 - Client Assessment in Recreational Therapy

This course designed to facilitate the development of student knowledge and skills related to the RT assessment process. The course will expose students to information and activities to enhance understanding of the importance of assessment, the various domains of assessment and the various techniques used in the assessment process. Skills will be developed in the areas of selecting and designing assessments, interviewing clients, observing behaviors and documenting assessment results.

Prerequisites: (PREE 220^D or RCTH 220^D) and (PREE 229^D or PREE 314^D or RCTH 314^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

RCTH 320 - Recreational Therapy Program Design

This course focuses on techniques of recreational therapy program planning including assessment, treatment planning, implementation and evaluation. Students will implement interventions using various leadership strategies to meet the needs of persons with disabilities and disorders and the document results. A lab experience is included in this course.

Prerequisites: (PREE 220^D or RCTH 220^D) and (PREE 229^D or PREE 314^D or RCTH 314^D) and (PREE 319^D or RCTH 319^D)

STAT 124 - Introduction to Survey Methods

Introduction to Survey Methods: A 100 level course that introduces students to aspects of how surveys work. Students learn about the design, and interpretation of survey data. A range of survey strategies (e.g., telephone, face-to-face, mail and internet surveys) within the broader context of a research or evaluation project are introduced. Topics include formulation of research goals, developing an appropriate questionnaire design, protection of human subjects and proper conduct of research, sample size calculation and sample design, survey administration, construction of a survey report including basic data analysis techniques, and presentation of the results of a survey. Class topics are designed to convey practical knowledge of survey design.

Prerequisites: ACSD 110^D or ESAP 110^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

STAT 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. This course will set students along the path to becoming engaged with issues and scholarship important to a 21st century education while they learn about themselves and their place in the world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

STAT 152 - Elementary Statistics I

This is a course about how data inform every aspect of our lives. This course focuses on what data are collected, how they are collected, how they are summarized and interpreted, and how possible error in those data is quantified and understood. In this class, we will learn about ways in which statistics are used by businesses, governmental agencies, researchers, and practitioners to understand our world. Topics covered include descriptive statistics, bivariate and multivariate data, elementary probability, random variables, normal and binomial probability distributions, Central Limit Theorem, confidence intervals, hypothesis testing, and simple linear regression.

Prerequisites: (ACSD 110^C or ESAP 110^C) or minimum score of Y in 'WAIVE ACSD110 W HIGHER MATH'

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

STAT 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

STAT 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

STAT 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

STAT 252 - Introduction to Statistical Modeling

What do we mean when we talk about "statistical modeling"? How can statistical models be used to provide evidence for scientific or social theories? In this course, we begin by reviewing hypothesis testing and learn how hypothesis testing is applied in a wide variety of statistical contexts. We then move on to the workhouse of statistical modeling, linear regression, and learn the complex methods used to determine the validity of regression models. We then touch on analysis of variance models, polynomial regression, and time series. R will be used for data analysis, but no prior knowledge of R is assumed.

Prerequisites: STAT 152^D and ENGL 102^D and (MATH 123^D or MATH 125^D or MATH 225^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

STAT 254 - Nonparametric Statistics

Statistical models in nonparametric settings. Theory and practice using techniques requiring less restrictive assumptions about the distribution of the data. Nonparametric analogues of t- and F-tests in one and two sample settings, ANOVA, regression and correlation will be discussed.

Prerequisites: MATH 125^D and (MATH 153^D or STAT 153^D)

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

STAT 256 - Statistical Computing

Statistical computing considers how data are processed and analyzed, and how statistical models are simulated, in a computational setting. The current landscape of the statistical computing community will be explored, including common statistical software, proprietary versus open-source statistical languages, and how statistical software packages are tailored for specific uses. Computationally intense statistical techniques will be discussed and programmed. At least one proprietary and one open-source statistical computing environment will be learned. Students will learn how to combine the functionality of different statistical packages to create and present a data analysis optimally. Prior experience with computer programming highly recommended.

Prerequisite: STAT 252^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

STAT 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

STAT 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

STAT 298 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

STAT 318 - Statistical Study Design

There are five basic sources of data that can be used for a statistical study: observational data, experimental data, data from a survey or census, simulation data, and found data. In this course, we learn the strengths and weaknesses associated with each study type, exploring the concepts of randomization, representation, causality, weighting, estimation, and variance. Ethical issues associated with statistical studies will also be discussed. A working knowledge of spreadsheet software such as Microsoft Excel is assumed.

Prerequisite: STAT 152^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 325 - Advanced Statistical Methods

Statistics is used in computer algorithms (machine learning) to enhance computer decision-making and prediction capabilities. This course will cover a wide variety of topics in statistical learning methods. Major statistical methods used in machine learning such as linear regression, survival analysis and others will be discussed. Additional topics include unsupervised learning and supervised techniques such as principal component analysis, nearest neighbor, random forest, support vector machines and neural networks. Simulation methods, such as the EM algorithm, Metropolis-Hastings algorithm and the Markov Chain Monte Carlo method will also be discussed.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 350 - Applied Statistics

A calculus-based introduction to probability and statistical applications. Discrete and continuous probability and expected value. Confidence intervals and hypothesis testing for single populations. This course is not open to students who have credit for MATH 352. This course does not count as an upper division elective mathematics course for mathematics majors.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 352 - Mathematical Statistics I

An introduction to the mathematical foundations of probability theory including discrete and continuous probability distributions, random variables, mathematical expectation, moment, and moment generating functions.

Prerequisite: MATH 230^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 353 - Mathematical Statistics II

Functions of random variables, sampling distributions, introduction to mathematical theory of statistical inference, including methods of moments, estimators, maximum likelihood estimators, sufficient statistics, interval estimates, and hypothesis testing.

Prerequisites: MATH 352^D or STAT 352^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 354 - Fundamentals of Loss Models

This course introduces a variety of frequency, severity, and aggregate models that are useful for actuarial applications. This includes analyzing data from applications, determining a suitable model, providing measures of confidence for decisions based on the model and estimating losses. Also, it introduces the mathematical model and the concept of premium rate development for the Property and Casualty insurance policy.

Prerequisite: STAT 352^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Odd

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 355 - Advanced Topics of Loss Models

This course develops advanced topics in actuarial science related to short-term insurance. Topics include severity models, frequency models, aggregate models, coverage modifications, construction and selection of parametric models, credibility, pricing and reserving for short-term insurance coverages.

Prerequisite: STAT 354^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms Even

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 363 - Statistical Learning

The field of statistical learning encompasses the theory and data analytic techniques developed to process and make sense of evolving data challenges arising in the fields of data science and machine learning. This course will cover the theoretical underpinnings of supervised and unsupervised learning techniques, including generalized linear models, classification, dimension reduction, and cluster analysis. R and R-studio will be used for illustrative purposes. A working knowledge of linear algebra and multivariate calculus is assumed. Previous experience using R software package is also assumed.

Prerequisites: (MATH 309^D or MATH 232^D) and MATH 231^D and STAT 252^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 372 - Forecasting & Time Series

An introduction to creating, solving, analyzing and interpreting real-world time-series and forecasting models. Topics include linear, autoregressive, moving average and other forecasting and time-series techniques, transfer functions, multivariate model building, stationary and nonstationary techniques. Applications may include all areas where forecasting is required including transportation, finance, scheduling, networks, and supply chains. Appropriate software tools for analyzing forecasting models including software such as SAS and spreadsheet software will be taught.

Prerequisites: MATH 252^C or STAT 252^C or MATH 350^C or STAT 350^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 373 - Statistical Quality Control

A comprehensive coverage of modern quality control techniques including the design of statistical process control systems, acceptance sampling and process improvement.

Prerequisites: MATH 230^C and (STAT 252^C or STAT 311^C)

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 384 - Fundamentals of Life Contingencies

This course develops actuarial techniques for the valuing of policies which depend on contingent events concerning uncertain lifetimes. The topics to be covered include life and long-term health insurance coverages, annuities, survival models, premium and policy value calculations, and option pricing fundamentals.

Prerequisite: STAT 352^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 385 - Advanced Topics of Life Contingencies

This is a comprehensive course designed to equip actuarial students with the advanced mathematical skills necessary to accurately price and manage complex long-term insurance products like annuities and life insurance policies, focusing on multi-state Markov models, contingent cash flows, and profit testing methodologies, while building upon foundational concepts of actuarial mathematics, probability, and interest theory.

Prerequisites: STAT 384^D or MATH 484^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 390 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 395 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 398 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 490 - Independent Study

Independent Study courses give students the opportunity to pursue research and/or studies that are not part of the university's traditional course offerings. Students work one on one or in small groups with faculty guidance and are typically required to submit a final paper or project as determined by the supervising professor.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 491 - Statistics Seminar

In this seminar, we will explore the history of statistics and the field of statistics today. Students will learn about current topics of interest in the field—technical, ethical, and societal—and will research a current technical topic of interest. This is a capstone course for statistics students.

Credits: 1

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 495 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

STAT 498 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Strategic Communication and Media (COMM)

COMM 110 - Communication Concepts

An overview of basic theories concerning the communication process. Recommended as a basis for major study in the area.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Transfer Thread Completion Course

COMM 115 - Visual Literacy

A cornerstone course that involves the study of visual forms of communication with an emphasis on image-based media (newspaper, magazine, film, television, photography, informational graphics, interactive multimedia, digital games and web-based technologies). Topics include visual interpretation, visual manipulation, visual conventions, the role of visual media in cultural processes, and aesthetic appreciation.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Winter, & Spring

Thematic Thread(s): Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

COMM 120 - Introduction to Digital Photography

This course provides an introduction to the basic concepts of digital photography. Technical and compositional elements for the creation of quality digital photography are covered. Focus on this course is on the commercial application of photography for media production.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

COMM 139 - Foundations of Academic Discovery

Foundations of Academic Discovery serves as the entry point to the Rock Integrated Studies Program. With its strong faculty-student interaction, the course promotes intellectual inquiry, critical and creative thinking, and computer skills needed for academic success. Through varied content, the course introduces students to academic discourse and information literacy while exploring topics such as diversity and inclusion and global awareness. This course will set students along the path to becoming engaged with issues and scholarship important to a 21st century education while they learn about themselves and their place in the world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

Enrollment limited to students with a semester level of Freshman 1 or Freshman 2.

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

COMM 170 - Communicology

This course will introduce students to the methods of social science inquiry with an emphasis on how to analyze social trends and propose solutions to social problems facing our world within local, national, and/or global communities. Students will learn about social scientific concepts, theories, and research as they investigate the dynamic processes of understanding and sharing meaning in diverse contexts. (3 credits). No prerequisites.

Credits: 3

Enrollment limited to students with the ROCK STUDIES 2 STUDENT or ROCK STUDIES STUDENT attributes.

COMM 190 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

COMM 195 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

COMM 198 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

COMM 200 - Civil Discourse: Theory & Practice

Theory and practice of promoting shared understanding and the common good through civil discourse as related to the development and presentation of oral messages. Students will be expected to develop an understanding of the principles and practices of public speechmaking that constitute civil discourse, how the First Amendment enables it, its history and role in problem-solving, and the influence of mediated discourse on democracy.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

COMM 201 - Digital Imaging

This course exposes students to the use and manipulation of electronically generated images through hands-on experience with digital cameras and scanners. Market specific imaging software is used to further enhance and manipulate imagery. Course topics include visual aesthetics, composition, image layering, photo-retouching, spatial relationships, compression techniques, digital painting, editing, color adjustment, filtering, image capture and file formatting.

Credits: 3

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Comm-Graphic Design(Art Major), Strategic Communication&Media, Strategic Communication&Media, Strategic Communication&Media or CERT - Global & Intercult Comm.

COMM 204 - Environmental Communication

In this course, students will learn about the theoretical and applied concepts that guide the discipline of environmental communication including rhetoric & discourse, media, public participation, social marketing, collaboration & conflict resolution, risk communication, and pop culture. Students will demonstrate understanding and show application of materials for successful environmental communication in a variety of protected areas and conservation settings.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

COMM 205 - Audio Production

An introduction to the aesthetic and technical production of audio for a variety of media and disciplines. Course topics include principles of hearing, sound, acoustics, and psychoacoustics, field and studio recording techniques, tools and applications for single and multi-track production and editing; and the development of vocal techniques associated with on-air announcing for radio, television and online productions.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment limited to students with department of Comm, Media and Sport Mgmt.

COMM 215 - Small Group Communication

Communication problems and processes in small groups. Topics include role and nature of the small group, communication structure, problem-solving techniques, and leadership.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Transfer Thread Completion Course

COMM 217 - Intercultural Communication

This course is designed to create a greater understanding of communication patterns and breakdowns which occur as members of one culture group interact with those of another culture group. This course will also develop an increased awareness of particular skills and knowledge that can foster more effective intercultural communication.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall, Spring, & Summer

Thematic Thread(s): Citizenship & Social Problems, Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Human Diversity & Well-Being, Institutions & Human Innovations, Transfer Thread Completion Course

COMM 228 - Principles of Creative Advertising

This course introduces students to the history, role and context of advertising and how advertising messages solve communication problems by informing, changing attitudes and motivating behavioral changes among an organization's target audiences. Students will learn fundamentals about the advertising development and execution process, including theory and strategy, copy writing, design and selection of media.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed, Offered Spring Terms Even

COMM 231 - Principles of Integrated Marketing Communication & Public Relations

This course seeks to introduce students to the principles of integrated marketing communication and public relations. Students will examine the strategy and tactics through which professional communicators seek to engage audiences to establish and maintain relationships between a brand/organization and its publics. In doing so, the course addresses audience analysis, audience behavior, brand messaging, strategic planning, data analysis & metrics, message strategies & tactics, digital and social media, ethics and regulation. Assignments engage students in analysis relevant to professional practice.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

COMM 232 - Publication Production

This course will be concerned with the nonverbal aspects of print communication, i.e., areas by which the communication process can be enhanced by the use of pictures, charts, graphs, white space, type faces and sizes, etc. It seeks to make students aware of the fact that print communication does not involve only words.

Credits: 3

COMM 235 - Introduction to Digital Design

Exposes students to the manipulation of digital images and their use in digital publication through hands-on experience with market-specific software. Course topics include visual aesthetics, composition, spatial relationships, type-faces, and file formatting.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

COMM 242 - Media Writing

Basic course in media writing techniques and news writing for print, broadcast, and online media platforms. Students practice and write news stories utilizing standard media editing, organization, style, sourcing, and quotation modes.

Prerequisite: ENGL 102^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

COMM 247 - Photojournalism

Photojournalism upholds the professional standards specific to newspaper photography and the recording of news events visually. Students will be introduced to basic photography skills and required to shoot assignments according to print standards on deadline. The course includes issues related to the specialization of shooting sports, spot news, features and special essays. Technical aspects of digital photography and printing for publication are also reviewed.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Odd

COMM 248 - Interactive Multimedia 1

An introduction to the production of written and media-based content for a variety of web-based applications. Course topics include the use of content management systems, the basics of web design and blog creation, writing for the web, making media for the web, connecting to social media and web analytics.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

COMM 254 - Video Production

An introduction to video production as communication media. Emphasis on the processes and technologies of single-camera production, including: (1) operation of audio and video recording equipment, and (2) development of techniques for composition, lighting, scriptwriting, storyboarding, directing, and editing.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

COMM 256 - Message Preparation

An introduction to message preparation for a variety of media and communication functions, including radio, television, video, podcasts, instructional media, social media, websites, and advertising.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Enrollment is limited to students with a program in Comm-Graphic Design(Art Major), Strategic Communication&Media, Strategic Communication&Media, Strategic Communication&Media or CERT - Global & Intercult Comm.

COMM 257 - Recording and Producing in the Audio Industry

To better comprehend and appreciate the industry, this course will introduce students to the business of audio production and publishing. The course will address the elements of recording contracts, production and recording royalties, producing rights, and copyright laws within the audio industry. Students gain valuable knowledge in the legal and business areas within the recording industry.

Credits: 3

COMM 258 - Interactive Multimedia 2

An introduction to the aesthetic and technical production of basic multimedia content for a variety of applications and disciplines. Course topics include basic aesthetics of multimedia, and introduction to media coding and industry specific applications, and development of graphic, animated, and interactive media assets.

Prerequisites: COMM 235^D or COMM 201^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

COMM 263 - Media and Society

This course offers an exploration of the historical development, structure, and functions of both traditional and emerging media. It examines the role of media in shaping society, culture, and individual behavior. Topics include the economic, legal, and ethical challenges facing media industries, as well as the influence of media on public opinion, identity, and social values in a digital world.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Thematic Thread(s): Cultural Literacy & Community Building, Conservation, Technology & Imagination, Transfer Thread Completion Course, United States in Global Context

COMM 270 - Strategic Health Communication

This course examines strategic communication in the areas of health and the healthcare system, current events and issues in health communication, and the role of media and communication technologies in reaching individuals, communities, and specialized target audiences. Topics such as diversity, crisis communication, and ethics in the context of health communication will be addressed. Students will learn how to apply persuasive strategies and health communication tactics in the development of health communication campaigns.

Credits: 3

COMM 290 - Experimental

A unique and specifically focused course within the general purview of a department which intends to offer it on a "one time only" basis and not as a permanent part of the department's curriculum.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

COMM 295 - Workshop

A workshop is a program which is usually of short duration, narrow in scope, often non-traditional in content and format, and on a timely topic.

Credits: 1-6

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

COMM 298 - Selected Topics

A Selected Topics course is a normal, departmental offering which is directly related to the discipline, but because of its specialized nature, may not be able to be offered on a yearly basis by the department.

Credits: 1-3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered as Needed

COMM 303 - Communication and Media Ethics

This course will apply theories and concepts related to Media and Communication Ethics to critically analyze real-life ethical dilemmas faced by media professionals in a globalized and diverse society. It will address the relationships of ethical principles, ethical dilemmas, and ethical practices within a variety of media professions –advertising, journalism, social media, public relations, and the entertainment industry, especially focusing on case studies with Diversity and Inclusiveness components.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

COMM 305 - Broadcast Journalism

An examination of topics critical to practice of broadcast journalism, including researching, news-gathering techniques, writing, and production skills. The course will also introduce the components of the broadcasting system in America including economics, programming, regulations, and broadcast technologies.

Prerequisites: COMM 242^D or COMM 256^D

^D Requires minimum grade of D.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

Enrollment limited to students with department of Comm, Media and Sport Mgmt.

COMM 307 - Social Media

This course will provide students with a professional approach to using social media tools in their field, examining both the technological and theoretical perspectives of social media through the hands-on application of the technologies.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Fall & Spring Terms

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2, Sophomore 1 or Sophomore 2 may not enroll.

Enrollment limited to students with department of Comm, Media and Sport Mgmt.

COMM 310 - Communication Research Methods

An introduction to the principles, procedures, and tools of research used in the analysis of the communication situation, including consideration of research design and statistical analysis and the identification, control, and measurement of communication variables.

Prerequisite: COMM 110^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Every Term

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

COMM 312 - Argumentation

A study of argumentation as a decision-making process. Course focuses on theories of argument, the roles of advocates and opponents, the nature of argument building, evidence, and reasoning and argument in various contexts.

Prerequisites: COMM 200^C and COMM 110^C

^C Requires minimum grade of C.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

COMM 314 - Interpersonal Communication

This is a theory-based course examining the process of communication in dyadic and group settings. Emphasis is placed upon (1) influences upon communication processes and resulting behavior and content and (2) the development of skills and skill assessment in both settings.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offered Spring Terms Even

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

COMM 315 - Organizational Communication

A study of the communication behavior of persons in organizations. Considers the nature of organizations, communication structures in organizations, and the development of communication training in organizations.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

COMM 317 - Topics in Global and Intercultural Communication

To promote effective communication with diverse audiences in an increasingly globalized world, this course develops theoretical and applied approaches to global and intercultural communication. Through readings, resources, and case studies, students will explore intercultural communication in a variety of global contexts, analyze current global communication issues, and develop the ability to design communication strategies that are specific and adapted to an audience's historical and cultural milieu.

Credits: 3

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

COMM 318 - Professional Presentation

Principles and applications of communication techniques and media for presentations and processes common to professional settings.

Credits: 3

Term(s) Typically Offered: Offerings Vary

Students with a semester level of Freshman 1, Freshman 2 or Sophomore 1 may not enroll.

COMM 332 - Case Studies in Public Relations and Integrated Communication

This advanced course seeks to develop critical thinking skills through the examination of audience-centered case studies. Students examine how professionals in public relations and integrated communication develop objectives that translate into communication campaigns, illustrating theoretical applications in real-life situations. The development of analytical skills, ethical guidelines, and issues of diversity in communication practice are emphasized.

Prerequisite: COMM 231^D

Theatre (THEA)

THEA 130 - Art of Theatre

This course will use elements of theatre - acting, playwriting, directing, producing, design and technology – to illustrate how the arts connect to the culture and community in which they exist. Historical trends and the role of the arts in society will be a focus. This course is designed to guide students toward a lifelong curiosity about the arts. A lecture course; no performance skills required. Studying and experiencing the arts, including dance, music, theatre, and the visual arts, develops creative and aesthetic abilities. The arts introduce students not only to artists and their creations, but also to history, cultures, values, technique, imagination, creativity, and issues relevant to society. Students will gain an understanding of the creative process and how to analyze and interpret message and meaning in works of art. While the arts can bring us pleasure, they can also serve to enlighten and illuminate critical issues, lead to personal discoveries, and foster innovation in all fields. Students will learn to think critically about the arts, develop an appreciation for artistic creations, and by viewing live performances and exhibitions, become engaged audience members. Arts inquiry courses use and develop the analytic and interpretive modes of inquiry needed to understand and explore both tangible and abstract artistic works and the cultures in which they exist. In arts inquiry courses, students confront a variety of cultural and artistic expressions in order to gain an understanding of the human condition, and ultimately express their relationship to artistic work, meaning, and the creative process. Attendance at arts events will be required during this course and may require a fee.

The University

The University

Slippery Rock University of Pennsylvania, one of 10 state-owned institutions that comprise Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education, has a long tradition of providing quality education to students. Started in 1889 as a teacher education institution, the university developed into a multi-purpose institution with approximately 8,500 students and with approximately 135 programs in the College of Business, College of Education, College of Engineering and Science, College of Health Professions and College of Liberal Arts.

Our Vision

Slippery Rock University will excel as an accessible, inclusive and engaging community, centered on student learning, positively shaping the future of the region, through the lives of our graduates.

Our Mission

Slippery Rock University offers accessible and affordable, broad-based education, through scholarly and creative endeavors, and empowering community-engagement. Educating learners at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, Slippery Rock University fosters an environment of belonging, while ensuring the economic mobility of our graduates. The university is committed to enhancing the quality of life of our learners and our region.

Our Core Values

Slippery Rock University pursues its vision and accomplishes its mission through the following set of shared values:

- Community and Belonging - We champion diversity, support divergent ways of thinking, and offer an inclusive experience so that our students, faculty, staff, and alumni consider SRU their 'extended family'.
- Student-Centered - We develop strong connections with our learners and support the development of the whole person.
- Engagement - We explore and create multiple ways of learning, including community, global, and workplace engagement.
- Transformation - We offer an intentional collection of curricular and co-curricular programs, and experiences designed to foster student learning and growth.

- Civic-Mindedness - We encourage students, faculty, and staff to be civically aware and socially responsible.
- Collaboration - We promote and expect collegiality, resourcefulness, civil discourse, and solution-driven thinking.
- Focus on the Future - We embrace the university's role in contributing to the prosperity of the region and the upward mobility of our graduates.
- Stewardship - We make all decisions in the light of our obligation to be responsible stewards of public funds.

Student Success

We value students as the center of all that we do and support a climate that celebrates each person's success. We believe that, as a public regional university, our role is to transform our students to enable them to be economically and socially mobile.

Excellence

We value excellence in teaching, research, scholarship, creative endeavors, student services and in all aspects of the University's operations to ensure institutional effectiveness and efficiency. We value excellent curricula and co-curricular experiences, together with high expectations of our students, in order to stimulate student success.

Intellectual Freedom, Integrity and Free Expression

We value and uphold the right of all in our academic community to speak and write freely. We expect all who study, teach and work within the University to uphold the highest ideals of scholarly responsibility. We value honesty, integrity, fairness, and respect in creating, debating and disseminating intellectual and creative works. As such, we believe that all perspectives deserve fair scrutiny in the marketplace of ideas in a civil, fair and thoughtful manner.

Innovation

We value the discovery and application of knowledge in teaching and learning and in developing innovative systems. We believe in offering educational programs that anticipate future needs, teach state-of-the-art competencies and use modern evidence-based pedagogies. We strive to promote and adopt productive cutting-edge curriculum, technology, structures and processes throughout the enterprise.

Diversity, Inclusion and Equity

We value a diverse campus community that enriches our students' intellectual and social growth. We strive to build and support a community that fully reflects the rich diversity of the commonwealth. We welcome all qualified individuals to SRU and will work to ensure that our enrollment, employment and advancement processes are open, unhindered and free of barriers. We seek an inclusive campus and equitable outcomes for students and employees alike. More information available here (<https://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/diversity-equity-and-inclusion/>).

Openness, Shared Governance and Accountability (Combines Two Concepts)

We value shared decision making and promote a campus culture in which information is widely shared, broad participation is encouraged, decision making processes are clear and feedback is valued. We uphold our commitments to shared governance. We value transparency of information and process, collaboration in resolving significant issues of mutual interest and ethical decision-making. We will be publicly accountable for the quality of our work and will seek to steward University resources effectively.

Social Responsibility

We value the importance of fostering citizenship to promote the public good, environmental sustainability, global understanding and informed civic engagement. We will leverage our intellectual and financial resources in order to educate our students and the public about sustainability, global awareness and civic responsibility and operate the University as sustainably as possible.

Institutional Assessment

Assessment is the process through which effective learning is planned and measured by relating degree program goals to actual student performance. We do assessment to improve student learning. The Assessment Core Committee of Slippery Rock University has been working since 1998 to help the University community develop effective assessment processes. The web site reflects the collective efforts of both academic and student life programs to articulate student-learning outcomes and to devise appropriate and effective means of measuring student achievement.

More information on assessment can be found at here (<https://www.sru.edu/offices/academic-affairs/assessment/>).

Location

Slippery Rock University's campus is located in Slippery Rock, a borough in northern Butler County, Pennsylvania, that is a safe and friendly community of approximately 3,500 residents. SRU is less than an hour's drive north of Pittsburgh, one hour south of Erie and 45 minutes east of Youngstown, Ohio. Two major interstate highways, I-79 and I-80, intersect seven miles from the University, making the campus easily accessible.

Students

Three quarters of SRU's more than 8,800 students are from western Pennsylvania, including the largest number of students hailing from Pittsburgh and other cities in Allegheny County. Another 13% of students come from central and eastern Pennsylvania. The remaining 11% are out-of-state students, as students from 43 states and 30 countries are represented among the student population.

Faculty

The approximately 453 full- and part-time faculty members at SRU are teachers, scholars and contributors to the University and community. The typical faculty member teaches four undergraduate courses each semester, engages in scholarly research and creative endeavors and serves in a variety of decision-making roles. Of the current full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty, 48% are male and 52% are female and 19% are members of minority racial and ethnic groups. In addition, 91% of all full-time faculty are tenured or occupy tenure-track positions, and 94% of full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty have earned a doctoral or other terminal degree.

Campus

SRU's gorgeous 660-acre campus is located in the rolling countryside of western Pennsylvania. More than 30 major buildings and 64 total facilities, which blend traditional and modern architecture, contributes to an optimal living and learning environment.

Bailey Library supports the University's mission by developing collections and services that make the library integral to the learning process, both within and beyond the classroom. SRU has completed a multiphased renovation of the library to better serve the needs of the 21st century student. Services and resources include, but are not limited to, personal librarians; holdings which include print and electronic books, government documents, print and electronic journals, newspapers, DVDs, audio books, archival records and special collections; group and individual learning spaces for scholarly work and recreational reading; interlibrary loan and document delivery services; the Technology Learning Center; the Instructional Materials Center; and University Archives and Special Collections Room.

Other facilities include Swope Music Hall, designed as both a performing and learning center; Vincent Science Center, with laboratories, classrooms and a greenhouse; and Morrow Field House, an instructional and recreational facility that houses a gymnasium, swimming pool, handball court, dance studio, tennis court and track. McKay Education, Spotts World Cultures and Eisenberg Classroom buildings are examples of standard educational facilities that have small and large classrooms, auditoria and other specialized classrooms.

Buildings erected since 2001 include the School of Physical Therapy Building and the Advanced Technology and Science Hall, which houses the Computer Science; Chemistry; and Geography, Geology and the Environment departments. Recent renovations include the Strain Safety Building, which underwent a $6.5-million upgrade in 2018 and the Performing Arts Complex which underwent a $29.2-million renovation and reopened in 2021. The University opened the Harrisville Building in 2016 in nearby Harrisville, Pennsylvania, to house the physician assistant and occupational therapy programs.

Students reside in eight on-campus residence halls: six newer buildings housing students on the lower end of campus and two traditional halls located on the upper end of campus. Additionally, upperclass students can reside at the ROCK Apartments, an eight-building complex with 188 beds. Privately owned residence halls, apartments and other types of living accommodations are available off-campus.

There are two dining halls, Boozel and Weisenfluh, as well as dining options including Starbucks and Quaker Steak and Lube inside the 107,000-square-foot Smith Student Center. That building also houses a ballroom, theater, book store, conference rooms, a bank branch and other offices and amenities.

Admission

Students are admitted to Slippery Rock University of Pennsylvania for the fall semester, winter term, spring semester, or a summer term. The university calendar should be consulted for specific starting dates. Applicants are considered for admission on a rolling basis. Criteria and deadlines used to determine admission to the university are defined by an applicant's admission category. Admission to the university may be subject to space availability and criteria used for admission to the university are subject to change.

- First-year Applicants (p. 1152)
- Transfer Students (p. 1153)
- Post-Baccalaureate Students (p. 1153)
- Non-Degree Student Admission (p. 1153)
- Transient Students (p. 1154)
- Visiting Students (p. 1154)
- Faxed Transcripts/Documents (p. 1154)
- Student Right-to-Know and the Clery Act (p. 1154)
- International Students (p. 1155)

First-Year Applicants

First-Year Applicants

Any high school graduate (or anyone who will be a high school graduate prior to attendance) or anyone who has passed the General Educational Development test (GED) who has not yet enrolled at a college, university, or other post secondary educational institution and intends to enroll at Slippery Rock University to pursue a degree granting program shall apply for admission as a new first-year student. Students who enroll in dual-enrollment college credit programs prior to high school graduation are still considered new first-year students.

Admission Guidelines for New First-Year Students

New first-year students are admitted to Slippery Rock University on a rolling basis for all terms. Admission criteria used to evaluate an applicant usually include the student's previous academic record. Slippery Rock University adopted a test-optional admissions policy for new students entering Fall 2021 and beyond. Admission guidelines are based upon the academic profiles of previously successful students. First-time, full-time students (new first-year students) who succeed most often at Slippery Rock possess a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale in high school at the time of admission. Other students who apply may be asked to supply additional information and may be considered for admission on an individual basis using a Waitlist process. Additional admission criteria for applicants on the Waitlist may include: high school course rigor, grade trends, grades in core college preparatory courses and class rank (if available). Waitlisted applicants are offered admission on a rolling, space available basis and applicants closest to the academic guidelines are offered admission most frequently.

Slippery Rock University recommends that entering first-year students complete a college preparatory curriculum in high school consisting of four years of English; three years of social studies (with a fourth year recommended); three years of science with two years laboratory science; three years of mathematics (with a fourth year recommended, including algebra one, algebra two and geometry). Two years of a foreign language in the same language is preferred but not required.

How to Apply for Admission as a New First-Year Student

Applicants need to supply the following credentials to apply for admission:

- A completed Application for Admission (admission applications are available through the Office of Undergraduate Admissions and via the web at www.sru.edu (<http://www.sru.edu>))
- A $ 30.00 application fee (non-refundable) or fee waiver documentation
- Official high school transcripts or GED, and senior year (12th Grade) class schedule if enrolled in high school

Official transcripts are those that either 1) are sent directly from the school to Slippery Rock University's Office of Undergraduate Admissions, or 2) are delivered to Slippery Rock University's Office of Undergraduate Admissions in a sealed envelope from the school. No other transcripts will be considered official. Transcripts should reflect all grades up through the end of the junior year (six completed semesters). Final official high school transcripts documenting graduation from high school will be required upon graduation prior to the start of the initial semester of enrollment. Failure to document high school graduation will result in the revocation of admission.

Slippery Rock University recommends that official transcripts include a student's complete curricular and grading history, semester and cumulative grade/quality point averages (both weighted and un-weighted if weighting is practiced), and class rank if calculated. If the high school uses a percentage grading scale, any conversion guide to a 4.0 scale is also recommended. Home schooled students should supply transcripts of home school curriculum as well as any previous high school transcripts if applicable.

If an applicant is submitting a GED rather than a high school diploma, the GED documentation must be a copy of the diploma and include the official test results.

Credentials should be directed to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions at Slippery Rock University. Once all credentials are received, Slippery Rock University admits new first-year students on a rolling basis for all terms. Applicants who are offered admission must reply to Slippery Rock University to accept their offers of admission, along with submitting a required enrollment deposit, before they are considered matriculated. Admission offers not acted upon by making an enrollment deposit, are subject to rescission after May 1 of the students senior year of high school. New first-year students seeking admission for the fall semester are encouraged to apply early in the preceding fall prior to enrollment.

First-year admission is valid for the term it is offered, or any subsequent term for not later than one academic year, as long as a student does not enroll in college courses at another college/university. Students who enroll in college courses elsewhere must reapply for admission as a transfer student for the semester they wish to enroll in. Students wishing to defer admission should contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions.

First-Year Residence Requirement

All new first-year students are required to live on campus. First-year students living with their parents or legal guardian within a reasonable commuting distance may request a release from this requirement in order to commute from home. The Residence Life Housing Appeals Board will review all written requests for this exception.

Transfer Students

TRANSFER POLICIES AND CREDIT EVALUATION

To learn more about the transfer process at SRU, please visit the Transfer Admissions Website (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/transfer-and-military-admissions/transfer-credit-evaluation/>).

Post-Baccalaureate Students

Students who have earned a baccalaureate or higher degree from an approved institution may qualify for admission to earn additional undergraduate credit beyond their degree (see same title in College of Education).

Students interested in post-baccalaureate study may take course work for self-enrichment, may earn a second degree, a letter of completion or an academic certificate. Students pursuing an additional degree must earn a minimum of 30 credits at SRU beyond their first baccalaureate degree and meet all department requirements for the degree.

Post-baccalaureate students may not enroll at SRU to add a second major, minor, or other academic credentials to their undergraduate degree without meeting all requirements for a second degree.

Post-baccalaureate students interested in learning more about curriculum and degree requirements should contact the related academic department at the university. Questions regarding the actual application process should be directed to Transfer Admissions.

Admission Guidelines for Post-Baccalaureate Students Seeking a Second Degree or Teacher Certification

A baccalaureate degree awarded from a regionally accredited institution of higher education is required. Certain programs, such as teacher certification and nursing programs, may require applicants to meet additional or more stringent admission criteria, including minimum Grade Point Average requirements. Interested applicants should contact those college or department offices for admission guideline information prior to applying for admission. Post-Baccalaureate students seeking to earn a second degree and/or teacher certification may be eligible for financial aid, and should contact the Financial Aid Office for further information.

How to Apply for Admission as a Post Baccalaureate Student Seeking a Second Degree or Teacher Certification

The application process for the various categories of post-baccalaureate study varies. For additional information regarding the appropriate application process, refer to the Post-Baccalaureate Students link (<http://www.sru.edu/admissions/other-admissions/post-baccalaureate-students/>) on the admission page.

Non-Degree Student Admission

A non-degree student is a student who does not possess a baccalaureate degree and wishes to enroll for undergraduate level credit coursework at Slippery Rock University for enrichment and does not intend to use the course work toward a degree program at an institution of higher education. Non-degree admission is valid for one semester at a time.

Students who wish to enroll as non-degree students may reapply for admission for subsequent terms until a maximum of 30 semester hours have been completed, at which time further enrollment is precluded in the non-degree status. Non-degree students are not eligible for financial aid.

Admission Guidelines for Non-Degree Student Admission

A non-degree student must be a high school graduate or have a GED to enroll. Non-degree student applicants sign a statement on the application for admission to that extent and have one semester of attendance to supply proof of high school graduation (generally either a high school transcript or GED). The Slippery Rock University Fast Track Program also offers admission as non-degree students to qualified high school students seeking to enroll at the University prior to high school graduation. Students interested in the Fast Track program should contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions directly for more information.

How to apply for Admission as a Non-Degree Student

Applicants need to supply the following credentials to apply for admission:

- A completed Non-Degree Application for Admission
- Non-Degree student applicants do not pay an application fee
- Unofficial high school transcripts with a graduation date posted (or GED) are required during the term of enrollment. Other credentials may be appropriate for special Slippery Rock University programs. Other transcripts may be required to meet specific course prerequisites.

Non-degree students must enroll and make payment by registration and fee payment deadlines as published in the class schedule for the term in which they wish to enroll.

Transient Students

Any current undergraduate student from another regionally accredited institution of higher education who wishes to enroll for one semester at Slippery Rock University for credit course work while pursuing a degree program at their home college or university may apply for admission as a transient student. Transient students enroll for one term at Slippery Rock with the intent of returning to their home institution to pursue their degree. Only credits, not grades, return to the home institution. If you are attending one of the PASSHE institutions, and wish to transfer grades and credits back to the home institution, you should apply as Visiting Student status.

How to Apply for Admission as a Transient Student

To apply for Transient Student admission, complete the online application and submit a copy (unofficial or official) of the transcript from the most recently attended college or university to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions; no application fee required.

Transient students must enroll and make payment by registration and fee payment deadlines as published in the Class Schedule for the term in which they wish to enroll.

Transient students are admitted through the Office of Undergraduate Admissions for all enrollment terms.

Visiting Students

Any current undergraduate student from one of the other 9 member universities of the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education who wishes to enroll for one semester at Slippery Rock University for credit course work while pursuing a degree program at their home college or university may apply for admission as a visiting student rather than a transient student. Visiting students enroll for one semester at Slippery Rock University with the intent of returning to their home institution to pursue their degree. Eligible students should contact the registrar or academic records office at their home institution to review visiting student grading policies prior to enrolling as a visiting student at Slippery Rock.

How to Apply for Admission as a Visiting Student

Applicants need to supply the following credentials to apply for admission:

- A completed Visiting Student Application (<https://www.sru.edu/Documents/academics/academic-services/academic-records/Visiting%20Student%20Application.pdf?1481048695656>) for Admission

Visiting students must enroll and make payment by registration and fee payment deadlines as published in the Class Schedule for the term in which they wish to enroll.

Visiting students are admitted and processed through the Office of Academic Records and Registration.

Faxed Transcripts/Documents

Transcripts and documents faxed to Slippery Rock University on behalf of students may be used unofficially for the purpose of initial review or for use with non-degree seeking student applicants. No final decision will be made pertaining to acceptance to the university or acceptance of transfer credit until the university receives the official transcripts. Faxed copies of GED certificates and Green Cards are acceptable.

Note: All credentials submitted to Slippery Rock University become the property of Slippery Rock University and will not be returned to the student or forwarded to third parties.

Financial Aid and Scholarships

Office: Campus Success Center

Phone: 724-738-2044

Email: financial.aid@sru.edu

The Office of Financial Aid is responsible for the coordination of sources of financial assistance for undergraduate and graduate students at Slippery Rock University. The majority of financial aid offered through the Office of Financial Aid is based on the overall financial need of applicants. State, federal and institutional financial aid sources are coordinated through this office. The Office of Financial Aid also provides information about scholarship opportunities. A detailed listing of aid programs is available at The Office of Financial Aid (<http://www.sru.edu/admissions/financial-aid/>).

Tuition, Fees, & Financial Policies

The Office of Student Accounts is responsible for tuition assessment, invoicing of charges, accepting payments, disbursing aid released from Financial Aid, and collections management.

Information on tuition and fees may be found online at the Office of Student Accounts.

By accepting admission to Slippery Rock University, the student agrees to pay the fees and charges assessed by the university. Tuition, fees and other charges are subject to change at any time. Students cannot enroll in classes, receive transcripts of coursework taken while at the university, or graduate from the university unless all fees are paid. Past due account balances are submitted to the Attorney General's office for collection. If any account is submitted to a collection agency to assist in collecting the account, the student is responsible for any/all collection costs associated with this account. Payment of fees can be made in a variety of ways either in full or through installment payment plans (fee involved).

Details regarding the student's acknowledgement of responsibility and terms and conditions are available in the Financial Terms and Conditions Agreement (<https://www.sru.edu/documents/offices/accounting-services/student-accounts/StudentTermsandConditions.pdf>).

The Office of Career Education and Development encourages a four-year career development continuum so that students are developing professionally in their employment documents, their transferable skills, and their work related learning experiences, while they develop academically in the classroom. Ultimately, career staff members engage students in building their level of professionalism and self-knowledge, guiding them on a pathway to a meaningful and joy filled career. Basic services include major and career exploration, resumes, cover letters, interview preparation, graduate school applications, and professional network development. Extended support is available on topics such as personal budgets, understanding benefits, negotiating salary, relocating to a new area and understanding employment contracts. The career office also oversees the McKay Testing Center, a computer-based testing center which administers exams such as Praxis, MAT, and the GRE Subject tests. The career office provides access for all students to the Handshake career management system. Through Handshake students can schedule career appointments, register for the many job fairs and learning events led by the career team, search for full time jobs and internships, and search for on-campus jobs (which are managed by the Office of Payroll and Student Employment). The Office of Career Education and Development Website (<http://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/career-education-and-development/>) provides more details about services and staff.

The Office of Disability Services provides accommodations and services to ensure equal access to education as intended by Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) for students with disabilities including but not limited to learning, physical, hearing, vision or psychological disabilities. At Slippery Rock University we want all students to achieve academic success and are interested in making every effort to accommodate and serve students with disabilities. To be eligible for services, appropriate documentation must be provided. Documentation may include medical diagnosis, psychological evaluations, etc. Upon acceptance to Slippery Rock, students with disabilities are encouraged to make an appointment with the Director to schedule a personal interview. Also, students wishing to receive accommodations can start by filling out the public request link at:

Dining Services

The dining program at Slippery Rock University offers a variety of services throughout the campus for students and their guests. Food service is available at locations on campus from 7:00 a.m. to 1:00 a.m. (Sunday through Thursday) and 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. (Friday and Saturday).

Weisenfluh Hall, located across from the North Hall parking lot, features The Restaurants at Weisenfluh, developed to offer the campus community and guests an innovative dining experience. Butter & Honey and Crafted by Commonplace feature a variety of pastries, sandwiches, specialty coffee drinks and smoothies. Burgers + Fries offers gourmet burgers, chicken tenders and other grill favorites. Wild Blue offers Asian cuisine and sushi. We also feature Clean Plate which offers a variety of delicious and nutritious options that are allergen friendly. Dine in or purchase food to go. The facility provides lounge and table seating, wireless environment, student gathering spaces, and meeting rooms.

Boozel Dining Hall, located on the lower end of campus, provides a variety of menu options in a restaurant-style atmosphere. Food stations with open kitchens offer made-to-order items along with home-style and international entrees, vegan/vegetarian and healthy choice options, deli and grille sandwiches, pizza and pasta, soup/salad, and a variety of desserts and beverages. True Balance provides daily menu features that avoid top allergens. This all-you-care-to-eat facility also features special events and holiday celebrations throughout the year. Boozel Express, located in the lobby of Boozel Dining Hall, offers quick-serve take-out options.

Robert M. Smith Student Center, located on lower campus, houses the following food service operations:

- Starbucks - a full-service store featuring breakfast items, pastries, sandwiches, Starbucks full beverage line, and merchandise.
- Rocky's - a food court offering Mexican cuisine, pizza/pasta, wraps, chopped salads, hoagies, and grab-n-go items.
- Quaker Steak & Lube - Western PA regional favorite, featuring their signature wings, burgers, and appetizers.

Starbucks We Proudly Serve, a coffee shop located in Bailey Library, features a selection of Starbucks beverages and various pastries and grab-n-go items. A walk-up window provides quick service for those students hurrying through the quad.

There are a number of meal plan options available to Slippery Rock University students. Students residing on-campus in either the traditional halls or residential suites are required to participate in the meal plan program with one of the designated on-campus meal plans. We also offer a variety of optional meal plans for off-campus and commuter students such as Rock Apartment residents.

If a student is ever in need of any dietary assistance or allergen advice, please reach out to our General Manager, Lisa Rodgers, rodders-lisa@aramark.com and she can put you in touch with our Registered Dietitian.

ACADEMICS SUPPORT RESOURCES TUTORIAL CENTER

Slippery Rock University's Tutorial Center provides undergraduate students with academic support through free peer individual and group tutoring services. Tutoring is offered for most Rock Studies Program courses. Tutorial services at Slippery Rock University are personalized and tailored to individuals' academic needs.

Tutoring services also include the proactive Supplemental Instruction (SI) model for academic assistance. Students hired as leaders attend assigned classes and work closely with enrolled students to assist with course content. Leaders facilitate group-tutoring sessions emphasizing cooperative learning activities.

Individual tutoring sessions for students are scheduled by appointment or on a drop-in basis, whereas group and SI sessions are scheduled to accommodate the greatest number of interested students.

ADVISEMENT RESOURCES

ACADEMIC ADVISEMENT

Academic Advisement is perhaps the most important faculty/student relationship outside the classroom. The University's academic advisement system is comprised of two primary organizational structures that include First Year Studies advisement and upper-class student/transfer student advisement.

ADVISEMENT DEVELOPMENT

Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress is responsible for developing adviser and student advising resources, conducting adviser training and first year student advising informational workshops, and maintaining its involvement in retention-related and first-year research activities.

FIRST YEAR STUDIES (FYRST) ADVISEMENT

The mission of the first-year student experience is to provide personalized support by ensuring that every student receives a high standard of academic advisement services from pre-enrollment to orientation, and throughout the student's first year.

During the student's enrollment in FYRST seminar, he/she should develop a more thorough understanding of his/her own purpose and goals in college as well as those of the university. If a new freshman has declared a major, advisement will be provided by a faculty member selected from the major department. If no major has been declared, the student will be actively involved in the Exploratory Program and advised by a selected faculty member who has volunteered to work with students. First-year student academic progression will be assisted by the faculty adviser; however, it is the student's responsibility to see that he/she meets all requirements of the degree granting college so that upon completion of the first year of study, the student has attained the minimum number of credits, the specified courses and the minimum grade point average required by the major department.

UPPER-CLASS STUDENT/TRANSFER STUDENT ADVISEMENT

If an upper-class student has declared a major, they will receive advisement from a faculty member in their major department. If an upper-class student has not declared a major, they will receive advisement from an Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress faculty member, who will help them in their academic progression toward fulfilling their degree requirements and will assist them in declaring an academic major.

Upon entrance into the university, new transfer students are assigned academic advisers from their major program.

EXPLORATORY (UNDECLARED) PROGRAM

Incoming first-year and transfer students who are undeclared will participate in the Exploratory Studies Program. These students are advised by faculty members in the Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress Department as part of this program.

The Exploratory Studies Program includes engaging activities and support, such as:

- College Success Workshops
- Majors & Minors Exposition
- Designing Your Life and Major Exploration with Career Education and Development
- Developmental Advisement
- Assistance with Transition to New Major

FRESHMAN SEMINAR (FYRST SEMINAR)

The FYRST Seminar is a one-credit hour course designed especially and exclusively to assist the first-year student with adjusting to college life at Slippery Rock University. This course provides, you, the student, with an opportunity to become integrated into the university's community of learners by exploring the purpose and value of higher education, addressing academic, personal and social transition issues, utilizing campus resources, refining academic skills and learning strategies, developing academic and career goals, and implementing strategies for maintaining personal wellness and overcoming barriers to success.

LEARNING COMMUNITY CLUSTERS

The university implemented a learning community cluster program which includes a freshman seminar for the purpose of improving students' academic and social integration and establishing an educational environment that maximizes both student-student interaction, student-faculty and student-professional staff interaction. The transition to university life can be challenging and even stressful. The academic and social advantages provided by joining a learning community cluster and freshman seminar initiative can help reduce that stress. By enrolling in the same classes, students are encouraged to meet new people, make friends easily, form study groups, participate in class discussions, and become engaged with their professors.

Research has shown that the more students connect to the university, the more successful they are in their college experience. Our research shows that by enhancing a student's sense of community and involvement, the freshman seminar and learning community clusters contribute to higher retention rates. Because both freshman seminars and learning communities promote active learning and foster collaboration and cooperation, students who participate are higher achievers and more involved in their classes.

Global Engagement

Office for Global Engagement (<http://www.sru.edu/offices/global-engagement-office-for/>)

Vision

The vision for Global Engagement at Slippery Rock University is a community of students, faculty, staff, and alumni who see beyond national borders and cultural differences, embrace the rich diversity of the world for educational and personal growth, and contribute to the greater good of our global society.

International Student Services

In recognition of the unique needs of students who are not US citizens/permanent residents, the Office for Global Engagement coordinates the recruitment, admission, and support services for international students such as orientation to the United States and Slippery Rock University; immigration and legal matters (documentation for visas, passport renewal, extensions of stay, travel and reentry, work permits, etc.); support for the International Club; course registration; cultural/academic/personal adjustment; and community liaison. Research and scholarship are central features of any academic environment. At Slippery Rock University, faculty and students are active in a wide range of internally and externally funded projects that support the research, teaching and public service missions of the university. The Office of Grants, Research and Sponsored Programs (GRASP) is responsible for assisting faculty in the acquisition of external funding for scholarship, research, and other projects; representing the university in pre-award and award transactions with funding sponsors; acting as a liaison between project directors, sponsors, administration, and external groups; and assisting with post-award administration of grants and contracts to assure compliance with federal, state, and university directives. The office also provides the administrative oversight to the Institutional Review Board (IRB) for ethical implementation of research projects involving human subjects and the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) to ensure that the animal housing, care, and use in research labs meets federal standards and guidelines.

Under the auspices of the Office of Grants, Research and Sponsored Program, the annual Symposium for Student Research, Scholarship and Creative Activity is held during the spring semester. This day-long event enables students to present their research and scholarship, creative performances and art works to the campus community.

Housing and Residence Life

The philosophy of university residence halls at Slippery Rock University is educational and intended for student development that maintains that residence halls are not merely places to eat and sleep, but rather, communities in which students grow and develop. This development occurs in out-of-class learning experiences through participation in various activities assisting development at a personal, social and academic level. To achieve these objectives, the Housing and Residence Life staff offer opportunities to meet a wide variety of needs. Full-time professional staff members known as Assistant Directors/Associate Directors of Residence Life supervise the on-campus residence halls, with the Assistance of professional Area Coordinators. Each residence hall floor section has a Community Assistant assigned to provide educational and social programs to assist in the operation of the facility, offer support for the residents, and be available for emergency purposes. There are eight university-managed residence halls and one apartment complex, housing approximately 2,800 students. Six of the eight residence halls offer suite style housing with a variety of room styles. Each of the residential suite units provide in room bathroom facilities for the residents of that unit. The remaining two halls are traditional style with double rooms and communal restroom facilities. All SRU residence hall and apartments are air-conditioned.

Residence hall rooms and apartments are furnished with beds, chairs, desks, and window covers (shades). The beds are supplied with a mattress only. Students furnish their own blankets, pillows, towels, bedspreads, dresser covers, pillowcases, and sheets. Students may bring their own drapes and other accessories to personalize their living environment. Self-service laundries are available in each apartment building and residence hall. Lounges and recreation areas are available in each hall. A refrigerator and microwave are provided in each of the residential suite style units (Building A-F; Rock Apartments). Common kitchens equipped with microwaves and oven is available in each of the residence halls for students to prepare snacks.

Housing and Residence Life is responsible for housing students who select to live in a university-owned residence hall. All freshmen and sophomores, except those who verify they live with their parents or legal guardians within a reasonable commuting distance, are required to live on campus. While the University provides housing for non-traditional students, freshmen over the age of 21 may request permission to live off campus. In addition, other exemptions to the two-year requirement may be requested in categories that include, but not limited to: married, dependents in their care, military service. All such requests must be submitted to the Office of Housing and Residence Life via an online request form. During the period of November-January, current students submit housing agreements for the following year. These materials appear on the student's MyHousing portal when the process begins.

Slippery Rock University has a diverse student population living in university residences. Therefore, in compliance with the Pennsylvania Fair Education Practice Act, all residence assignments are made without regard to race, color, sex, religion, ancestry, national origin, handicap or disability, record of a handicap or disability, or relationship or association with an individual with a handicap or disability, use of a guide or support animal, and/or handling or training of support or guide animals. Having accepted the Act, the university believes that a cross section of cultures provides a pluralistic community environment and exceptional opportunities for student development.

The Office of Housing and Residence Life provides living learning communities for residence hall students. These communities offer an opportunity for students to apply to live with other students who share similar majors. Information regarding the living learning communities is available along with housing agreement materials.

Students who reside in university-owned residence halls must contract to eat in the university dining facilities. No extensive cooking is permitted in the residence halls.

Campus residence halls will be closed to all students during university vacation periods and also between summer sessions and semesters. A designated residence hall will be open for summer school sessions through a separate summer agreement. Break housing is made available for an extra per night fee for those who sign up during certain break periods (such as Thanksgiving and Spring Break).

The Housing and Residence Life staff is always pleased to offer help and assistance! Please visit our website for a variety of resources. Our central office staff is available Monday-Friday 8:00AM-4:30PM to receive your call at 724.738.2082.

Inclusive Excellence

The Office for Inclusive Excellence (OIE) serves as an impetus for positive interactions with all cultures while also providing academic and social support through diverse learning opportunities.

OIE is established in an understanding of diversity that welcomes people of all abilities, ages, ethnicities, genders, nationalities, races, religions, spiritual traditions, socio-economic classes, and sexual orientations. OIE consists of the student transition programs (<https://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/diversity/inclusive-excellence/jump-start/>), campus-wide diversity programming (<https://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/diversity/inclusive-excellence/programs-and-workshops/>), Women's Center (<https://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/diversity-equity-inclusion-and-belonging/inclusive-excellence/programs-and-workshops/>), Pride Center (<https://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/diversity/lgbtq/>) and the Veterans Center (<https://www.sru.edu/veterans/>).

Our goal is to practice inclusive excellence so that it is implemented and accomplished consistently throughout the institution.

The Office for Inclusive Excellence:

- Provides mentoring and coaching designed to offer academic and social support, build individual capacity and self-efficacy, and connect students to the University community
- Creates opportunities for all students to explore and celebrate cultures and identities in a safe and supportive atmosphere
- Gives voice to the needs of students while teaching them to be positive advocates for change

The Office for Inclusive Excellence has four primary concentrations:

1. Student Transitions
2. Mentoring
3. Inclusion
4. Advocacy

For more information on any areas of the Office for Inclusive Excellence, please visit us on the web at Office for Inclusive Excellence (<https://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/diversity/inclusive-excellence/>).

Off-Campus Housing

Off-campus housing is available in privately owned apartment complexes, rooming houses and homes. The University does not inspect or approve off-campus housing. Housing within the borough of Slippery Rock must comply with the housing code for property maintenance of the borough, which sets legal standards for safety (sanitation, freedom of hazards, etc.) and livability (water, ventilation, heat, etc.). Housing in the township does not fall under the jurisdiction of the Slippery Rock Borough zoning laws, but it must meet minimal health standards as determined by Butler County.

Off-campus housing lists are available at <https://www.sru.edu/offices/student-affairs> (<https://www.sru.edu/offices/student-affairs/>). Students who live off campus may contract to eat in the university dining facilities.

Preschool Child Care Center

The SRU/SGA Preschool and Child Care Center is a state licensed, nationally accredited non-profit program managed by the Student Government Association, Inc. of Slippery Rock University. Services are available for children age three to five of students, faculty, staff, and members of the Slippery Rock community. Children through age 12 are welcome for before and after-school care and for summer programs.

The Center is licensed by the Pennsylvania Department of Human Services and Department of Education and is accredited by the National Association for the Education of Young Children. It is a Keystone Stars STAR 4 rated site. The Center is the recipient of the PA Pre-K Counts and Federal CCAMPIS grants which provide free or reduced preschool to children based on financial need. The CCAMPIS grant is only available to the children of University enrolled students. In 2016, the Center was approved as a child care provider for both the Child Care Aware and GSA Subsidy military fee assistance programs. The Center employs one Master's level Director, three Master's level Head Teachers, three Graduate Assistants, and several undergraduate students majoring in education.

The Center is located at 007 McKay Education Building, and is open from 7:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Service is provided year round. To contact, please call 724-738-2102. Publications

SLAB

SLAB is an award winning, nationally recognized literary magazine published by students from the English Department. SLAB publishes fiction, poetry, creative nonfiction, and graphic novel excerpts from established and emerging writers including winners of NEA Fellowships, Pushcart Prizes, and Eisner Awards. Staff members gain valuable publications experience in manuscript selection, editing, creative writing, and layout. Founded in 2005, SLAB receives funding through the Student Government Association. To view SLAB, please visit slablitmag.org (<http://www.slablitmag.org/>).

The Rocket

The Rocket is the independent, student-run newspaper serving Slippery Rock University. The staff publishes digital content daily on www.theonlinerocket.com (<http://www.theonlinerocket.com/>) and print editions on a monthly basis. The Rocket produces award-winning news, sports, and feature content covering the campus community and beyond, and serves as an outlet for student opinion through the editorial and letter-to-the-editor features. The Rocket provides an excellent experience for students whose career goals are in the areas of print, broadcast or converged journalism, social media, advertising, layout and design, and general digital content or news management.

Radio and Television

WSRU Radio

WSRU-FM 88.1 is a student owned and operated FCC regulated radio station and podcast studio on campus. It gives students hands-on experience in all aspects of radio and audio production including on-air, sports play-by-play, promotions, and event planning all under the guidance of a faculty advisor. WSRU-FM operates out of 213 Eisenberg Classroom Building and is open to students from any major.

WSRU-TV

The Maltby Converged Media Center is home to the student-run digital news team, WSRU-TV, and serves as an experiential learning environment for broadcast production courses offered from the Communication Department. The center features a multicamera studio space, control room, Mac-based editing bays, podcast stations and professionally maintained, state-of-the-art equipment that is updated regularly to meet industry standards. Students at the center gain hands-on experience in every phase of the production process and build their portfolios as they prepare for internships and careers in the media industry.

REACH Experiential & Adventure Education Program

Ski Lodge

Office: 207 Rock Pride Drive, Slippery Rock, PA 16057

Phone: 724-738-2883

Andrew Loue, Assistant Director of Adventure

Through experiential and adventure activities, SRU's REACH Program provides students, faculty and staff the opportunity to explore topics such as leadership, teamwork, communication, problem solving and fun. We challenge participants to tap into their adventurous side and live in the moment. The program serves academic classes, student organizations and clubs, athletic teams and other various groups in the campus community. All activities are designed to meet the goals and objectives that are unique to each group. The program is based at the Ski Lodge and utilizes our high and low challenge (ropes) courses.

Special Recognition of Academic Achievement

Special Recognition of Academic Achievement

Slippery Rock University faculty and administration place a high value on the academic accomplishments of their students. SRU's academic reputation and its stature in the community of universities are tied inextricably to the scholastic achievements of its students. The University's rich and extensive resources provide a foundation of support for the realization of this goal. Scholarly and dedicated University faculty strive to challenge students' intellectual development and their achievement of excellence. The University community believes that student efforts in the attainment of high levels of scholarship deserve appropriate recognition and officially acknowledges student achievement throughout the academic year.

Each spring, the SRU celebrates academic achievements at a variety of events. The Celebration of Achievement honors the Outstanding Student in Research, Scholarship or Creative Activity and the Outstanding Student Academic Leader from each of the five colleges. SRU faculty members are honored with Presidential Awards for Excellence in Teaching, Advising Excellence -- Experienced, Advising Excellence -- Emerging, and Scholarly and Creative Achievement. SRU's finalist for the Dr. Ali-Zaidi Award for Academic Excellence is also announced.

A private reception is held for Presidential Scholars with the president, provost and deans. Presidential Scholars are the top 20 students in the sophomore, junior and senior classes. These students are selected based on cumulative grade-point average and credits earned at SRU in their respective class. In order to be considered as a Presidential Scholar, students must meet minimum credit hour requirements and have successfully completed 12 credits that year.

Student Center and Conference Services

The mission of the Slippery Rock University Student Center and Conference Services department is to provide assistance to anyone seeking to hold an event on campus. Through our efforts, we create a welcoming community that fosters student learning and provides a valuable, regional resource.

- The Robert M. Smith Student Center is a community gathering space where we create opportunities for learning and engagement through informal interaction and programmed events. In addition to various lounges and meeting spaces, the following offices and services are located in the Robert M. Smith Student Center: Student Center Operations, Dining Services, Conference Services, FNB Bank, Electronic Technology Center, Starbucks, SGA Bookstore, Rocky's Food Court, Quaker Steak & Lube, and the Student Development Suite including Student Engagement & Leadership, Inclusive Excellence, Women's Center, Student Success, Cooperative Activities, Student Government Association, University Program Board, Pride Center, Veteran's Lounge and other student organization offices.
- Students are our primary stakeholders, yet we also aim to serve the needs of the university and the community through support for events and programs.
- We train and empower our student employees to think critically, solve problems, and engage positively with diverse constituents.
- We create experiences for youth and adults to utilize our facilities and services through summer camps and conferences leading to positive benefits for the campus.
- We create learning environments that are inclusive, accessible, adaptable, and equipped with appropriate technology for a variety of events.

The variety of event spaces makes Slippery Rock University the venue of choice for student, staff, faculty, and community members to hold meetings, workshops, banquets, weddings, conferences, summer camps, and other special events. For additional information, stop by the Student Center Information Desk or call 724-738-4926.

Student Conduct

Slippery Rock University is an academic community in which there is mutual respect and trust of the persons who learn, teach, and work within it. Students of Slippery Rock University are entitled to certain rights and privileges which must be protected through fair and orderly processes and which are best safeguarded when each student acts responsibly. All students of the university community are equally entitled to the protection of the code of conduct. Students are expected to be familiar with the provisions of the Student Code of Conduct which is available at www.sru.edu/studentconduct (<http://www.sru.edu/studentconduct/>).

The Student Counseling Center (SCC) strives to facilitate the total development of students by reducing distress, enhancing mental health, well-being, quality of life, and supporting aspirations. Our primary focus is on providing brief, confidential counseling aimed at helping students to succeed academically and interpersonally. When students require mental health services that are beyond the role or scope of the SCC, we will make appropriate referrals to campus and community resources. See our website for services and contact information.

Student Engagement and Leadership

The Office for Student Engagement and Leadership serves as the premier outlet for students to learn about and explore opportunities to connect with peers and engage in co-curricular and leadership experiences at SRU.

Mission

The mission of the Office for Student Engagement & Leadership is to empower students in pursuit of their own developmental growth and achievements, through purposefully cultivated co-curricular opportunities and leadership experiences.

The Office for Student Engagement and Leadership oversees the following involvement areas:

- Student Organizations (<https://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/student-activities/clubs-and-organizations/>)
- Fraternity and Sorority Life (<https://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/student-activities/clubs-and-organizations/fraternity-and-sorority-life/>)

- Rock the Weekend (<https://sru.campuslabs.com/engage/organization/rtw/>)
- Week of Welcome (<https://www.sru.edu/life-at-sru/student-activities/wow/>)

CORE

CORE is the University's online student engagement platform, and the ultimate way to Connect, Organize, Reflect, and Engage in leadership and involvement opportunities at SRU. Students can explore hundreds of ways to get involved at SRU. Students can learn about student organizations, find volunteer experiences, and discover leadership opportunities. They can also stay up-to-date with the latest happenings on campus through the Events Calendar and personal news feed. CORE also provides features for students to organize and manage their own involvement through a co-curricular transcript.

To learn more about the various involvement areas and what's happening on campus, log into CORE at www.sru.edu/core (<http://www.sru.edu/core>)

Success Coaches

Associate Director for Academic Success Design; Success Coach

Emily McClaine

Assistant Director for Academic Success; Success

Julie Ferring

Success and Career Coach

Grace Bennett

Success Coaching empowers students in their college transitions, goal setting, time management, academic habits, effective learning strategies, academic motivation, exam preparation, campus connections, and academic progress. Coaches work with students in one-on-one sessions and group workshops. Each session is individualized based on the student's needs and goals. While some students meet with a coach once, or periodically, other students may choose to meet with a coach semi-regularly in order to develop the skills they need to reach their goals. Coaching helps students to cultivate deep learning practices and use resources that will help them thrive. All students at SRU are welcome to meet with a success coach, and can do so by emailing success.coach@sru.edu. The Success Coaching Program also oversees Peer Academic Coaching, which offers weekly one-on-one coaching on fundamental academic skills with an undergraduate Peer Academic Coach. The Success Coaching Website (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/student-success-coaches/>) provides more details about services and staff.

Theatre Productions

The Department of Theatre sponsors an active co-curricular program, and encourages students from across the university community to participate in productions – both onstage and backstage. Each year, SRU Theatre presents a season of faculty-directed productions: a balance of Broadway hits, new plays, and classics of the world theatre. An additional lab theatre space allows students to direct and produce their own work as well.

Participation in mainstage productions is open to any interested student and is not confined to theatre majors. Auditions for productions are held throughout the academic year and are regularly announced on CORE. Students are encouraged to check CORE regularly or contact the Theatre Department for additional information.

Slippery Rock University has more than 75,000 graduates living throughout the country. Alumni are encouraged to join the Slippery Rock University Alumni Association, a separately incorporated organization that is devoted to serving the university and its alumni.

The Slippery Rock University Alumni Association hosts several events in the region and across the country to engage alumni. A variety of benefits are associated with membership to the association, including discounts on insurance, partnerships with national travel partners and savings at campus entities including the SGA bookstore. Significantly, the Alumni Association manages and awards twenty-three scholarships. Seventeen of the scholarships, the Alumni Association Scholarship, Past Presidents' Scholarship, the Madeline F. Stoops Scholarship, the the Nancy Angell/Hallie Dugan Smith Scholarship, the Eisaman Alumni Scholarship for sophomore students, the Maree McKay/ Esther Smiley Scholarships, the Carl and Norma Laughner Scholarship, the Maggie Meise Fellowship, the Watson Family Scholarship, Jeanne Powell Furrie Scholarships, the Anna Brua Williams Scholarships for women elementary education majors, and the Addison Scholarships are for academic excellence. The N. Kerr Thompson Scholarship is for student athletes.

The Association also sponsors Homecoming and Alumni Weekend, as well as special events throughout the year. Additional information on the Alumni Association as well as upcoming events can be found on the alumni web site at www.rockalumni.com (<http://www.rockalumni.com/>) or at www.sru.edu (<http://www.sru.edu/>) and then clicking on Alumni.

Absence and Attendance

Slippery Rock University expects students to attend face-to-face classes and consistently engage in online classes. Individual instructors have sole responsibility to establish and communicate requirements for class attendance in each course syllabus, including for online classes.

Students who must miss class should communicate directly with their instructors regarding the class attendance policy. Misrepresenting an absence constitutes dishonest behavior under the Code of Student Conduct.

Students are responsible for all materials covered in a course, even if they are absent. Instructors should provide, within reason, an opportunity to make up work for students who miss class due to excused absences that include, but are not limited to: scheduled NCAA athletic event, academic event/performance/professional conference or meeting in which the student is a University-approved participant, military duty (<https://catalog.sru.edu/academic-policies/military-absence-policy/>), jury duty, appearance at a required legal proceeding, or circumstance(s) covered under a Federal mandate. Other examples of appropriate situations to be recognized as excused include: auto accident, death of a loved one, or a medical emergency.

Students who miss class due to short-term illness, injury, or hospitalization may request written verification from Student Health Services. Prolonged illness or extraordinary circumstances such as the death of a loved one, military deployment, or other major life event must be reported to the Dean of Students, which notifies the student's instructor(s) of the absence. These notifications do not constitute an "excuse" for an absence but rather are designed to make instructors aware of conflicts impacting a student's attendance. A student absent for a significant time should consult with their adviser before deciding whether to continue in a class or classes.

Academic Advisers (Undergraduate)

Academic advisers are assigned in the freshman year by the students' major department or the Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress Department, who assign academic advisers to Exploratory students. Some departments may reassign their students to different academic advisers during the students' tenure at the University.

It is the academic advisers' responsibility to aid their advisees with their academic and educational plans. The advisers are not responsible for making certain that their advisees graduation requirements have been met. This is the sole responsibility of the students.

Academic Certificates

Slippery Rock University offers certificates at the undergraduate and graduate levels. A certificate is a statement of recognition on the academic record that highlights an organized set of courses or short program of study, with specific learning outcomes, not culminating in a degree. Certificates are not the same as certifications or licenses, which typically are awarded by a third party outside the University.

The Undergraduate Certificate Declaration form (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) can be located from the Academic Records and Registration Forms page. Please visit the Graduate Admissions webpage (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/graduate-admissions/requirements-by-program/>) for information about Graduate Certificates.

Undergrad

Department's establish which courses count toward an academic certificate subject to the following limitations.

- The certificate will have a minimum of 12 undergraduate credits.
- At least six credits must be completed through SRU.
- To earn a certificate, students need a 2.0 or higher cumulative GPA in their certificate courses.
- No more than six certificate credits may share with the first undergraduate major; no more than nine certificate credits can be shared with an undergraduate minor (if applicable).
- Courses counted in a certificate can also be used to satisfy the Liberal Studies/Rock Studies requirements.
- No course needed for the certificate may be taken Pass/Fail.
- Students may earn more than one certificate.

Graduate

Department's establish which courses count toward an academic certificate subject to the following limitations.

- The certificate will have a minimum of 9 graduate credits.
- At least six credits must be completed through SRU.
- To earn a certificate, students need a 3.0 or higher cumulative GPA in their certificate courses.
- All graduate certificate credits may share with the graduate major.
- No course needed for the certificate may be taken Pass/Fail.

- Students may earn more than one certificate.
- Individual certificates at the graduate level may have additional requirements regarding application of transfer credit and age of credit.

Certificates may be completed as part of a full degree program, or may be completed as a non-degree student. Students completing certificates as non-degree students are not eligible for financial aid.

Academic Complaints

Students who want to file an appeal concerning their grades or any other academic matter should first contact their instructor to seek a resolution. If no agreement can be reached with the instructor, students should contact the appropriate departmental chairperson, then the appropriate dean. Further appeal is to be directed to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, Chief Academic Officer. For more information, please see to the university's Grade Appeal Policy (p. 1195) page from this catalog and the Academic Complaint (<https://www.sru.edu/offices/academic-affairs/syllabi-policies/>) brochure located on the university's Syllabi Policies page.

Academic Integrity

This policy applies to all Slippery Rock University students except students in those academic programs that have program-specific academic integrity policies, such as the Doctor of Physical Therapy Program, Doctor of Occupational Therapy Program, Physician Assistant Studies Program, and the Doctor of Education in Special Education Program. These programs have different academic integrity policies due to accreditation agency requirements or related Pennsylvania of Department of Education requirements. Students should refer to their student handbooks for policies and procedures specific to their programs.

Violations of the Academic Integrity Policy by student organizations, and any incidents involving individual students that violate the Academic Integrity Policy and other University policies, including the Student Code of Conduct, will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct for handling under the Student Code of Conduct hearing procedures. In such matters, sanctions outlined in this Policy may be included with the sanctions imposed by the student conduct hearing board.

PURPOSE

This policy establishes the University standards and expectations for academic integrity, as well as the procedures for charges of academic dishonesty.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY EXPECTATIONS

The value of a University education is determined by the quality and character of the University's students and graduates. Therefore, all University community members are expected to uphold the academic integrity standards embodied in this policy when engaging in academic or scholarly pursuits. All students are expected to demonstrate their mastery of subject matter in an honorable and straightforward manner in compliance with established standards and norms, and without improper use of the works of others.

It is expected that students will meet the following standards:

- Because we seek constant new learning in each course, all academic work, including, but not limited to, papers, creative projects, computer programs, assignments, and tests, must consist of their own original work and not that from other coursework (unless the faculty member approves an exception) or from other students or other authorities not cited in full accord with an appropriate citation style (APA, MLA, CBE, etc.) consistent with the academic discipline or the instructor's directions.

- Students are expected to be honest in all academic work.
- Students are responsible for understanding the difference between the generation of their own work and using artificial intelligence in the generation of work. It is the student's, not the faculty member's, responsibility to ensure that use of artificial intelligence is appropriate to the context of the course.
- Students are expected to function as such, including, but not limited to, attending class regularly and completing all assignments and examinations on their own unless the faculty member notes otherwise.
- Students are expected to learn, practice, and apply standard techniques for accurately citing resource material. It is the student's, not the faculty member's, responsibility to ensure that all material is cited.
- Students are expected to know the difference between direct quotations and paraphrases. No one choice between direct quotations and paraphrases is inherently "better," but if one does choose to paraphrase, then the essence of the text should be conveyed FULLY in the student's own words and sentence structure. Citation of the IDEA is required regardless of whether a student quotes or paraphrases.
- Students are expected to understand basic principles of respect and compliance with intellectual property law. Particularly important are those aspects of the Copyright Law of the United States that apply to academic and creative work as well as to the use of university computer resources.

VIOLATIONS DEFINED

A violation of the Academic Integrity Policy occurs where a student intentionally: engages in deceit or misrepresentation for the purpose of influencing the grading process or obtaining academic credit; engages in behavior that breaches applicable professional standards; or assists other students in evading or violating the University's Academic Integrity Policy.

Academic dishonesty may take many forms. Examples include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Buying, selling, or trading papers, projects, or other assignments.
- Using or attempting to use any unauthorized book, notes, or assistance (for example, copying another student's test or homework).
- Knowingly plagiarizing and/or submitting the work of another as your own.
- Completing class work for another person.
- Fabricating information, research results, or citations.
- Facilitating the intentional dishonest acts of others pertaining to academic work.
- Conducting research with human subjects without IRB approval.
- Conducting research with animals without IACUC approval.
- Possessing or sharing unauthorized examinations.
- Submitting, without instructor permission, work previously used.
- Tampering with the academic work of another person.

- Recording an instructor's teaching content and/or distributing a professor's teaching content without permission.
- Ghost-taking an exam in place of a student or having any person take an exam in your place.
- Any attempt to falsify an assigned grade on an examination, report, or program or in a grade book, document, or other record.
- Any attempted, or actual computer program theft, illegal use of software; illegal downloading or streaming of copyrighted media, or inappropriate use of the Internet; such as, but not limited to, illegal or unauthorized transmission; or improper access to any computer system or account.
- Any attempted, or actual, collusion willfully giving or receiving unauthorized or unacknowledged assistance on any assignment or examination (all parties are considered responsible).
- Forging a faculty member's or administrator's signature on any document.
- Copying and pasting digital media (including but not limited to, email correspondence, text, images, or other media from online sources) without proper citation, the copyright owner's permission to use the digital media, or evidence of having performed a favorable fair use analysis.
- Copying and pasting significant portions of digital media with or without citation.
- Submitting work generated by artificial intelligence as your own.

PROCEDURES FOR DISPOSITION OF ALLEGED VIOLATIONS

Initial Meeting

When faced with a suspected or reported academic integrity violation in the classroom, faculty will promptly inform the student of the alleged violation and will engage the student in the following process within 14 calendar days:

- a. The faculty member will gather information, including documents or information provided by others, and schedule a meeting (virtually or in person) with the student.
- b. During this meeting, the faculty member will share the information gathered indicating that an alleged violation has occurred and provide the student with an opportunity to respond to the information. Accepting the meeting with the faculty member, is not an indication of agreement by the student that the alleged academic integrity violation has occurred. Students should bring evidence or documentation that supports their perspective. This meeting is limited to the faculty member and the student. No audio or video recording of the meeting is allowed.

Please Note: If the student refuses to attend the meeting, or fails to respond to the email notification without reasonable excuse, the faculty member will proceed with their review of the alleged academic integrity violation. A student alleged to have violated the Academic Integrity Policy may not avoid review and disposition of the alleged violation by withdrawing from the course or refusal to respond.

Faculty Review

The faculty member will review the information gathered, including any response and information provided by the student during the initial meeting, along with due consideration of the intentionality of the alleged violation, and will take one of the following actions within five (5) calendar days of the meeting date:

- a. Find that no Academic Integrity violation has occurred and close the Academic Integrity Violation process. No academic sanction is applied. The student will be notified of the finding; or
- b. Find that an Academic Integrity violation has occurred and impose an academic sanction. A faculty member may impose a negative finding where the evidence supports a finding that a violation occurred and the faculty member believes, in their discretion, that no further response or information is required. Sanctions may include one or more of the following that are at the faculty member's discretion:
 - Verbal warning
 - Developing a remediation plan for educational intervention
 - Re-examination, re-writing the paper, re-producing the assignment by the student
 - Reduction in grade/score for the examination, paper or assignment
 - Assigning a failing grade for the assignment
 - Assigning a failing grade for the course

Where the faculty member finds a violation, they must electronically submit an Academic Integrity Violation report (<https://nam10.safelinks.protection.outlook.com/?url=https%3A%2F%2Fsecure.sru.edu%2FdocuSign%2Facademicintegrityds%2FFaculty%2FAIViolation&data=05%7C02%7Cchristine.agostino%40sru.edu%7C2bd1dc641e70432e4aae08dbfb49644a%7C86555dba073b4ff7b7d1b73a77c5bd92%7C0%7C6383800648581162%7CTWfPbGZsb3d8eyJWljoIMC4wLjAwMDAiLCJQljoIV2luMzliLCJBTil6Ik1haV%7C3000%7C%7C%7C&sdata=hun8LzmjEaDyXDIT%2F5s%2Fz%2BZWf7uPxPFFRIZQcNqZq2A%3D&reserved=0>), the following individuals will be informed of the finding and the sanction: the student; Chair of the student's major program; Chair of the department the course is housed; the student's academic adviser; the Dean; Office of Student Conduct. The student will receive an electronic notification informing them of the finding, the sanction, and their appeal rights.

APPEALS

A student may appeal the finding and/or sanction of a charged violation of the Academic Integrity Policy by responding to the electronic notification. Absent extraordinary circumstances, appeals must be submitted within seven (7) calendar days of transmission of the finding to the student. The student must submit their appeal electronically using the link provided in the finding notification. If a student does not submit an appeal of the finding notification within (7) calendar days of the transmission of the finding, the finding and the sanction are final.

There is only one level of appeal on academic integrity matters. No further appeals will be permitted. Where an appeal is filed, the finding and sanctions are stayed pending the appeal decision.

The student must set forth the reason for the appeal and the requested relief. Appeals are directed to the Academic Integrity Review Board (AIRB) for decision.

The Academic Integrity Review Board ("the Board") is comprised of up to five members: the Associate Provost (or other designee appointed by the Provost); Dean of the College where the course is located, or other college dean; and three faculty members selected by the Provost from a list of faculty (5) elected by the local APSCUF unit, or if elected faculty are unavailable a college dean, whenever a board needs to be convened for a hearing. The Board will not include a referring faculty member. Only the AIRB reviews appeals.

Appeals may be made on any of the following grounds:

- A procedural irregularity under the Academic Integrity Policy or procedures that affected the finding.
- New evidence that was not reasonably available through the exercise of reasonable diligence at the time of the scheduled meeting with the faculty member that could affect the outcome of the alleged violation. Where an appeal is sought on this basis, the student must submit an explanation using the text box, identifying the new evidence and explaining how it would have affected the outcome.
- The faculty member had a conflict of interest or bias for or against the student that affected the decision.
- The academic sanction imposed was grossly disproportionate based on the student's academic record and the alleged violation in the course.

Upon receipt of the appeal, the Associate Provost will review the appeal to determine timeliness, completeness, and appropriateness of the grounds for purposes of accepting the appeal. Appeals that are untimely, incomplete, or which raise a basis for appeal other than those permitted may be rejected.

If the appeal is accepted, the Associate Provost will convene a meeting with the AIRB to review the appeal, including the documentation, findings, and the sanction imposed.

Within seven (7) calendar days of the AIRB meeting, the AIRB will take one of the following actions:

- a. Uphold the decision of the faculty member and close the Academic Integrity Violation process. The student and faculty member will be notified of the finding; or
- b. Schedule a formal hearing on the alleged violation for the purpose of gathering additional evidence and making a finding on the alleged violation. The Associate Provost will communicate with the student to determine a mutually agreeable date and time for the hearing. The Associate Provost will send a written notice to the student confirming the date and time for the hearing, the matters to be reviewed at the hearing. If the student fails to respond to the request for a hearing date or fails attend the hearing, the hearing may proceed in the student's absence.

The AIRB members will identify one member to serve as the Chair during the hearing. The Chair has the responsibility and authority to maintain an orderly proceeding, including determining what evidence may be accepted for consideration by the Board.

The student may attend the Board hearing with an advisor. An advisor is defined as an individual who may be present to support a party throughout the conduct process. The Advisor may be a member of the University Community or other individual selected by the party. The Advisor may accompany the party they are supporting to any hearing or meeting that the party is required to attend. Each party is responsible for coordinating and scheduling with their choice of Advisor.

In all Academic Integrity matters the Advisor may communicate only with the party they are supporting and may not otherwise speak for, or on behalf of, the party. The Advisor may not be a party or witness in the matter.

The student must notify the Board Chair at least two (2) days in advance of the hearing of any advisor or additional information or witnesses that they wish to present at the hearing. The student's advisor may only consult and interact privately with the student, and may not address the board. Advisors who are disruptive to the process will be asked to leave the hearing, and the hearing will proceed in their absence.

All hearings are closed proceedings. The Board Chair may exclude witnesses from the hearing room until the appropriate time for their testimony. The Board retains the right to continue a hearing whenever necessary and appropriate. All matters upon which the finding will be based must be placed into evidence at the hearing.

Within 21 calendar days of the conclusion of the hearing, the Board will issue a written finding on the alleged violation, setting forth the facts and reasons for the finding.

The AIRB may take one of the following actions:

- Uphold the finding and the sanction imposed;
- Uphold the finding that a violation occurred, but modify the sanction as deemed appropriate by the Board;
- Reverse the finding on the academic integrity violation, enter a finding that no violation occurred, and remove the sanction imposed

In the event that the Board upholds a finding that a violation of the Academic Integrity Policy occurred, but modifies the sanction, the Board may impose the following sanctions:

- Developing a remediation plan for educational intervention.
- Re-examination, re-writing the paper, re-producing the assignment by the student
- Reduction in grade/score for the examination, paper or assignment
- Assigning a failing grade for the assignment
- Assigning a failing grade for the course

The following individuals will be informed of the Board's determination: the student; the Provost; the Associate Provost; Chair of the student's major program; Chair of the department the course is housed; the student's academic adviser; the Dean; Office of Student Conduct. No further appeal is permitted.

Violations of the Academic Integrity Policy by individual students or student organizations and repeated violations of the Academic Integrity Policy, will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct for handling under the Student Code of Conduct hearing procedures. In such matters, sanctions outlined in this Policy may be included with the sanctions imposed by the student conduct hearing board.

The following individuals will be informed of the Board's determination: the student; the Provost; the Associate Provost; Chair of the student's major program; Chair of the department the course is housed; the student's academic adviser; the Dean; Office of Student Conduct. No further appeal is permitted.

RIGHTS AND INTERPRETATION

This policy does not create rights in any person. This policy should be interpreted to have sufficient flexibility to be consistent with law and to permit the accomplishment of the purpose(s) of the policies of the University.

Academic Majors (Undergraduate)

All degree seeking students must declare a major. Students are responsible for meeting the major requirements in effect at the time they enter the university or change majors. When students leave the university and are later readmitted, they become responsible for meeting the major requirements in effect at the time they are readmitted.

If students would benefit from meeting a set of major requirements other than those in effect at the time they declared their major or were admitted/readmitted to the university, their adviser may request of the students' academic dean that a different set of major requirements be met.

At the time of enrollment or by the end of the sophomore year, students must select a major. The university encourages students to select during their early semesters the exploratory (undeclared) student status if they have uncertainty or apprehension about their choice of a major. If students desire to change their major, they must complete, with departmental chairperson's approval, the Major/Concentration Change form (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) in the Office of Academic Records and Registration.

Using their criteria, faculty determine if a student may be admitted into their departments to pursue their major. Students may obtain these criteria from the departmental adviser or chairperson. Course requirements for a major may not be taken using a Pass/No Credit grade option. Students following "Rock Studies 2" requirements are not permitted to count any Integrated Inquiry course toward any major, minor, or concentration (including second major/minor/concentration). Students can share Thematic Thread courses with their second major/minor/concentration. Students following Liberal Studies or "Rock Studies 1" requirements should refer to their appropriate archived catalog.

Students may declare a second major by completing a Major/Concentration Change form (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>). The requirements for all majors must be completed prior to the awarding of the student's first baccalaureate degree. Once graduated, students may not return and add additional majors to or drop majors from their undergraduate record. Students wishing to return to the university to earn a second degree may be admitted as a post baccalaureate student and must earn at least 30 new credits in their selected major program above and beyond their first undergraduate degree.

Students may earn two majors or two degrees simultaneously. Also, the university's modern language requirement is a bachelor of arts degree requirement and not a requirement of a major. Therefore, students earning a second major would not be required to complete the modern language requirement for the second major. However, students earning two degrees would be required to complete the modern language requirement if one of the degrees is a B.A.

All academic majors must consist of at least 30 credits; at least 50% of which must be completed at SRU or another PASSHE university and 50% of which must be at the upper division (numbered 300 or above).

Academic Minors (Undergraduate)

Slippery Rock University offers minors at the undergraduate level. A minor is a set of courses that meet specified guidelines and is designed to allow a sub-major concentration in an academic discipline or in a specific area within a discipline. The minor is recorded on the students' transcripts, providing the students have met all graduation requirements. Students wishing to add an Academic Minor to their record, must submit, with department chairperson's approval, the Minor Declaration Form (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) to the Office of Academic Records and Registration.

POLICY

A department shall establish its own policy regarding which courses shall count toward an academic minor subject to the following limitations:

- The minor shall have a minimum of 18 credits.
- The minor shall have a minimum of 6 credits from SRU.
- The minor shall have a minimum of 6 upper division credits at the 300/400 level. (Exceptions to this one requirement may be made by the Chancellor on a case by case basis.)
- No course needed for the minor may be taken Pass/Fail.
- Courses counted in a minor can also be used to satisfy the Liberal Studies/Rock Studies requirements.
- At least 6 credits in the selected minor shall be outside the requirements/electives counted in the student's major/first concentration. All minor credits can share with a student's curriculum outside of the first major/first concentration.
- Students may not add, drop, complete, or declare a minor after graduation. The requirements for all minors must be completed prior to the awarding of the first baccalaureate degree. Once graduated, students may not return and add additional minors to their undergraduate record.
- Students may also elect more than one minor course of study.
- Students may be awarded more than one minor so long as they complete the requirements for each minor.

Students are typically responsible for meeting the minor requirements in effect at the time they enter the university or change majors. When students leave the university and are later readmitted, they become responsible for meeting the minor requirements in effect at the time they are readmitted. If students would benefit from meeting a set of minor requirements other than those in effect at the time they declared their minor or were admitted/readmitted to the university, their adviser may request of the student's academic dean that a different set of minor requirements be met.

Academic Restart (Undergraduate)

An undergraduate student who has been academically readmitted to the institution and is returning to the institution from an academic suspension or dismissal may apply for Academic Restart. Under Academic Restart, all Slippery Rock University grades and credits for courses taken prior to reinstatement to the institution will not be applied to grade point average or credits earned calculations. The student should contact Financial Aid to determine how his/her aid may be impacted by Academic Restart.

CONDITIONS

1. A student must sit out at least five years before being eligible for Academic Restart.
2. A student will be placed on provisional status for one semester of full time study, or until he/she has attempted 15 semester hours if attending part time. A student must achieve a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.000 by the end of the period of provisional status. Failure to achieve the 2.000 minimum cumulative grade point average will result in permanent dismissal from Slippery Rock University.
3. All grades for courses taken prior to the point at which Academic Restart is granted will remain on the academic transcript and academic history. The grades and credits earned prior to the Academic Restart action will not be applied to grade point average or credits earned calculations.
4. A student may be reinstated only once under the provisions of the Academic Restart program.

PROVISIONS

1. If the student has attended other institutions since their withdrawal, suspension, or dismissal, transfer credits and credits by exam may be considered to meet graduation requirements. Official transcripts/score reports will be forwarded by Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress or the appropriate Dean's office to Transfer Admissions for formal evaluation and posting of credits to the degree audit.
2. A student who is reinstated under the provisions of the Academic Restart program retains the right to utilize course repeat options as specified by University policy.
3. An Academic Restart Request (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) is submitted for consideration to the Dean of the college or the Office of Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress. At the discretion of the College Dean, the request may be referred to the Office of Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress. The Dean of the college or the Office of Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress forwards a recommendation to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, Chief Academic Officer. Any exception to these procedures must be approved by the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, Chief Academic Officer or designee.

Students must apply for Academic Restart through their College Dean's office or the Office of Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress. After applying, their previous academic record will receive a full review by the College Dean or the Office of Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress and the Provost and Vice-President for Academic Affairs, Chief Academic Officer or designee. Students can be re-admitted only once under the Academic Restart program. Academic restart can only be reversed if the student does not enroll at the institution.

PROCESS

Students interested in being considered for Academic Restart should do the following:

1. Submit the Readmission application (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/readmission/>).
2. Submit the Restart Request form (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>).
3. Submit official transcripts from all institutions attended after leaving SRU.
4. Submit a written narrative describing academic goals upon return to SRU as well as a plan to ensure academic success.

Students who were Exploratory at the time they left the University should submit this packet to the Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress Department. All other students must submit the packet to the Dean's Office of the major at the time they left the University.

Academic Standing Undergraduate

The Academic Deans determine the academic standing of all students at the end of each term. Academic standing is based on:

1. The student's cumulative grade point average (GPA);
2. The total number of credits for which the student has attempted prior to the review. The Attempted Credits also include transfer credits, "Credit by Exam" credits, and credits for repeated courses. It does not include credits for audited courses.

Students with a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.00 or higher are in satisfactory academic standing. Students with less than satisfactory academic standing are subject to academic warning, probation, suspension or dismissal.

The following procedure applies to all students who do not meet the required minimum cumulative GPA as specified:

Attempted Credits (SRU, credit by exam, and transfer credits)	Cumulative GPA	Procedure
0.5 - 16.0	Below 2.000	Warning Letter
16.1 - 32.0	1.750 - 1.999	Warning Letter
16.1 - 32.0	Below 1.750	Probation Letter
32.1 or more	Below 2.000	Probation Letter
32.1 or more	Below 2.000	Suspension or Dismissal*

Academic Standards (<https://www.sru.edu/documents/academics/academic-services/academic-records/AcademicStandards.pdf>)

* Should a student earn 32.1 or more credits and be on probation from a previous term, action is suspension.

For purposes of suspension or dismissal, Fall and Spring are regular terms; Summer and Winter are not considered regular terms and thus will not result in immediate suspension or dismissal. Furthermore, a student cannot be suspended/dismissed at the end of any Fall or Spring semester in which the student has earned a 2.000 or greater semester GPA, even if the cumulative GPA remains less than 2.000.

ACADEMIC PROBATION

When subject to academic probation, the student will be placed on probation for a minimum of one semester and will stay on probation until either suspended or until the cumulative GPA increases to 2.000 or above.

ACADEMIC SUSPENSION

1. FIRST-TIME SUSPENSION: Student(s) on academic suspension for the first time are not eligible to take classes for one regular term (fall or spring) thereafter. Students are suspended at the end Fall or Spring, and their registration in any courses for the next regular term will automatically be cancelled. Students who are suspended may, however, enroll in Winter or Summer courses in an effort to raise their cumulative GPA. If a student who has been suspended is enrolled in Summer or Winter classes, the student will be charged for those classes unless the student drops those course(s). Any suspended student who remains in Summer or Winter classes and sufficiently improves her/his/their cumulative GPA will have her/his/their academic standing re-evaluated for possible modification.
2. SECOND-TIME SUSPENSION: Student(s) on academic suspension for the second time will not be permitted to register for or attend classes for two regular terms. Summer and Winter terms do not count as a semester for suspension purposes, and undergraduate students who are suspended may enroll in Winter or Summer courses in an effort to raise their cumulative GPA. If a student who has been suspended is enrolled in Summer or Winter classes, the student will be charged for those classes unless the student drops those course(s).

READMISSION

Students who are placed on academic suspension for the first or second time and have an interest in returning to the University after sitting out for the one or two semester period will request readmission through the Office of Transfer Admissions (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/readmission/>). Students should allow adequate time to process readmission requests (two weeks minimum).

ACADEMIC DISMISSAL

Student(s) recommended for a third academic suspension shall be dismissed and therefore ineligible to enroll in coursework at SRU for at least three years. After that time, requests for readmission can be made through the Office of Transfer Admissions (<https://nam10.safelinks.protection.outlook.com/?url=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.sru.edu%2Freadmission&data=05%7C02%7Cchristine.agostino%40sru.edu%7Caa29c6d20f6748e3df4408de7f65c208%7C86555dba073b4ff7b7d1b7%7CTWfPbGZsb3d8eyJFbXB0eU1hcGkiOnRydWU%3D&reserved=0>).

POST-BACCALAUREATE STUDENTS

The records of post-baccalaureate students with less than a 2.000 semester grade point average will be reviewed by their Dean for determination of an academic action of probation, suspension, or dismissal.

Graduate

ACADEMIC PROGRESSION POLICY - PROBATION, SUSPENSION, AND DISMISSAL

Graduate students are admitted to specific graduate programs. Probation, suspension, and dismissal actions are taken when a student has not satisfied the university policy for graduate program academic progression requirements for good standing. The action is applied to the graduate program in which the student is enrolled.

The university policy for graduate program academic progression is provided below. Some graduate programs may have different academic progression requirements for good standing, probation, suspension, and dismissal. Exceptions to the university policy for graduate program academic progression include the following programs: Doctor of Physical Therapy Program, Doctor of Occupational Therapy Program, Physician Assistant Studies Program, Doctor of Education in Special Education, and the Master's Certification Degree Programs. Information regarding the academic progression policies for these programs is provided at the end of this policy statement. Additionally, readmission policies for these programs may also be different. A student enrolled in one of the graduate programs listed above should refer to the information provided to them through the academic department in which the program is offered.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATE PROGRAM ACADEMIC PROGRESSION REQUIREMENTS

A graduate student is on academic probation whenever the cumulative grade point average for all Slippery Rock University graduate courses is less than a 3.00. Satisfactory academic standing requires a cumulative grade point average of 3.00.

If the student's cumulative GPA drops below 3.00, the student shall be placed on academic probation. A student on probation must raise the cumulative GPA to at least a 3.00 by the end of the next semester (or full summer term) of registration. A student whose academic standing is unsatisfactory (less than 3.00 cumulative GPA) for two successive terms of registration (summers are included as "terms"), shall be suspended from the graduate program by their academic dean. Academic suspension and dismissal decisions are not made during winter intercession, unless winter intercession is a requirement of the program. In some cases, the readmission term may be dependent on the academic program's course sequencing structure.

A student who is suspended from a graduate program and has met the term requirements of suspension (one or two terms) may petition the dean of the college for readmission to the graduate program in which they were enrolled by completing the Graduate Application for Readmission Form (<https://uconn.edu/forms/majors/graduate/grad-app-form>). The form is initially processed through the graduate admissions office (website) and forwarded to the appropriate dean for readmission consideration.

A graduate student who is placed on academic probation, suspension, or dismissal from a graduate program may choose to apply to another graduate program at the University.

SPECIFIC GRADUATE PROGRAM ACADEMIC PROGRESSION REQUIREMENTS

Some programs (Doctor of Physical Therapy Program, Doctor of Occupational Therapy Program, Physician Assistant Studies Program, Doctor of Education in Special Education, and the Master's of Education Certification Programs) require different academic progression standards for probation, suspension, and dismissal than listed above due to the requirements of an accreditation agency (ex. the Pennsylvania Department of Education) or other specific academic program requirements. Please refer to the resources listed below for the following programs:

Doctor of Physical Therapy (DPT) Program – Student Handbook
– Students receive a hardcopy of the DPT Handbook at orientation. The DPT Handbook and the DPT Clinical Handbook are also listed in the student portal, Exxat.

Doctor of Occupational Therapy (OTD) Program – Student Handbook
– Students receive a hardcopy of the OTD Handbook at orientation. Students are also sent an electronic copy of the OTD Handbook, on or before May 1, prior to orientation.

Physician Assistant Studies (MPAS) – Student Handbook – Students receive a hardcopy of the PA Handbook at orientation. A master copy of the PA Handbook is also located in the PA Office.

Doctor of Education in Special Education (Ed.D.) – Students receive a hardcopy of the Ed.D. Handbook at the annual meeting in May, each year. The Ed.D. Handbook is also available in the student D2L cohort shell.

Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) Program (Undergraduate)

What is an Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) Program?

An Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) bachelor's to graduate program permits accepted undergraduate students of freshman standing to declare a first and second major with the intent to complete graduate coursework that may apply to both Slippery Rock University (SRU) undergraduate and graduate programs. (Examples would include but are not limited to the Biology Pre-Physician Assistant (SRU) 3+2, Exercise Science Pre-Physical Therapy (SRU) 3+3, and Health Care Administration and Management Pre-Occupational Therapy (SRU) 3+3 programs).

What are the Provisional Graduate Admission Requirements for an Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) Program?

A student may be accepted into an Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) undergraduate program if they meet undergraduate admission criteria. Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) students must declare a first major in addition to the corresponding Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) undergraduate program (second major). (An example would include Biology-Professional (first major) and Biology-Pre-PA-SRU 3+2 (second major)).

- The Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) option is for first-semester freshmen or transfer military student only (restricted to fall-entry).
- Students must maintain the Accelerated Three-plus (3+) program's specified undergraduate GPA to continue in the Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) undergraduate program. This will be evaluated each semester and if a student's Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) GPA falls below the specified GPA, they will be removed from the Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) program and remain in the first major unless they process a "change of first major" form.

- Students must satisfy all Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) program requirements within three academic years from commencing the program.
- Students can only be enrolled in an Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) program for a maximum of three (3) years, full-time continuous enrollment (fall/spring).
- Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) programs require students to apply for the associated SRU graduate program separately from the undergraduate admission process. Admission to the SRU graduate program is not guaranteed.
- A final determination for SRU graduate program admission is independent of the undergraduate admission process and shall be in accordance with each SRU graduate program's established policies, standards, and procedures.

What are the Standards for an Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) Program?

- For SRU graduate credits to satisfy undergraduate program requirements, students must apply and be formally admitted to the respective SRU graduate program in accordance with that program's admissions criteria; then complete the required undergraduate degree coursework (a minimum of 120 credits though some programs may require more). Please refer to the Undergraduate Catalog.
- To continue in the SRU graduate program, students must meet the graduate program's academic standards. Please refer to the relevant graduate program guide.
- If the student does not meet the academic standards to progress in the SRU graduate program for courses needed to complete their undergraduate program, the undergraduate program Department Chairperson will determine which, if any, ARU graduate courses will count toward the completion of the undergraduate degree. Additionally, student must complete any unfulfilled requirements of their undergraduate major.
- Grades earned in SRU graduate courses as part of the Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) Program will be entered into the student's overall undergraduate and graduate grade point averages.
- Degree requirements at both the undergraduate and graduate levels shall adhere to academic standards set forth for respective degree programs.
- Undergraduate credits may not be applied to satisfy the requirements for the graduate degree.
- The requirement of at least 48 credits of advance coursework required for a baccalaureate degree, and at least 50 percent of coursework (excluding thesis, research, or internship hours) to complete a master's degree must still be satisfied.
- Undergraduate student in their 4th year of an Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) program are eligible for undergraduate financial aid and renewable scholarships however, they pay graduate tuition.
- Undergraduate student in their 4th year of an Accelerated Three-Plus (3+) program will not be eligible for graduate financial aid until they complete their bachelor's degree.

Admission To Degree Candidacy (Graduate)

To be admitted to degree candidacy, the applicant must maintain a minimum cumulative quality point average of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale for all graduate courses completed at Slippery Rock University, be unconditionally admitted to graduate studies, and meet all specific program admission requirements.

After being unconditionally admitted to graduate studies and meeting program requirements, a student must file an Application for Degree Candidacy if required by the department. The application must be filed after the completion of a minimum of 6 and a maximum of 12 or 18 graduate credits, depending upon departmental requirements. The Application for Degree Candidacy may be obtained from sru.edu/admissions/graduate-admissions (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/graduate-admissions/>) under graduate forms, the Office of Graduate Admissions or a graduate coordinator. It includes a program sequence planned by the student with the assistance of an adviser.

Students who have not been approved for degree candidacy and have earned 12 graduate credits (18 graduate credits for students in Counseling and Development) will not be permitted further registration until this requirement has been met. Grades earned by graduate students in undergraduate courses are not included in the graduate grade point average calculation and may not be used to meet any graduate degree requirements.

Application for Certification (Graduate)

Students who meet requirements for, and wish to obtain a Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE) certificate in School Counseling, Reading Specialist, Secondary Education, Special Education, Special Education Supervision, Principal or a Pennsylvania Department of Education endorsement in Creative Movement, Instructional Coaching, Gifted, Autism, or Online Instruction will need to apply for the appropriate credential through the PDE's Teacher Information Management System (TIMS) and pay the application fee determined by PDE. Candidates should contact their academic adviser for additional details about the process.

Applying For Graduation

Application For Degree Conferral

To be a candidate for graduation (whether or not you choose to walk in the ceremony), students must initiate an application for degree conferral. This application notifies the university of the student's intent to complete a degree.

Students must fulfill all requirements for the degree in accordance with the regulations of both their program(s) and the university. Failure to meet all graduation requirements by the end of the term in which the student applied to graduate will result in extending the student's graduation date to the end of the term in which the work or requirement is eventually completed. Failure to complete degree requirements may include but are not limited to the following: incomplete grades in any course, "X" grades in required courses, or no graduation application.

When To Apply For Graduation

A student is responsible for applying to graduate on MySRU and must submit their application by the following deadlines:

- If the student plans to complete all degree requirements by the end of the fall term, applicants must apply for graduation by October 1.

- If the student plans to complete all degree requirements by the end of the winter term, applicants must apply for graduation by October 1.
- If the student plans to complete all degree requirements by the end of the spring term, applicants must apply for graduation by March 1.
- If the student plans to complete all degree requirements by the end of the summer term, applicants must apply for graduation by June 15.

Commencement Ceremony

A commencement ceremony is held in December and May of each year.

- Participation in the December ceremony is limited to those students who will complete their degree requirements in fall or winter. To ensure the student receives ceremony tickets and for their name to be included in the program, the student must apply by October 1.
- Participation in the May ceremony is limited to those students who will complete their degree requirements in spring or summer. To ensure the student receives ceremony tickets and for their name to be included in the program, the student must apply by March 1.
- Participation in any commencement ceremony is limited to degree-seeking students.

When extenuating circumstances warrant, the Associate Provost may grant a student permission to participate in a commencement ceremony.

- Students must initiate their commencement participation request through the Participation in Graduation Ceremony Exception Form. This form is available through DocuSign found on the Forms page on the Academic Records & Registration website.

Other Items Graduating Students Need to Know

- Students who simultaneously meet all of the degree requirements for two undergraduate degrees will obtain two degrees.
- The student's transcript will list both degrees.
- The student will be issued two diplomas, one for each degree earned.
- A student who completes the requirements of more than one concentration within a single degree program (for example, a student pursuing a BFA in Art who completes all of the requirements of concentrations in Ceramics and Painting) has completed a "dual concentration" and has earned a single degree, not two degrees.
- Undergraduate diplomas bear the name of the degree (ex. Bachelor of Science), date of graduation, and Latin honors, if earned. Diplomas do not include majors or minors.
- Graduate diplomas bear the name of the degree (ex. Master of Science) and date of graduation.

Auditing Courses (Undergraduate)

Students desiring to audit courses (no credit awarded) must receive approval of their adviser. Normal registration procedures must be completed, then a form to have the grade option changed must be submitted to the Office of Academic Records and Registration. The cost of auditing courses and taking courses for credit are the same. Students may not change from an audit status to a graded status (A-F and P/NC) or vice versa after the second week of the fall and spring semesters.

Grade option deadlines vary for summer and winter sessions. Since no credit is awarded, audited courses do not meet any graduation requirements.

A student may audit a class in which they have previously received credit.

The same policy above applies; the student must complete a grade option form and submit the same no later than the second week of the fall or spring semester. The student will be charged tuition for the course, but will not earn additional credit. The student's original grade will be the grade of record and be the grade used in the student's GPA calculation.

Graduate Courses cannot be audited.

Change of Major (Undergraduate)

Forms for changing majors may be obtained from the forms link (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) on the Academic Records & Registration web page. Students are reminded that they must meet the major academic requirements that are in effect at the time they declare a new major. To change your major, you must first obtain the new department chairperson's signature.

Class Level (Undergraduate)

Undergraduate students are classified according to the number of semester credits completed, including transfer credit and credit by exam.

Class Level	Credits Earned
Senior II	105 semester credits or more
Senior I	90-104 semester credits
Junior II	75-89 semester credits
Junior I	60-74 semester credits
Sophomore II	45-59 semester credits
Sophomore I	30-44 semester credits
Freshman II	15-29 semester credits
Freshman I	0-14 semester credits

Class level questions are to be directed to the Office of Academic Records and Registration.

Comprehensive Examinations (Graduate)

A comprehensive examination or evaluation may be required of candidates in accordance with policies determined by the student's major department or school. The comprehensive examination or evaluation must be completed by the deadlines set by the department.

Course Drop, Add, Withdrawal

Open fall and spring full-semester courses may be added on MySRU during the first 8 days (including weekends/excluding holidays) of classes. Courses dropped during the first 8 days (including weekends/excluding holidays) of the semester will not be recorded on students' permanent records. During the fall and spring semesters, students may not drop their last class on My SRU and should contact the Office of Academic Records and Registration for assistance. Students may withdraw from fall and spring full-semester classes with a grade of "W" between the second and tenth weeks of the semester. Students will not be permitted to withdraw from full semester classes after the tenth week and will be held accountable and awarded a final grade for all coursework, exams and other work assigned during the final five weeks of the semester. For fall and spring courses meeting fewer than 15 weeks, and all summer and winter courses, the withdrawal deadline is two-thirds of the way through the course's beginning and ending dates.

Students desiring to add closed sections or courses for which they lack the appropriate pre/corequisites will have to secure the permission of the course's professor.

Students may use MySRU or drop/add forms (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) to drop classes anytime after they have registered until the end of the eighth day of the fall or spring semesters (except for Basic Requirement / The Rock / Beginning Algebra). After the eighth day of the semester, students must use the DocuSign withdrawal form (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>), which require the signature of the professor of the course and the student's adviser.

Students who for exceptional reasons, are permitted to drop, add, or withdraw from classes after the university's stated deadlines must receive their respective dean's approval.

Failure to withdraw officially from a course may result in the assignment of a grade of "F".

Course Information (Graduate)

Course Levels

500-Level Courses

A maximum of twelve 500-level course credits may be counted toward master's degree requirements. Some departments/programs may choose to allow less than the maximum. Courses numbered below 500 do not bear graduate credit and may not be used toward the completion of a master's degree.

600-Level Courses

Courses numbered 600 and above are for graduate credit only.

Undergraduate students requesting special permission to take graduate classes may not count the credit towards the completion of an undergraduate degree.

Dual-Numbered Courses

Graduate credit may not be earned in a dual-numbered course if undergraduate credit was earned in a course with the same title (some exceptions apply).

Student Load

Nine to 12 semester hours are usually considered a normal load for full-time graduate students. Students who wish to carry more than 15 semester hours of credit in the fall, spring, or summer terms require authorization from their graduate coordinator. Students may not register for more than 7 credits during the winter session. No graduate assistant is permitted a tuition waiver for more than 9 graduate credits per semester, depending upon the major.

Workshops

A maximum of six semester hours of credit earned in graduate workshops may be applied to degree requirements.

Course Levels

The following course numbering system is used:

- 100-199 are freshman-level courses
- 200-299 are sophomore-level courses
- 300-399 are junior-level courses
- 400-499 are senior-level courses
- 500-899 are graduate level courses

Registration into the course levels is dependent on the following:

- Undergraduate students must have earned at least 45 credits before enrolling in 300+- level courses.
- Juniors and seniors having a 3.000 cumulative grade point average may enroll in 500-level graduate courses for undergraduate credit with approval of their dean. See Academic Records Forms page (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) for form.
- Only seniors, with their dean's permission, are permitted to register for graduate credit in 500 and 600-level graduate courses. See Academic Records Forms page (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) for form.
- Post-baccalaureate students may take 500-level courses for undergraduate credit.
- Post-baccalaureate students may take, with the permission of the dean of their college, 500 or 600 level courses for graduate credit. See Academic Records Forms page (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) for form.
- 600-899 level courses may not be taken for undergraduate credit.
- Only students enrolled in 4+ programs may count up to six graduate credits toward their undergraduate degree.
- 700+ level courses are reserved for graduate students only.

Credit By Examination (Undergraduate)

Students may qualify to earn a maximum of 45 credits by making satisfactory scores on tests administered through special examination programs, and thereby earn credit or be exempt from certain college courses. Students may not repeat a course by using Credit by Examination. Credits earned by examination may not be used as part of the students' final 30 credits to be earned at the university. For further information please go to the Office of Academic Records and Registration Credits by Exam web page (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/credit-by-examination/>).

- An AP course itself does not guarantee college-level equivalencies. Students must take and successfully pass the AP exam for the appropriate course, with a score of 3 or higher, to receive university credit. Exam scores determine appropriate placement of coursework toward degree requirements. Some academic departments require a score of 4 or 5 to earn major-specific equivalencies. An official AP score report will need to be sent from College Board to Slippery Rock University. For a preview of how AP exams are accepted at SRU, click on AP Course Equivalencies (<https://www.sru.edu/documents/admissions/transfer/APEquivalencyChart.pdf>).
- Departments at the university offer credit by examination for some courses. Approval for these tests should be secured from the faculty adviser, instructor, and appropriate departmental chairperson. A "Credit by Exam" form is available in the Office of Academic Records and Registration for students wishing to avail themselves of the university's Credit by Exam program.

- The College Level Examination Program (CLEP) is administered by The College Board. This program is open to all students who meet the eligibility criteria. Under the program, students who feel their knowledge of certain subjects is extensive may elect to take the CLEP exams, which are of two types: general and subject. The general examinations are designed to reflect the learning that ordinarily takes place in the students' first two years of college. The subject examinations are designed to reflect the more specific knowledge which students may have acquired. General examinations each carry 6 credits. Subject examinations each carry 3-4 credits. Upon successfully passing an examination with a score at or above the American Council on Education's recommended minimum score, students will receive credit for the corresponding course(s), which permits registration in more advanced courses. Information on CLEP is available from the Office of Academic Records and Registration and at the following website: www.collegeboard.com/clep (<http://www.collegeboard.com/clep/>)
- The university also awards credit for a limited number of Excelsior College, ACT (PEP: Regents College) exams and DSST exams offered by the Armed Services. Students may contact the Office of Academic Records and Registration for a list of acceptable Excelsior, PEP and DSST exams.

Credit For Military Service (Undergraduate)

Slippery Rock University awards undergraduate college credit for military education and occupational training based on the recommendation of the American Council on Education (ACE), which is outlined in the ACE Military Guide (<https://www.acenet.edu/Programs-Services/Pages/Credit-Transcripts/military-guide-online.aspx>).

Students will be considered for military credit by forwarding a Joint Services Transcript (JST) or a transcript from the Community College of the Air Force (CCAF) to the Transfer Admissions Office at the University.

Graduate students, please see the Graduate Student Transfer Credit Policy (p. 1210) in the catalog.

Credit Hour

All courses offered for credit at Slippery Rock University (SRU) toward the completion of a degree and/or certificates are in line with applicable state and federal regulations related to the assignment of credit hours. The following credit hour policy is based on the guidelines set forth by the PASSHE Board of Governors Policies, System Academic and Financial Procedures and Data Collection Definitions: Reference Number, SA-040. PASSHE Policy: Policy 1990-06-A: Academic Degrees, 1985-01-A: Requirements for Initiation or Change of Credit-Based Academic Programs, Policy 1999-01: The Academic Passport and Student Transfer Policy. (http://www.passhe.edu/inside/policies/BOG_Policies/Policy%201990-06-A.pdf)

This policy will be reviewed every three years to ensure continued relevance and alignment with University goals by the Academic Policy Review Committee.

Credit Hour Assignment

Slippery Rock University's academic year is divided into Fall and Spring semesters of approximately 15 weeks each. Summer, winter and special accelerated sessions may vary in length. A credit hour at Slippery Rock University reflects the Carnegie unit, what has served as the traditional unit of measure in higher education. One semester credit is equivalent to one hour (50 minutes) of faculty instruction one time per week for 14 weeks (for a total of no less than 700 minutes) along with 120 minutes for the final examination, and a minimum of two hours of student preparation time outside of the classroom each week per credit hour. A typical 3 credit hour course will meet 2,220 minutes.

An equivalent amount of work is required for lectures, laboratory work, internships, practicum, studio work, accelerated, hybrid and online education, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours. Departments may determine contact time over the minimum requirements as needed to achieve student learning goals and maintain compliance with programmatic accreditation bodies.

The Institution's University Curriculum Committee (UCC) provides a systematic review, evaluation, and change of the curriculum at the university level, in compliance with the APSCUF Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA). Assignment of credit hours for courses are determined by the faculty and program administrators based on expertise, learning objectives, and programmatic accreditation requirements. UCC is charged with review of all courses and curricula. Reviewed courses are sent to the Office of the Provost and once approved are sent to the Office of Academic Records and Registration for inclusion in the course catalogs. Academic Records reviews each schedule course to ensure that credit hours assigned meet the minimum number of minutes required. Discrepancies are brought to the attention of the appropriate Academic Dean/Department for correction or clarification.

Credit Hour Assignment by Course Type

Lecture and Seminar—courses with multiple students that meet to engage students in various forms of group instruction. These courses are generally awarded 1-3 credit hours and meet for 700 minutes (plus 120 minutes final exam time, for a total of 820 minutes) and 2100 minutes (plus 120 minutes final exam time, for a total of 2220 minutes).

Laboratory—1 credit science labs included in the Liberal Studies requirement meet for a minimum of 75 minutes per week. Within the sciences labs associated with majors meet for a minimum of 110 minutes per week. Departments/programs may set higher standards in accordance with professional organization and accreditation bodies.

Internship, Practicum, Field Experience, & Student Teaching—3-12 credits hours with the minimum standard of 40 clock hours per credit hours.

Studio and Lessons—Departments may Departments/programs may set standards in accordance with professional organization and accreditation bodies.

- Visual art studio courses award one credit hour for a minimum of one hour and fifty-five minutes of scheduled supervised studio work. A 3 credit studio class would meet for a minimum of 4,620 minutes of class time with a 120 minute final exam/experience for a total of 4,740 minutes during a 15 week semester.
- Music lecture/seminar courses are awarded 3 credits consistent with the above stated minimum of 2,220 minutes per 15 week semester inclusive of the 120 minute final exam/experience.

- Music courses awarding 2 credits meet for a minimum of 1,520 minutes per 15 week semester inclusive of the 120 minute final exam/experience. Music courses awarding 1 credit (ex. Class Piano) meet for a minimum of 1,520 minutes inclusive of the 120 minute final exam/experience. Performing ensembles meet for differing lengths of time, ensembles are awarded one credit meet for a minimum of 1,470 minutes inclusive of the final exam/experience.
- Applied Instruction in Music (lessons) are awarded one credit, and students receive ½ hour weekly instruction per week, for a total of seven individual instructional hours during a 15 week semester. This contact is in addition to the time spent in studio and master classes. Music performance majors are awarded three credits, and students receive one hour of weekly instruction per week, for a total of 15 individual instruction hours during a 15 week semester.

Independent Study/Individualized Instruction – Courses delivered through these methods are required to meet the same credit hour guidelines and learning outcomes as traditional course delivery options.

Accelerated Courses – Any courses offered outside of a standard 15 week semester with equivalent learning outcomes and course content must meet an equal minimum amount of instructional and out of class student work to as the examples above within an accelerated time frame.

Hybrid/Blended Courses – Any courses offered in a blended format with a minimum of 1 on-site face-to-face class sessions and a minimum of one online session, both with direct faculty contact. In all instances, these courses must meet the total amount of instructional and out of class student work as courses offered through traditional delivery methods.

Online Courses – Any courses offered exclusively online without any face-to-face meetings. These courses have the same learning outcomes and substantive components with an alternative delivery method. Contact time is satisfied through a variety of online interactions and assignments. In all instances, these courses have learning outcomes that meet the total amount of instructional and out of class student work time as courses offered through traditional delivery methods.

Out of Class Student Expectations – For each credit hour earned, students should expect to spend a minimum of 100-150 minutes preparing/studying outside of class.

Transfer Credits - Transfer credits are evaluated by university administrators following the guidelines of the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, the Pennsylvania State System Board of Governors and program specific accreditation body requirements. Transfer policies (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/transfer-and-military-admissions/transfer-process/>) and transfer course equivalencies (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/transfer-and-military-admissions/transfer-credit-evaluation/>) are detailed on the university web site.

Instructional Contact Time – The measure of instructional contact time may be adjusted to reflect different formats of study or length of academic sessions as per the APSCUF CBA. These adjustments are reflective of the intended student learning outcomes and established equivalencies of the semester credit hour set by the institution and reasonably reflect the requirements established by MSCHE.

Credit Hour Definition Guidelines

Slippery Rock's policy also aligns with the following definitions and guidelines from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the US Department of Education, and the Middle States Commission on Higher Education Accreditation.

United States Department of Education (USDE)

The definition as published in the regulations is as follows:

"Credit Hour. Except as provided in 34 CFR 668.8(k) and (l), a credit hour is an amount of work represented in intended learning outcomes and verified by evidence of student achievement that is an institutionally established equivalency that reasonably approximates not less than –

1. One hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours of out of class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for one semester or trimester hour of credit, or ten to twelve weeks for one quarter hour of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or
2. At least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraph (1) of this definition for other academic activities as established by the institution including laboratory work, internships, practicum, studio work, and other academic work leading to the award of credit hours."

Middle States Commission on Higher Education Accreditation (MSCHE)

The Commission's Requirements of Affiliation stipulate that accredited institutions comply with all Federal, state, and other relevant government policies, regulations, and requirements, which generally include requirements and expectations for degrees. The Commission's accreditation standards, particularly Standards 11 (Educational Offerings) and 14 (Assessment of Student Learning), require evidence of:

- academic study of sufficient content, breadth, and length;
- levels of rigor appropriate to the programs or degrees offered;
- statements of expected student learning outcomes that are consonant with the standards of higher education and of the relevant disciplines;
- direct evidence of student learning; and
- assessment results that provide sufficient, convincing evidence that students are achieving key institutional and program learning outcomes.

MSCHE Credit Hour Policy

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania Code, Title 22, Subpart C, & 31.21

1. The curricula must provide the opportunity for the achievement of the stated objectives of the institution, as related to its statement of philosophy and mission, and must be structured in a group of coherent, integrated degree programs.
2. Degree requirements stated in this section may be stated in terms of semester credit hours or quarter credit hours, as determined by the institution and conforming to generally accepted academic practices. General education, as defined in this section, refers to the curricular inclusion of humanities, arts, communications, social sciences, mathematics, technology and science courses in support of the mission of the institution. A semester credit hour represents a unit of curricular material that normally can be taught in a minimum of 14 hours of classroom instruction, plus appropriate outside preparation or the equivalent as determined by the faculty. A quarter credit hour represents a unit of curricular material that normally can be taught in a minimum of 10 hours of classroom instruction, plus appropriate outside preparation or the equivalent as determined by the faculty.

- a. An associate degree exclusive of a specialized associate degree must require the satisfactory completion of a minimum of 60 semester credit hours, which includes a minimum of 20 semester credit hours of general education, or a minimum of 90 quarter credit hours, which must include a minimum of 30 quarter credit hours of general education.
- b. A specialized associate degree must require the satisfactory completion of at least 60 semester credit hours or a minimum of 1,500 clock hours or a Ch. 31 GENERAL PROVISIONS 22 § 31.21 31-13 (366297) No. 464 Jul. 13 a minimum of 90 quarter credit hours. At least 70%, but no more than 80%, of the program must consist of specialized instruction that bears directly upon the employment objectives of the program; and at least 20% of the program must consist of general education.
- c. A baccalaureate degree must require the satisfactory completion of a minimum of 120 semester credit hours or a minimum of 180 quarter credits. Of the total baccalaureate degree program course requirements, at least 40 semester credit hours or 60 quarter credit hours must be in general education and represent a broad spectrum of disciplines in general education.
- d. A first professional degree, except those for the preparation of professional educators, must require the satisfactory completion of a minimum of 60 semester credit hours or 90 quarter credit hours for admission to the degree program and the satisfactory completion of a total minimum of 150 semester credit hours or 225 quarter credit hours for the program. Professional educator preparation programs must comply with Chapter 354 (relating to preparation of professional educators).
- e. A master's degree must require the satisfactory completion of a minimum of 30 semester credit hours or 45 quarter credit hours beyond the baccalaureate level.
- f. The number of semester or quarter credit hours for a degree beyond a first professional or master's degree shall be determined by the faculty and reflect the recommendations of professional associations or National learned societies.
 - i. An institution may enter into agreements with other institutions, individuals or other providers of educational services to provide all or part of certain programs on behalf of the institution. A course offered for institutional credit shall be operated directly by or under the control of the institution granting the credit.
 - ii. To assure academic integrity, an institution shall provide students in a distance education program access to academic and student services, including textbooks, study guides, library and other learning resources, personal interaction with faculty, tutors or other educational personnel by computer, telephone, mail or face-to-face meetings. The institution shall assure integrity of student work and provide opportunity for student assessment. These programs must comply with the regulations that apply to resident-based programs as prescribed in this chapter and Chapters 35, 36, 40 and 42 and conform to generally accepted academic practices for delivery of instruction through distance education.

Dean's List (Undergraduate)

Undergraduate students who earn a semester grade point average of 3.5 or higher on a schedule of at least 12 newly earned credits toward the completion of an undergraduate degree will achieve the Dean's List as long as their cumulative GPA is at least 2.0. Student teachers may achieve Dean's List status if they have earned 90 or more credits and have a cumulative GPA of 3.50 or higher at the end of the semester in which they student taught. P/NC and P/F courses will not be computed into the 12 credit-hour minimum. During the Academic honors Convocation, these students will be formally presented to the university community. There is no Dean's List during the summer or winter sessions. Post-baccalaureate and graduate students are not eligible for the Dean's List.

Degree/Certificate Requirements Undergraduate

It is the students' responsibility to complete all degree/certificate requirements and to know the university's requirements for graduation. This is not the responsibility of the students' advisers.

Students must meet all graduation requirements by the official end of the semester in which they have applied to graduate. Failure to do so (Incomplete grades in any course or "X" grades in required courses, no application, etc.) will result in the updating of the students' graduation date to the end of the term/year the work is eventually completed.

Collaborative programs will be identified such that residency can be met consistent with the collaborative agreement.

Students enrolled in summer internships will have their graduation date backdated to the end of summer if they complete their internships and are graded by September 30. Students not meeting this deadline will be graduated in the following December, or later, upon completion of graduation requirements.

Graduate

Completion of a graduate degree requires the following: unconditional admission to graduate studies, admission to degree candidacy, completion of the comprehensive examination and/or research requirement, completion of residency/practicum requirements if appropriate, and completion of the requisite semester hours of credit and GPA and course work. Requirements for some programs are different than the above. Students should check with the department or the Office of Graduate Admissions for specific requirements.

- Admission to Degree Candidacy (p. 1187)
- Comprehensive Examinations (p. 1189)
- Research Requirements (p. 1206)
- Total Semester Hours of Credit and GPA (p. 1209)
- Application for Graduation (p. 1188)
- Application for Certification (p. 1188)

Dissertation (Graduate)

The final copy of a student's dissertation must be submitted in a PDF Format to Bailey Library. To do so, use the Submission Form (link below) to submit your dissertation, which will be added to the institutional repository, with a record added to the library catalog.

Please contact rockarchives@sru.edu with any questions or concerns regarding the submission process.

Students should consult with their faculty adviser/graduate coordinator for official thesis style guides. Approval code from the Institutional Review Board for the Protection of Human Subjects (IRB-PHS) is required before data collection involving human subjects may begin. Research protocol guidelines may be obtained from the chair of the IRB-PHS.

Earning 2 Degrees or 2 Majors (Undergraduate)

TWO DEGREES

Undergraduate students seeking to complete a second baccalaureate degree will be required to complete at least 150 credits and the academic requirements of both degrees to earn two baccalaureate degrees at the same commencement ceremony. Students need only complete general education requirements for the first degree. Students may earn two different degrees (ex. B.A. and B.S.) or students may earn two of the same degree (ex. B.S. and B.S.).

TWO MAJORS

Undergraduate students may still earn two majors and one degree. To earn two majors, students must complete at least 120 credits and all the academic requirements of both majors.

Students who declare two majors will have the option to choose which of the major programs will be listed as the first major and which will be the second major. The appropriate declaration of major forms will be completed and signed by the major program departments regardless of the order of the majors. Students should check with their advisor(s) prior to deciding the order of the two majors as this may impact Liberal Studies/Rock Studies requirements. It is the responsibility of the respective departments to assign the student a first major advisor and a second major advisor. (6/30/2020)

MODERN LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY

Students wishing to earn a Bachelor of Arts degree, whether it is associated with their first or second major, must complete the university's modern language proficiency requirement (p. 1201) at or above the 103 level.

Exceptions to this policy must be approved by the student's chairperson and dean of the second degree.

Enrollment Status

Time status (also referred to as enrollment status) is determined by the attempted credits registered for the term.

Undergraduate

Fall/Spring

Enrollment Status	Credits
Full-time	12.00+ credit hours
Three-quarter time	9.00 to 11.99 credit hours
Half-time	6.00 to 8.99 credits hours
Less than half-time	5.99 credits and below

Summer

Enrollment Status	Credits
Full-time	12.00+ credit hours
Three-quarter time	9.00 to 11.99 credit hours
Half-time	6.00 to 8.99 credits hours
Less than half-time	5.99 credits and below

Graduate

Final Examinations

At the end of each semester, all final examinations are to be administered during the time stipulated in the final examination schedule (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/registration-information-and-class-final-exam-schedules/>), which is available online. The decision to give a final examination is the prerogative of the faculty member. If a final examination is to be given, the examination is to be administered according to the time indicated in the examination schedule. Classes will meet during the scheduled examination time if no examinations are given. The appropriate dean must approve any exception to this policy.

Students with three or more examinations on the same day or two examinations scheduled at the same time may discuss having one of the examinations rescheduled by consulting with the student's instructors. Make up examinations should be scheduled at a mutually convenient time for the faculty member and the student or during one of the final examination conflict timeframes as noted on the final examination schedule.

Four-Plus (4+) Program (Undergraduate)

What is a Four-Plus (4+) Program?

A Four-Plus (4+) program allows qualified (see Four-Plus (4+) Program Standards below) undergraduate students with Senior standing to take graduate coursework that will apply to both undergraduate and graduate degrees, per the programs' articulations. (An example would be an Accounting undergraduate accelerating into an MBA with a Concentration in Accounting program by taking graduate courses in the Senior year that count as earned credits in both the SRU undergraduate and graduate programs.)

What are the Provisional Graduate Admission Requirements for a Four-Plus (4+) Program?

A student must be provisionally accepted into an SRU graduate program related to the SRU graduate coursework for credits to count in both the undergraduate and graduate programs.

Provisional graduate admission is granted to qualifying students with Senior status; however, students apply the semester prior to taking graduate courses (after completing a minimum of 74 undergraduate credits).

Provisional admission does not guarantee formal admittance into the SRU graduate program upon completion of the undergraduate degree. To be eligible for formal acceptance into an SRU graduate program, the student will:

- Successfully meet all requirements of their undergraduate program(s);
- Meet all SRU graduate program admission requirements.

A final determination for graduate program admission shall be in accordance with each SRU graduate program's established policies, standards, and procedures.

At any given time, undergraduate students may only take graduate courses in one SRU graduate program.

Transfer students must have earned a minimum of 12 undergraduate credits from Slippery Rock University prior to seeking provisional graduate admission.

What are Four-Plus (4+) Program Standards?

- A student must be of Senior standing and have earned a minimum cumulative 3.0 GPA before taking SRU graduate courses. If the intended graduate program requires a higher GPA, the student must meet the higher GPA before taking graduate courses.
- A maximum of 6 credits may count toward both programs. (For example, completing both an SRU undergraduate degree program requiring 120 credits and an SRU graduate degree program requiring 30 credits could be accomplished with a combined total of 144 credits).
- As an undergraduate, a combined total of 6 graduate credits may be earned prior to formal admission as a graduate-level student in both the Four-Plus (4+) and Senior Undergraduate Students Earning Graduate Credit Policies.

- Undergraduate students may register for no more than 6#SRU#graduate credits in any one term.
- SRU graduate courses in a Four-Plus (4+) program may fulfill undergraduate requirements as:
 - dual-listed courses (taught simultaneously to both undergraduates and graduates),
 - required undergraduate major courses,
 - elective undergraduate major courses.
- All prerequisites for the intended SRU graduate courses must be satisfied prior to taking those graduate courses.
- Grades earned in#SRU#graduate courses as part of the#Four-Plus (4+)#program will be entered into the student's overall undergraduate and graduate grade point averages.
- SRU#Undergraduate and graduate degree requirements shall adhere to academic standards set forth for both independent degree#programs for all students in the respective programs.
- The#total#number of credits required for both the SRU undergraduate and graduate degrees can be reduced by the number of graduate credits used to satisfy requirements for the undergraduate degree.
- Undergraduate#courses#may#not#satisfy#requirements#for#the#SRU#graduate degree.
- At least 48 credits of advanced coursework are required for a baccalaureate degree. Graduate coursework used to satisfy the requirements of the Four-Plus (4+) program may be used toward the advanced coursework requirement.
- At least 50 percent of the Master's Degree coursework (excluding thesis, research, or internship hours) must be completed at Slippery Rock University.
- If a student is not formally admitted or chooses not to enroll in the respective graduate program, any earned graduate coursework through the Four Plus (4+) program will continue to count toward the minimum credit requirement of the undergraduate degree program.
- Eligible graduate coursework taken by undergraduate students enrolled in the#Four-Plus (4+)#program will be charged at the undergraduate tuition rate and may be eligible for undergraduate financial aid and scholarships. Once the undergraduate degree is conferred and the student is considered a graduate student, students will be charged the graduate tuition rate and may be eligible for graduate financial aid and scholarships.

Students may be eligible for undergraduate or graduate financial aid,#in accordance with federal regulations;#all students#within#each program must be charged in the same#fashion.

Freshman Cohort and Student Athlete Graduation Rate (Undergraduate)

In accordance with the Students Right to Know and Campus Security Act (PL 101-542) as amended by the Higher Education Technical Amendments of 1991 (PL 102-26), Slippery Rock University will publish the graduation rate of its first time, full-time degree seeking undergraduates at the university's Student Consumer website. (<https://www.sru.edu/students/student-consumer-information/>)

General Education Requirements (Undergraduate)

All degree seeking student must satisfy requirements of the general education program in effect at the time they first entered the university or when they are readmitted. For more information, students should refer to the appropriate catalog:

- Liberal Studies;
- Rock Studies 1; or
- Rock Studies 2.

General education requirements provide essential knowledge, skills, dispositions and perspectives should be completed as early as possible in a student's undergraduate years (ideally before the completion of 45 credits). If a student earns an NC in The Rock/Basic Requirement courses (those graded A, B, C, or NC), the University's continuous registration policy requires that the student repeat the course during their next semester of enrollment if seats are available.

Grade Appeal

PROCEDURE FOR FILING GRADE APPEAL ACADEMIC DUE PROCESS PROCEDURES

The purpose of the following procedure is to provide students with a system by which to grieve complaints of alleged academic injustice(s) relating to a final grade and/or professional responsibilities.

Students who believe that their final course grade reflect unsubstantiated academic evaluation may initiate and pursue a grade change appeal in accordance with provisions of this document. At the same time, all academic rights and privileges of faculty members are to be honored in this process, which includes careful review of the course syllabus. Changes in final course grades will occur only when, as a result of this grade appeal process, there is clear evidence of unsubstantiated academic evaluation. Because the grade process involves the instructor's judgment of the academic performance of a student the only issue under consideration in the grade appeal process is whether or not the student can present clear evidence that the assignment of the grade was based on factors other than the academic judgment of the instructor.

Some examples of the basis for a legitimate disagreement could include, but not be limited to prejudiced, capricious, or unsubstantiated academic evaluation by the instructor:

1. The instructor did not inform the student of the basis for calculation of grades.
2. The instructor did not calculate the student's grade in accordance with the instructor's stated policy for calculating grades.
3. Significant and unwarranted deviation from grading procedures and course outlines set at the beginning of the course (ordinarily during the first week of the course) or a grade assigned arbitrarily and capriciously on the basis of whim, impulse or caprice.
4. There is an error in the computation of the grade that was not corrected.
5. The student, through no fault of his or her own, was not provided with the same opportunity to complete the requirements for the course in terms, for example, of time, access to materials, or access to the instructor as the other students.

A student may not claim arbitrariness and capriciousness if he/she disagrees with the subjective professional evaluation of the instructor.

Informal Appeal Procedure

1. The student must discuss the final course grade, grading practices and assignments with the instructor who gave the final grade no later than 10 working days after to beginning of the semester (not summer/winter) following the issuance of the grade. This discussion may eliminate any misunderstandings over the assignment of the grade as relates to the course syllabus. This discussion must occur before the student may file a formal appeal.
2. If the faculty member finds in the student's favor, a grade change form is submitted with signatures and the appeal process is resolved.

If a student and instructor fail to resolve the grade dispute through informal means the student may request a formal grade appeal process by completing a "Final Grade Appeal Form."

Formal Appeal Procedure

Step One

The student must complete and submit the "student" portion of the Final Grade Appeal Form to the course instructor no later than 15 working days after the beginning of the semester following the issuance of the final grade. The summer term does not constitute a semester.

The student must retain a copy of the Final Grade Appeal Form for his/her records and send a copy to the department chairperson (or substitute) of the department in which the course is housed. The chairperson of the department evaluation committee shall substitute for the department chairperson IF the department chairperson was the instructor of the course in which the grade is being appealed.

Step Two

The department chairperson (or substitute) notifies the instructor in writing that chairperson is aware that the instructor has received a grade appeal.

If the instructor decides that the final grade is correct, he/she must complete the "instructor" portion of the Final Grade Appeal Form, and return it to the student and send a copy to the chairperson (or substitute) within 10 working days of receipt of the student's appeal.

If an instructor fails to respond within the allotted time, the appeal shall move to step 3 below.

If a faculty member whose grade(s) are being appealed is no longer employed by the university or is unavailable due to a sabbatical, sick leave, or other reasons during the time period allotted for the appeal process, the appeal should be directed to the chair of the department (or substitute) for review.

Step Three

If the student wishes to appeal further, he/she must submit the original Final Grade Appeal Form (or copy if the instructor fails to respond as described in step 2 above) to the department chairperson (or substitute) and the college dean. This appeal must be submitted within 10 working days of the dated instructor's response, or if the instructor does not respond, within 15 working days after the appeal was originally filed with the instructor.

The department chairperson (or substitute) will review the appeal within 10 working days.

Before the department chairperson (or substitute) determines if the student's complaint provides evidence that the instructor's assignment of the grade was based on factors other than the academic judgment of the instructor he/she will review the appeal with the instructor. The chairperson (or substitute) may also conduct whatever informal investigation seems necessary and should attempt to achieve a negotiated settlement.

1. When Chair Agrees Grade Is Correct

If the department chairperson (or substitute) determines the student's evidence does not meet the criteria for a grade appeal, the chairperson (or substitute) will forward his/her decision on the grade appeal to the instructor, student and college dean.

2. When Chair Disagrees that Grade is Correct

If the department chairperson (or substitute) determines the student's evidence does meet the criteria for a grade appeal, he/she will offer an explanation on the Final Grade Appeal Form and provide a copy to the instructor.

The instructor must then indicate on the Final Grade Appeal Form whether he/she agrees or disagrees with the chairperson's recommendation, signs and returns the Final Grade Appeal Form to the chairperson within 5 working days.

- a. If the instructor amends the grade, a signed grade change form is submitted and the grade appeal is ended.
- b. If the instructor does not agree to amend the grade or fails to respond in the allotted time, the chairperson (or substitute) submits the Final Grade Appeal Form to the college dean, student, and instructor with his/her recommendation within 5 working days.

Step Four

If the dean, upon review of the chairperson's recommendation, also determines the student's evidence does not meet the criteria for a grade appeal, the dean will complete and return the Grade Appeal Form to the student with a copy to the instructor and chairperson (or substitute) within 5 working days. The grade appeal process ends.

If the dean, upon review of the chairperson's recommendation, determines that the evidence is unclear or the student's evidence does meet the criteria for a grade appeal, the dean shall initiate a meeting with the faculty member. The dean shall review the appeal, can hear evidence by each side, and may collect further evidence as needed.

If agreement cannot be reached, the dean will forward the Final Grade Appeal Form to the Provost within 20 working days, with his/her recommendation that the grade appeal be referred to a Grade Appeal Board. The dean also forwards a copy of the Final Grade Appeal Form to the student, instructor, and chairperson.

In each of the above statements, the chairperson of the department evaluation committee shall substitute for the department chairperson if the department chairperson was the instructor of the course in which the grade is being appealed. Should the chair of the evaluation committee not be available, APSCUF will be consulted in the process of choosing a substitute.

Step Five

1. Composition of the Grade Appeal Board

- a. Three faculty selected by APSCUF. One from the academic department in which the course is taught. Not the instructor.

- b. Two managers selected by the provost. One to be the dean of the college in which the course was taught.
- c. One student selected by Student Government Association. A senior outside the department in which the course is taught.

Normally, each Grade Appeal Board will be appointed to hear one appeal.

Those responsible for recommending board members should be sensitive to race and gender composition.

The Provost will appoint each board and chairperson within the parameters above.

2. Grade Appeal Board Procedures

Once the appeal board has been established, the appointed chairperson of the committee will contact board members, the faculty member, and the student bringing forth the appeal to determine a date to convene the board (within 20 working days) and send them a letter confirming the date and place of the meeting.

At this point, all paperwork and collected evidence will be copied and provided to the members of the appeal board committee in sealed, confidential envelopes. This paperwork and evidence will be assembled by the dean of the college involved in the appeal, reviewed and brought by appeal board members to the appeal meeting. The chair will collect the copies at the end of the meeting.

The procedure for the appeal meeting is as follows:

- a. The chairperson of the Grade Appeal Board will call the meeting to order and review procedure.
- b. The student will have 10 minutes to present his/her reason for the appeal.
- c. The faculty member will then have 10 minutes to explain why he/she feels there is no basis for the appeal.
- d. The committee member can then ask questions of the student and/or faculty member to clarify any points.
- e. The faculty member and the student are excused and told they will be notified of the decision by letter.
- f. The committee discusses and reaches a recommendation by majority vote.
- g. The chairperson will notify the President of the University of the recommendation of the committee by memo. The chairperson will notify the student and faculty member of the president's decision by letter. The letter will be copied to the Department Chair and Dean.

Step Six

Students who appeal a grade to a Grade Appeal Board are responsible for maintaining all written materials relevant to the appeal, such as papers, examinations, and completed assignments. Further, the appeals board must have access to appropriate documentation and academic records pertaining to the course grade in question. After the appeals process is complete, the only record to be maintained will be the student's final grade.

Each appeals board will make its recommendation to the university president, who may accept or reject the recommendation. Since the university has the power and duty to direct the activities of the institution, nothing in this policy should be construed as to diminish that authority in any way.

Grade Change

Once a grade has been posted, it can only be changed by the professor who originally awarded the grade. If the professor is no longer employed by the university or is not available for some other reason, the request for a grade change should be discussed with the department chairperson. Grade changes must be processed on a grade change form and must be approved by the professor and the chairperson of the department in which the course was offered. In addition to the approval of the instructor and chair, changing a grade of drop or withdraw requires the approval of the dean of the college in which the course was offered.

Grade Release

Students' midterm grades and final grades are available on MySRU.

In accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/policies-regulations-and-catalogs/>) grades will not be released to a third party (including parents) without the authorization of the student. Students may authorize the release of grades to third parties by authorizing such on MySRU.

Grading Procedures and Policies

Instructors are to inform their students in writing during the first week of classes of their grading procedures and policies, especially explaining how final grades are calculated.

Grading System Undergraduate

Grade Symbol	Description	Quality Points
A	Excellent	4
B	Good	3
C	Satisfactory	2
D	Poor	1
F	Failure	0
I	Incomplete	0
P	Pass	0
NC	No Credit	0
AU	Audit	0
W	Withdrawal	0
X	No grade given	0

GRADE POINT AVERAGE

Grade points for a single course are calculated by multiplying the points assigned the letter grade (A = 4, B = 3, C = 2, D = 1, F = 0) by the number of credits of the course. Total grade points are calculated by adding the grade points earned in each course. The grade point average (GPA) is computed by dividing the total grade points earned by the total number of credits attempted, (repeated courses are counted only once). Grades earned in courses taken at other colleges for transfer are not computed in the grade point average at Slippery Rock University unless the courses were taken with Slippery Rock University's approval as a "Visiting Student" or "Distance Education Student" at another PA State System of Higher Education university. Further explanation concerning the calculation of the GPA may be directed to the student's academic adviser, the Office of Exploratory Studies & Academic Progress or the Office of Academic Records and Registration.

Graduate

Grade Symbol	Description	Quality Points
A	High quality graduate work	4
B	Satisfactory graduate work	3
C	Acceptable graduate work (cumulative grade average must be at least 3.000). Some departments will not consider a "C" as an acceptable grade.	2
D	Unacceptable graduate work*	1
F	Failure*	0
I	Incomplete (becomes an "F" if not completed by faculty deadline. If no earlier deadline is set by the professor, all incompletes must be completed within 12 months, except for thesis and dissertation, or they will be changed to an "F".)
ID	Incomplete (used for dissertation). Does not automatically convert to an "F."	0
IT	Incomplete (used for thesis). Does not automatically convert to an "F."
W	Withdrawal	0
P	Passing (In all programs except Physical Therapy, this is equivalent to a letter grade of "C" or better. In Physical Therapy, it is equivalent to a "B" or better.)	0
X	No grade given (becomes an "F" if not removed by the end of the student's next semester of enrollment)

* Credits earned with less than a "C" grade cannot be accepted as satisfying any of the requirements for the master's degree.

These grade symbols are translated into grade points as follows: each semester hour of credit with a grade of A counts four grade points; B, three points; C, two points; D, one point. Degree candidates must maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.0*. Credits earned with less than a "C" grade cannot be accepted as satisfying any of the requirements for the master's degree*. Some departments will not consider a "C" as an acceptable grade. Grades earned in all graduate courses taken at Slippery Rock University are used in the calculation of grade point average.

The formula for grade point calculation is as follows:

GPA = grade points earned divided by number of semester hours attempted. Graduate courses in which a letter grade of "C" or less was earned on the first attempt may be repeated. No course may be repeated more than once. Permission to repeat a course shall be granted with the approval of both the adviser and the graduate coordinator of the student's program. A student may repeat a total of two courses during the six-year statute of limitations, and any repeat must occur within the six-year statute of limitations.

Any extensions of the time limit shall not entitle the student additional repeats. Course repeats in Physical Therapy are permitted only with approval of the Dean of the College of Health, Engineering and Science. When a student repeats a course, only the grade earned on the most recent attempt is used in the GPA calculation. A grade of "I" is not a permanent grade. An incomplete grade for a course must be removed whenever the professor requires it, but no longer than within one calendar year, and an incomplete grade for thesis (IT) and dissertation (ID) must be removed within the six- year statute of limitations. Unless the instructor has submitted a change of grade prior to the expiration of the specified time limit, the grade of "I" will automatically be converted to a grade of "F". Grades of "IT" for thesis and ID for dissertation will remain an "IT" or "ID" until the requirements are met and a grade change has been submitted.

X and I Grades - Undergraduate and Graduate

See the I Grade Policy (p. 1199) for more information on I Grades.

See the X Grade Policy (p. 1212) for more information on X Grades.

Graduation Requirements Undergraduate

1. All undergraduate degree programs require a minimum of 120 credits.
2. All students are required to earn a minimum cumulative 2.0 GPA and a minimum 2.0 major(s) and minor(s) GPA (if applicable) to graduate. Programs that lead to certification, licensure or specialized accreditation may require a GPA higher than a 2.0.
3. Students must complete 30 of their final 60 credits in residence at SRU. In addition, individual departments may establish residency requirements for their majors and minors. Students should check with their academic adviser to determine the requirements for their academic program

4. Students must complete a minimum of 45 credits of Liberal Studies coursework or 42 credits of Rock Studies coursework.
5. Students must complete 48 credits of advanced coursework defined as any 100- or 200- level course with two or more 3-credit prerequisite courses (in addition to sequential prerequisites, but not including basic competency courses or exams) and any 300- and 400- level courses. At least 24 of the 48 credits must be completed at SRU.
6. Students must complete at least half their major (15 credit minimum) in 300 or higher-level courses. Students must also complete at least 50% of their major at a PASSHE university.
7. Bachelor of Arts degrees require language proficiency at the 103-class level. Exemption by placement or examination is possible.
8. Beginning with May 2021 graduates, students must complete at least 45 undergraduate credits at SRU to be considered for Latin Honors at the point of graduation.

*Some students will actually complete more than 120 credit hours. This can occur for several reasons:

- Some students will be required to take additional courses necessary to develop basic academic competencies. These courses are not counted as credit toward graduation.
- Some students may choose to take more than 120 credit hours. For example: When students choose to complete more than one major, or a minor/certificate.
- Some majors require more than 120 credit hours for a bachelor's degree.

Graduate

The student is responsible for fulfilling all requirements for the degree in accordance with the regulations of that program and the university.

Honors at Graduation Undergraduate

At both the December and May commencement ceremonies, the university recognizes students who have met the academic criteria for Latin honors.

- Undergraduates working on their first baccalaureate degree may qualify for honors at graduation. Post-baccalaureate and graduate students are not eligible for these honors.
- Beginning with May 2021 graduates, a minimum of 45 undergraduate credits must be earned at Slippery Rock University. These credits may include: all SRU credit bearing course work; all credits earned through SRU's credit by exam program, including the NLN Mobility Profile II, administered by the Department of Nursing; SRU credit earned with a "P" grade; and credits earned as a Visiting Student at another PASSHE institution.
- Credits earned by any other form of credit by exam (AP, CLEP, PEP, DSST and NLN (other than the Mobility Profile II), credits earned at other universities (transfer & transient), via military service/schooling, and non-SRU course work taken abroad will not count toward the 45 credit minimum.
- The following cumulative GPA's must be earned to qualify for honors at graduation.
 - Summa Cum Laude (With the Highest Honor) 3.800 - 4.000
 - Magna Cum Laude (With High Honor) 3.600 - 3.799
 - Cum Laude (With Honor) 3.500 - 3.599

No restrictions will apply to students who repeat grades of D or F and who still meet the criteria for honors at graduation.

At commencement, the names of these honor students are specially designated in the commencement program. In addition, the Summa Cum Laude graduates wear medallions around their necks, which are gifts of the Slippery Rock University Alumni Association; Magna Cum Laude graduates wear white honor cords; and Cum Laude graduates wear green honor cords.

Students identified by the director of the University Honors College as having completed the requirements of the Honors College will also wear special honor cords at graduation.

Recognition of honors at graduation will be based upon students' cumulative GPA at the end of the semester preceding graduation. Designation of honors on the university transcript will not be determined until the students' final semester grades are submitted and official, final cumulative GPA's are calculated.

Graduate

The traditional undergraduate 'honors' awards (cum laude, magna cum laude and summa cum laude) are not available to graduate students.

Incomplete Grades

At the discretion of the instructor, a grade of incomplete (I) may be given to a student who demonstrates it is not possible to complete the requirements of a course due to circumstances beyond the student's control or not reasonably foreseeable. The incomplete grade is not an alternative to a grade of F.

Incomplete grades may be awarded under the following circumstances:

- The student must be passing a course at the time an incomplete is requested unless the instructor determines extenuating circumstances justify assigning an incomplete grade to a student who is not passing the course;
- The student must request an incomplete grade and should do so before final grades for the term are submitted;
- The instructor may only assign an incomplete grade if the missing work will be completed, submitted, and graded within one year.

Other provisions:

- An incomplete grade may not be assigned to a student who did not attend the course, or has accumulated excessive absences. Failure to complete the class or properly withdraw from the class is noted as a grade of F or a grade of X;
- The instructor may not assign an incomplete grade if the student would receive a failing grade in the course even if the missing work is completed, submitted, and graded. The completion of missing work does not guarantee a passing grade;
- Incomplete grades must be completed within 12 months; however, faculty reserve the right to set any shorter deadline for the completion of the incomplete work. Requests for extensions of incomplete grades beyond 12 months must be submitted by the faculty member and approved by the dean of the college in which the course was offered;

- If a faculty member does not submit a grade change form within 12 months, regardless of whether or not the student attends the university, the grade will automatically convert to a grade of F;
- After successful completion of the makeup requirements, incomplete grades will be changed by the instructor of record or the department chair (in absence of the instructor of record) via a grade change form;
- Students may not register for the same class in which they have an incomplete. A grade must be assigned if the student wants to register for this class;
- Students will not be permitted to graduate with an incomplete grade on their record.

Note: Incomplete dissertation (ID) and incomplete thesis (IT) do not automatically convert to an "F".

Instructional Method

Blended courses are currently defined as any course whose content is taught between 30-79% online. Web-based courses have between 80-100% online content. Web-based courses must be approved by the UCC and Academic Dean. Blended courses must be approved by the Academic Dean.

Blended courses are denoted on the master class schedule by the instructional method as follows:

BL = 51-79% online

30 = 30-50% online

Web-based courses are denoted on the master class schedule by the instructional method as follows:

80 = 80-99% online

OL = 100% online

Internships (Undergraduate)

Slippery Rock University offers a diverse program of internships through which students may earn from 1 to 12 credits. A minimum of 40 hours of work is required for each credit earned. In some cases an internship or other field experience is required for a major. Internships provide students with an opportunity to apply their academic preparation in a variety of professional or occupational settings. Through an internship, students have the opportunity to expand their knowledge and to enhance their learning of the theories of academic disciplines and programs of study through appropriate career-related experiences and to provide them with the knowledge and experience necessary for obtaining certification or licensing. Students may enroll in semester, academic year, or summer/ winter internships with governmental agencies, private firms, or non-profit organizations both in the United States and abroad.

Students must have a minimum quality point average of 2.0 in their major (or program where applicable), and at least a 2.0 for all coursework, including the semester previous to placement in an internship. Some majors require a GPA higher than 2.0. The agency, academic department or program may specify higher standards and/or other academic requirements. Acceptance into the internship program must occur prior to registration for the course. Registration in the course, however, does not guarantee placement in the field. Agency supervisors' evaluations are a requirement for completion of the internship and may be a factor in determining the final grade. Students must be at least a junior in good standing at the time they begin the internship.

Interested students should check with their major department for internship information in their fields. Students are permitted to earn no more than 12 credits in any one internship and a total of 15 credits for all internships taken.

Math Placement (Undergraduate)

Appropriate placement into a first college mathematics course is extremely important to ensure student success in future mathematics courses. Success in any mathematics course requires appropriate prerequisite knowledge and students are much more likely to succeed when they are enrolled in the correct mathematics course. Determination of a student's first mathematics course will happen in one of two ways depending on the student's major requirements. Students are required to take a mathematics assessment for placement if their major requires one or more of the following mathematics courses: Math 125: Precalculus, Math131: Discrete Mathematics or Math 225: Calculus I. For all other required freshman-level mathematics courses, the first mathematics course is determined according to the student's high school transcript or SAT/ACT math scores.

Students required to take the assessment can find further details and instructions at www.sru.edu/mathassessment (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/colleges-and-departments/ces/departments/mathematics-and-statistics/math-assessment/>). The assessment called ALEKS is free, available online and takes one to two hours to complete. The assessment can be taken multiple times and, upon completion, personalized learning modules will provide the opportunity to improve your score in subsequent attempts. At least one attempt of the assessment must be finished prior to orientation so that a complete course schedule can be created. The above mathematics courses require completion of the assessment prior to registration.

Note: In some cases, students may be placed into the prerequisite course ESAP 110: Beginning Algebra or Math 120: Intermediate Algebra, prior to taking additional required mathematics courses. Neither of these classes fulfill any Rock Studies requirements, and all students are encouraged to place out of these courses through use of the ALEKS assessment. In this way, students can satisfy the Beginning Algebra requirement through use of the ALEKS assessment as an alternative to taking ESAP 110.

Military Absence

Slippery Rock University requires both students and faculty members to approach excused absences and matters of class attendance in a manner that is cooperative, realistic, and impartial.

Faculty members are required to provide an alternative opportunity or offer equivalent credit for a student to complete missed coursework due to a military-related absence, without prejudicial influence. (ex. Exam, quiz, in class work, presentation, etc.)

Students who have received advanced notification orders are required to provide documentation for their military-related absence two weeks prior to the absence when feasible; however, students should turn in documentation as soon as the orders are received. Whenever possible, students are required to be proactive by turning in pre-assigned coursework before their military-related absence begins.

Any student who has military commitments the weekend before Final Exams week (and such duty can occur any time between Thursday and Tuesday), the student's first exam day (possibly first two exam days, depending on the return day) will be rescheduled to allow a two-day study period.

A student who must miss numerous class meetings due to a military-related obligation is strongly encouraged to create a Military Absence Work-Plan (<https://www.sru.edu/veterans/returning-or-leaving-active-duty/>) with the faculty member for completing the missed coursework. However, either party can submit a work plan at any time. Creating this work-plan will ensure clear communication between student and faculty member; failure to complete this work-plan may negatively impact the student.

Once developed, the student and faculty member will sign the Military Absence Work-Plan that details the expectations for successful completion of coursework. If the length of absence & circumstance(s) challenges the student's ability to successfully complete the agreed-upon work-plan and to remain current with coursework, it may be in the student's best interest to utilize the Armed Forces Leave of Absence Withdraw option (Withdrawal with grade of "M").

Appeal Process: If the student and faculty member cannot agree on a work-plan or any part of the work-plan, such as a "reasonable" length of absence, the academic department chairperson should be contacted. If the work-plan cannot be resolved at the academic department level, the student is required to contact the academic dean of the college where the course resides.

The Military Absence Work-Plan must include the following information but can take any format the student and faculty member would like to utilize:

- Faculty member name
- Student name
- Course name
- Length of military-related absence
- Detailed list of missed coursework
- Due date for each assignment
- Signatures of both the faculty member and the student
- Results of not meeting the due dates of the work-plan

The Military Absence Work-Plan will be kept in the faculty member's student record and filed with the Office of Academic Records & Registration. The student will also receive a copy.

Procedures

The student completes a Military Absence Work-Plan for each course he/she is enrolled during his/her absence. The student and faculty member discuss the plan and sign document. A copy of the work-plan document is kept on file with the faculty member and the Academic Records Office. A copy is also given to the student.

Effective Date: Spring 2020

Military Withdrawal

A grade of "M" will be given for military students and spouses who have to withdraw from the University (all classes) due to military obligation.

PA National Guard and other reserve components called to active duty (for reasons other than training) and their spouses will receive a grade of "M" when unable to complete classes due to activation for military obligations.

Students who need to withdraw from Slippery Rock University due to military obligations must complete the University Withdrawal Form, available in the MySRU portal. The form can be located by searching for "Withdraw from SRU" in the All Links card. Students are also required to provide documentation verifying their military obligation, such as official military orders or a letter from their commanding officer. This documentation may be submitted electronically as a scanned attachment to academic.records@sru.edu.

Minimum Credit Hour and Quality Point Requirements (Undergraduate)

All degree programs require a minimum of 120 credits and a minimum overall GPA of a 2.000. At least 30 credits must be completed to earn a major, at least 18 credits must be completed to earn a minor, and at least 12 credits to earn an undergraduate certificate. The majority of programs require a major GPA of 2.000; some programs require a higher average. This information is available from the department adviser or chairperson. To be eligible for teacher certification, students must have a 3.000 cumulative average in all university coursework.

Modern Language Language for BA Degree (Undergraduate)

Proficiency at the 103 class level of a modern language, or the equivalent, is required for all Bachelor of Arts degree candidates. Exemption by placement or examination is possible. Students wishing to earn a Bachelor of Arts degree, whether it is associated with their first or second major, must complete the university's modern language proficiency requirement at or above the 103 level. Post-Baccalaureate students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree must also complete the modern language requirement.

Name Change - Chosen

The University recognizes that many members of its community use first/middle names other than their legal names first provided to the university to identify themselves. For some students, a chosen first/middle name may be an important component of their identity, and the university supports a welcoming culture.

To encourage a welcoming culture, SRU policy establishes students' right to indicate their chosen first/middle names to the University community even if they have not changed their legal name(s). While anyone is welcome to use a chosen first/middle name, this option has been developed to respond to the needs of international students, transgender people, gender non-binary, and others who choose the use of a nickname. Any chosen name request must be in good faith and in the spirit of this policy to foster an inclusive SRU culture. Such requests may include individuals who prefer to use:

- a middle name or nickname instead of a first name;
- an anglicized name;
- a name to which the individual is in the process of legally changing; or
- a name that better represents the individual's gender identity.

Chosen first/middle name – A chosen first/middle name is defined as an alternative to the individual's legal name as designated by the individual in university systems.

Legal name – A person's legal name is the name used for official governmental documents, such as licenses, passports, and tax forms.

A student's chosen first/middle name will be used instead of the person's legal name in select university - related systems and documents as listed below. The legal name will be used in all University - related systems and documents related to official University records as listed below.

- Student Identification Cards (requires student action)
- Official Student Email Display Name
- Diplomas
- Commencement Programs
- Commencement Cards
- Advising Profile
- Class List (in Banner)
- D2L
- CORE
- University communications and mailings to student's permanent/home address

Slippery Rock University is working diligently with our software vendors to promote chosen name in marked areas. Legal names will continue to be used for official university records including, but not limited to the following:

- Legal Documents and Reports Produced by the University
- Student Account Statement (Bills)
- Financial Aid and Scholarship Documents
- Transcripts
- Enrollment Verifications
- Degree Verifications
- Student Employment Documents
- Paychecks, W2s, and other Payroll documents

PROCEDURES

To update your chosen or preferred first name or gender identification, log in to your MySRU portal and click the My Profile tab. Next click the Personal Information Page button in the list of links below your profile picture on the left side of the page. On your Personal Information Page, click the Edit button on the Personal Details block. Here you may update our preferred first name and gender identification.

A chosen or preferred middle name appears in some, but not all, of the same places that a chosen first name does. If you wish to use a middle name that is different from your legal middle name, simply email the Office of Academic Records & Registration (academic.records@sru.edu) with your Banner ID, your name, and your chosen or preferred middle name. As with a chosen first name, a chosen middle name will not be used on certain official University records.

Chosen or preferred names cannot be deemed inappropriate. Inappropriate names, include, but are not limited to, those used to avoid a legal obligation, commit fraud, misrepresent yourself, are obscene language, or are trademarked. Any inappropriate name will be removed from the University's student information system.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR IMPLEMENTATION

All members of the University Community are responsible for administering this policy.

SCOPE OF THE POLICY

This policy applies to all University students.

Name Change - Legal

Students may have their names changed on official university records only after submitting an official document (marriage certificate, court record, etc.) or a notarized statement that a name change has occurred and the new name is not being used for any deceptive or fraudulent purpose. Please refer to the Legal Name Change Form (https://www.sru.edu/documents/academics/academic-services/academic-records/Name_and%20Gender_Change_LEGAL.pdf) found on the Academic Records and Registration webpage.

Non-Degree Student

Non-Degree Student - Undergraduate

A non-degree student is a student who does not possess a baccalaureate degree and wishes to enroll for undergraduate level credit coursework at Slippery Rock University for enrichment and does not intend to use the course work toward a degree program at an institution of higher education. Non-degree admission is valid for one semester at a time. Students who wish to enroll as non-degree students may reapply for admission for subsequent terms until a maximum of 30 semester hours have been completed, at which time further enrollment is precluded in the non-degree status. Non-degree students are not eligible for financial aid.

Non-Degree Student - Graduate

Students who have earned a bachelor's or master's degree may apply as a graduate non-degree student. University policy permits graduate non-degree students to earn a total maximum of 12 semester hours. The credits earned under the graduate non-degree status may not automatically count toward a future graduate degree program. In addition, graduate non-degree students are not eligible to receive Federal Financial Aid.

Students wishing to pursue admission to a degree program must submit a formal degree-seeking application along with all other required credentials from your academic program of interest. Information about degree programs is available at <http://www.sru.edu/academics/graduate-programs> (<http://www.sru.edu/academics/graduate-programs/>).

Notice Designating Directory Information

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), a Federal law, requires that colleges and universities, with certain exceptions, obtain a student's written consent prior to disclosure of personally identifiable information. However, institutions may (not must) disclose appropriately designated "directory information" without written consent, unless the university has been advised by the student that he/she does not wish to have his/her directory information released.¹

Directory information, which is information that is generally not considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if released, can, but is not required to be disclosed to outside organizations without the student's written permission.

Slippery Rock University is committed to maintaining the privacy of its students' records and therefore also limits its release of Directory Information for official University purposes only.

Slippery Rock will not release Directory Information for solicitation purposes to 3rd parties from outside the university. This includes outside vendors, businesses and organizations unless the university has entered into a contract or agreement with the organization to supply specific service to the university or its students that requires the use of this information.

The Director of Academic Records also carefully screens the release of Directory Information to parties within the university to assure that its students only receive correspondence related to the academic and social missions of the institution.

Slippery Rock University hereby designates the following student information as "directory information." Such information may be disclosed without a student's previous consent by the institution for any purpose, at its discretion with the exceptions noted below:

1. Name
2. Addresses (local, permanent, and email)
3. Telephone number (local, cell and permanent)
4. Date and place of birth
5. Program and concentration(s) and minor(s)
6. Student activities, including athletics
7. Weight, height (athletic teams)
8. Dates of attendance
9. Degrees and awards received
10. Date of graduation
11. All educational institutions previously attended
12. Academic awards/scholarships
13. Title of master thesis
14. Number of credits (full- or part-time) for which a student is registered
15. Pictures of students
16. Class level
17. Anticipated graduation date

18. Student ID number used to communicate in electronic systems that cannot be used to access education records without a PIN, password, etc.

¹ As noted above, currently enrolled students have the opportunity to withhold disclosure of all 18 categories of information under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). The University will not partially withhold this information, so students are advised to think carefully before requesting non-disclosure. To withhold disclosure, written notification must be received in the Office of Academic Records and Registration, Slippery Rock University, Slippery Rock, Pa. 16057 prior to the end of the second week of each semester/summer session. Forms requesting the withholding of "directory information" are available online or in the office of:
Academic Records and Registration
Room 107, Old Main
(724) 738-2010
academic.records@sru.edu

Slippery Rock University assumes that failure on the part of any student to specifically request the withholding of "directory information" indicates individual approval for disclosures. Former students and alumni are not covered under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). As such, the University is not obligated to honor requests for non-disclosure of "directory information" from former students.

Note: Students requesting that "directory information" not be disclosed during their final semester of enrollment will have this information withheld indefinitely after leaving the University. Students are cautioned that making such a request may adversely impact future requests from potential employers, and other important individuals/organizations.

Notice of Consumer Information Web Site and Annual Security Report

In accordance with the provisions of the Student Right to Know and Clery Acts, students are urged to access SRU's Consumer Information Website (<https://www.sru.edu/students/student-consumer-information/>) (Including campus crime statistics, graduation rates, and Students Rights to Privacy.)

Pass-No Credit Grades (Undergraduate)

Select courses in some programs are designed and offered only on a Pass/No-Credit basis; students cannot take those courses with any other grade option.

In regularly-graded courses, sophomore, junior, and senior students may opt, with adviser approval, for Pass/No-Credit grading. The following rules govern this option:

1. Only free electives can be taken P/NC.
2. Courses taken P/NC may NOT be used to fulfill a major, a minor, the BA requirement for a modern language, or the University's Liberal Studies/Rock Studies requirements.
3. The P/NC option exists only for undergraduate courses, not graduate courses.
4. P/NC classes are NOT used in calculating GPAs.

5. P/NC classes are used in calculating total credits for graduation.
6. A student may opt for only one P/NC class in any given semester; those required courses with only P/NC grading do not “count” against this maximum.
7. A student may opt for no more than 12 hours total of P/NC free electives during the sophomore, junior, and senior years.
8. A grade of D is considered passing in the case of P/NC classes.

Posthumous Conferral of Degree

Slippery Rock University may recognize a student's work by conferring a degree or special certificate posthumously. In the event of an accidental death or fatal illness of a student, the university may confer the degree or certificate. The student will have completed all or nearly all of the requirements for a degree. The student will have completed at least one year at SRU for the award of a certificate.

Procedure: The family, or an academic department on behalf of the family, if requested, may initiate the nomination for a posthumous degree or certificate. The college undergraduate dean will be informed of the petition by the family or the academic department. The dean will provide a recommendation along with a verification of the student's academic standing and degree progress to the Provost for approval. In the instance of a posthumous graduate degree, the appropriate college dean and the Director of Academic Records and Registration will provide a recommendation to the Provost for approval by the President.

Degree Conferral: The family may select one of two options:

1. The President or Provost may confer the degree in a quiet family ceremony at the university, with appropriate deans and faculty who knew the individual. Travel and accommodation arrangements for the family will be at the discretion of the family.
2. The degree may be conferred at commencement. The student's name will be listed in the commencement program where it would have been if the student had been present. Family members will be asked to attend commencement ceremonies and will be seated in the front row of the commencement seating. When the student's name is called a family member will walk across the stage and receive the posthumous degree.

Certificate Conferral: The family will receive a special certificate upon approval by the President.

Cabinet Approval December 20, 2004

Prerequisites and Co-Requisites

Students should not register for courses until they have completed all the appropriate prerequisites or are registered for the appropriate co-requisites as noted in the university catalog. The university's computer system has been programmed to check for pre/co-requisites. Professors reserve the right to drop students who have not completed/registered for the appropriate pre/co-requisites for their classes.

Readmission

Undergraduate

Students who have interrupted their attendance at SRU for any reason may resume studies at Slippery Rock University by applying for readmission.

Students in Good Academic Standing: Students who interrupted registration for one or more semesters and were in good academic standing at the conclusion of the last semester of attendance may be reactivated to attend the institution. Students can apply for readmission (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/readmission/>) through Transfer Admissions; credits earned during the time away from SRU will be evaluated and posted to the student's degree audit by Transfer Admissions. Questions can be addressed to transferadmissions@sru.edu.

Dismissal/Suspension/Probation: Students who are placed on academic suspension for the first or second time and have an interest in returning to the University after sitting out for the one or two semester period will request readmission (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/readmission/>) through Transfer Admissions. Questions can be addressed to transferadmissions@sru.edu.

For best service, processing time, and advisement, students should contact the university at least a month in advance of the beginning of the term in which they wish to enter the institution. The readmission process consists of completing the online application (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/readmission/>), forwarding of all official transcripts from all institutions attended after leaving SRU and, when requested, submission of a written narrative from the student describing academic goals upon return to SRU as well as a plan to ensure academic success.

Students who attended other institutions since their withdrawal, suspension, or dismissal from SRU or who have earned credit by exam will have their official transcripts/score reports forwarded to Transfer Admissions for the formal evaluation and posting of credits to the degree audit.

The readmitted student should contact Financial Aid (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/financial-aid/>) to determine how their aid may be impacted through readmission. Readmitted students are responsible for meeting all academic requirements in effect at the time they are readmitted, not at the time they were originally admitted to the university.

Graduate

Graduate students should contact Graduate Admissions at graduate.admissions@sru.edu or 724-738-2051 for information on readmission. If a student is within or out of the statute of limitations and in good academic standing, Graduate Admissions will reactivate the student's file. Students should complete the Request for Reactivation of Student Record (<https://sruenrollment.wufoo.com/forms/m1c9ljs41abk387/>). If a student is on academic suspension, the student must appeal to the dean for retry by completing the Request for Readmission (<https://sruenrollment.wufoo.com/forms/mvjph260eck50e/>).

Records Privacy

For the purposes of complying with FERPA, an applicant to SRU becomes a “student” on the first day of the first term/semester in which the student is registered at the University.

(PL 93-380 & Right to Know Law: PA PL 390)

The Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. They are:

1. The right to inspect and review the student's education records within 45 days of the day the university receives a request for access.

Students should submit to the Director of Academic Records and Registration, Dean, Department Chairperson, or other appropriate official, written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. The University official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the University official to whom the request was submitted, that official shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed.

2. The right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the student believes are inaccurate or misleading.

Students may ask the University to amend a record that they believe is inaccurate or misleading. They should write the University official responsible for the record, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading.

If the University decides not to amend the record as requested by the student, the University will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of his or her right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.

3. The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.

One exception which permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by the University in an administrative, supervisory, academic or research, or support staff position (including law enforcement unit personnel and health staff); a person or company with whom the university has contracted (such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent); a person serving on the Council of Trustees; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks.

A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility.

Upon request, the University may disclose education records without consent to officials of another school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.

4. As of January 3, 2012, the U.S. Department of Education's FERPA regulations expand the circumstances under which your education records and personally identifiable information (PII) contained in such records—including your Social Security Number, grades, or other private information—may be accessed without your consent. First, the U.S. Comptroller General, the U.S. Attorney General, the U.S. Secretary of Education, or state and local education authorities ("Federal and State Authorities") may allow access to your records and PII without your consent to any third party designated by a Federal or State Authority to evaluate a federal- or state-supported education program. The evaluation may relate to any program that is "principally engaged in the provision of education," such as early childhood education and job training, as well as any program that is administered by an education agency or institution. Second, Federal and State Authorities may allow access to your education records and PII without your consent to researchers performing certain types of studies, in certain cases even when we object to or do not request such research. Federal and State Authorities must obtain certain use-restriction and data security promises from the entities that they authorize to receive your PII, but the Authorities need not maintain direct control over such entities. In addition, in connection with Statewide Longitudinal Data Systems, State Authorities may collect, compile, permanently retain, and share without your consent PII from your education records, and they may track your participation in education and other programs by linking such PII to other personal information about you that they obtain from other Federal or State data sources, including workforce development, unemployment insurance, child welfare, juvenile justice, military service, and migrant student records systems.

5. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by Slippery Rock University to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the office that administers FERPA is:

Student Privacy Policy Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW
Washington, DC 20202-4605

Copies of the University's policy governing the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act are available in the Office of Academic Records and Registration, Room 107, Old Main. Questions concerning FERPA should be referred to the Director of Academic Records and Registration.

For more information see SRU's Policies and Procedures Governing FERPA & PA's Right to Know Law Document.

Registration Procedures

Registration date and time assignments for the current registration period will be made available on MySRU to all eligible students approximately two weeks prior to the registration period.

Undergraduate Students - Undergraduate degree-seeking students enrolled at Slippery Rock University during the current semester, who have not applied to graduate at the end of the current semester, will be eligible to register without seeking readmission. Your specific registration date and time assignment will be displayed in MySRU. To register, all undergraduate students must receive their registration PIN (RPIN) from their adviser or major department. RPIN's are used only for fall/spring registration.

Post-Baccalaureate Students - A person who has already obtained a bachelor's degree and wishes to pursue another undergraduate degree or just wishes to take a few classes for personal enrichment may obtain an application by contacting the Office of Undergraduate Admissions (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/other-admissions/post-baccalaureate-students/>). Post-baccalaureate student registration begins on the first day of the registration period at 10 a.m. Post-baccalaureate students do not need an RPIN.

Graduate Students - Graduate degree-seeking students who have been in attendance during the current semester or the three preceding semesters (fall/spring) may register without seeking reactivation or readmission. Graduate student registration will begin on the first day of the registration period at 8 a.m. Graduate students do not need an RPIN.

New Students (undergraduate and graduate degree-seeking students) - A person who has never attended Slippery Rock University may obtain the appropriate application by contacting either the Office of Undergraduate Admissions (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/>) or the Office of Graduate Admissions (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/graduate-admissions/>). New first-year freshmen will have schedules made for them. New transfer and graduate students will receive registration instructions from the respective Admissions Office, and will register based on their student type listed above, undergraduate, post-baccalaureate, or graduate.

Former Students - An undergraduate degree-seeking student who did not attend Slippery Rock University during the current semester, or a graduate degree-seeking student who has not been in attendance during the past four fall/spring semesters, must submit a request for readmission to the Office (<https://www.sru.edu/offices/exploratory-studies-and-academic-progress-office/>) of Exploratory Studies and Academic Progress (<https://www.sru.edu/offices/exploratory-studies-and-academic-progress-office/>) (undergraduate students) or the Office of Graduate Admissions (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/graduate-admissions/>) (graduate students). Once readmitted, former students will register based on their student type listed above, undergraduate, post-baccalaureate, or graduate. (During the period of inactivity for the graduate student, the statute of limitations (p. 1208) will continue to be applied.)

Transient/Non-Degree Seeking Students - A student who wishes to attend SRU as a non-degree seeking student, should contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/>) (undergraduate students) or the Office of Graduate Admissions (<https://www.sru.edu/admissions/graduate-admissions/>) (graduate students). Once admitted, transient/non-degree seeking students will be provided registration instructions in their acceptance communications from the respective Admissions Office. These students must reapply for each semester they wish to attend SRU.

Repeat of Courses

Undergraduate

Students may attempt to improve their grade point average by repeating courses. The most recent grade earned is used in calculating the GPA even if the earlier grade was higher. If a passed course is repeated and failed (or NC), the student will lose both the grade points and credits previously earned. All grades will appear on the transcript. Courses in which a grade was earned at Slippery Rock University may not be repeated at any institution. A grade of W (withdraw) does not count as an earned grade.

Students who repeat a course must do so using the same grading system under which they originally took the course. For example, a student who originally took a course graded A-F may not repeat the course on a P/NC, P/F, or audit basis. Students may not repeat a course by using any Credit by Examination program if they originally took the course on a graded A-F, P/NC, P/F, or audit basis.

Undergraduate students will be limited to a maximum total of six repeats during their entire SRU academic career, excluding withdrawal grades.

In addition, repeats of a single course will be limited to a maximum of two. This means, no single course may be taken more than three times (excluding withdrawal grades).

The course repeat policy for post-baccalaureate students is the same as the undergraduate student policy.

Graduate

Graduate students may repeat a single course only once. In addition, graduate students will be limited to a maximum of two repeats during their entire graduate enrollment. The most recent grade (regardless of whether it is higher or lower) will be the grade used in the student's CGPA calculation.

Research Requirements (Graduate)

Candidates for a graduate degree must demonstrate the scholar's approach to the acquisition and analysis of information in a field of specialization. Advisers welcome imaginative research proposals.

Both thesis and non-thesis programs require research. Students should confer with an adviser or the graduate coordinator for detailed information concerning research requirements for specific degrees and majors. Students conducting research involving human subjects are required to follow the guidelines and obtain the required approvals of the SRU Institutional Review Board for the protection of human subjects.

Students pursuing a thesis or dissertation program should contact their academic adviser concerning research after completing about one-half of the degree coursework. The adviser will assist the student with the necessary steps (such as preliminary selection of a topic and arranging for the appointment of a committee) to proceed. Graduate students receive considerable guidance in the preparation of a thesis/dissertation.

Three bound copies of the thesis/dissertation will become the property of Slippery Rock University. Additional copies may be required by the program's department.

Students pursuing a non-thesis program are required to do research in conjunction with specific courses and may be required to complete an internship.

Residency

Undergraduate

To qualify for graduation, all students must complete 30 of their final 60 credits in residence at Slippery Rock University. In addition, at least 24 credits of upper division course work must be earned in residence at Slippery Rock University. If students declare a minor or certificate, 6 credits from the minor or certificate must be earned in residence at Slippery Rock University.

At least 50% of all major credits must be earned at Slippery Rock University or another PASSHE university.

Collaborative programs will be identified such that residency can be met consistent with the collaborative agreement.

Graduate

Master's students must earn at least two-thirds of the credits meeting program requirements at SRU. Collaborative programs will be identified such that requirements can be met consistent with the collaborative agreement.

DPT, OTD, and Ed.D. residency requirements are determined at the program level.

Second Degree

Undergraduate

Second Baccalaureate Degree

If students wish to earn a second baccalaureate degree after earning their first baccalaureate degree, students must enroll as a Post-Baccalaureate student and will need to complete a minimum of 30 new credits in his or her selected major program above and beyond his or her first undergraduate degree. Post-Baccalaureate students earning a second degree will meet all departmental requirements for the degree with respect to required GPA, credit and courses for a major in that department, as well as meeting degree requirements with respect to the GPA and courses required for the requested degree. Students who are seeking a B.A. Degree must complete the University's Modern Language Proficiency Requirement (p. 1201) at or above the 103 level.

Exceptions to this policy must be approved by the student's chairperson and dean of the second degree. As a post baccalaureate student, please check with the Financial Aid Office for available financial aid.

Graduate

Second Master's Degree

In order to qualify for a second master's degree, regardless of where the first master's degree was earned, the graduate student must:

- Successfully complete a minimum of 15 semester hours of credit at Slippery Rock University beyond the first master's degree.
- Apply no more than 12 semester hours of credit from the first degree toward requirements for the second degree.
- Meet departmental requirements for the degree with respect to the required semester hours of credit and courses for a major in that department.
- Complete all requirements for the degree, with the exception of credits accepted from the program of the first degree, within the six-year statute of limitations.
- Satisfy all incompletes prior to graduation.
- Meet all other University requirements for graduation and be in good standing.

Exceptions to these policies must be approved by the student's chairperson and dean of the second degree.

Semester Credit Load (Undergraduate)

The number of credits an undergraduate student may carry is determined by the cumulative grade point average as follows:

- If the cumulative GPA is less than 2.000, students are limited to a maximum of 16 credits, inclusive of any repeat courses that are scheduled.
- If the cumulative GPA is 2.000 to 2.499, a maximum load of 18 credits is permitted.
- If the cumulative GPA is 2.500 or above, a maximum of 21 credits is permitted. An additional fee is charged for each credit in excess of 18.

Students wishing to register for more than the maximum number of credits noted above must complete a Request to Register for Excess Hours form (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>), have it approved, and returned to the Office of Academic Records and Registration for processing.

Senior Citizens

This policy is intended for retired senior citizens 62 or older interested in taking courses at Slippery Rock University. Senior citizens may audit undergraduate courses at no cost on a space-available basis and provided that they are not courses in which the instructor will be compensated over and beyond their regular salary (ex. Independent Study, Individualized Instruction, musical lessons, Internships, etc.). Senior citizens must provide proof of age and a completed Senior Citizen Application to the Office of Academic Records and Registration in order to complete registration. Senior citizens may register for classes one week prior to the start of the semester/term (Fall/ Winter/ Spring / Summer). Course auditing does not generally include the taking of exams, writing of papers, recording or reporting of grades or other requirements generally associated with college credit; however, the senior citizen may participate in these activities through mutual agreement with the faculty instructor.

Degree-seeking or non-degree seeking senior citizens taking undergraduate courses for credit must apply through undergraduate admissions and pay all applicable fees, including tuition. Senior citizens auditing courses that require an instructor to be compensated over and beyond their regular salary are responsible for paying all applicable fees, including tuition.

To take graduate courses, whether degree-seeking or non-degree seeking, senior citizens must apply through graduate admissions and pay all applicable fees and tuition. Graduate courses are to be taken for credit only and cannot be audited.

For more information contact the Office of Academic Records and Registration, 724-738-2010.

Senior Undergraduate Students Earning Graduate Credit (Undergraduate)

SRU undergraduates who have earned 90 or more credits (including current courses in progress) with a minimum 3.00 GPA are eligible to apply (<https://www.sru.edu/documents/academics/academic-services/academic-records/Graduate%20Credit%20%E2%80%93%20Senior%20Undergraduate%20Student%20Permission%20to%20Enroll.pdf>), enroll, and earn graduate level credit. Credits earned are graduate level only, separate from the undergraduate credits earned for degree and will not be calculated in the student's undergraduate credit and grade point totals. Graduate credits taken as an undergraduate student are not eligible for financial aid. Graduate areas of study reserve the right to limit student enrollment in graduate level courses. Some graduate level courses may have prerequisites and/or course expectations which prohibit the enrollment of undergraduate students. Students may not take more than two graduate level courses per semester. A limit of 6 graduate credits may be earned prior to formal admission as a graduate level student. Students pay undergraduate level tuition and fees for graduate level courses and credit. This policy does not apply to undergraduate post-baccalaureate students and undergraduate students eligible to take 500 level courses for undergraduate credit. Effective for new students entering SRU as of Fall 2023.

Statute of Limitations (Graduate)

All requirements for master and doctoral degrees must be completed within a six-year period once a student matriculates into a degree program, with the exception of TESOL (4 years) and MBA (3 years).

The student's academic dean may extend this period upon written request from the student for justifiable reasons. This extension request must be supported by the graduate coordinator before submission to the academic dean. Once a student matriculates into a graduate program, there will be an absolute limit of ten years to complete all degree requirements.

Student Identity Verification in Distance Learning

POLICY STATEMENT

This policy applies to all credit-bearing distance education courses or programs offered by the Slippery Rock University, beginning with the application for admission and continuing through to a student's graduation, transfer, or withdrawal from study. The purpose of this policy is to ensure that Slippery Rock University operates in compliance with the provisions of the United States Federal Higher Education Opportunity Act (HEOA) concerning the verification of student identity in distance education.

The HEOA requires that institutions offering distance education or correspondence courses or programs have processes in place to ensure that the student registering for a course is the same student who participates in the course or receives course credit. The Act requires that institutions use one of the following three methods:

- A secure login and pass code;
- Proctored examinations; and
- New or other technologies and practices that are effective in verifying student identification.

For this purpose, Slippery Rock University requires all students to use their official University ID and password for purposes of identity verification for distance learning.

PROCEDURES

- The SRUID system is a University authentication and security measure to ensure that accounts are managed more securely across University campuses. All students at Slippery Rock University are provided a SRUID for secure access to University systems, including for distance learning upon depositing to campus. New students set up their account and are directed to use the password management to store a four digit pin and two security questions to be used in the event that students need to change their password or reclaim their SRUID. In the event this has not been done, students can contact the Help Desk and verify their identification through a variety of questions with full-time staff.

- Students are responsible for providing their complete and true identity information in any identification verification process. It is against University policy for a user to give someone his or her password or to allow others to use his or her account.
- Slippery Rock University's learning management system integrates with University authentication services to ensure appropriate and secure student access to courses and other Student Information Systems. All users of the University's learning management system are responsible for maintaining the security of IDs and passwords, or any other access credentials as required. Attempting to discover another user's password or attempts to gain unauthorized access to another person's files or email is prohibited.
- In addition, the University's Student Information System provides instructors access to class rosters that includes student photos associated with their name and account. The learning management system also provides student photos associated with their account, and if set up by the student, is visible in areas of the course including the discussion. Live audio and video of students interacting in the course is also a feature of the learning management system. As technology and personal accountability are not absolute in determining a student's identity, faculty members are encouraged to use these technologies and to design courses that use assignments and evaluations that support academic integrity.
- At this time there are no additional student fees associated with student verification. Slippery Rock University is currently experimenting with a video tool used for identification/integrity purposes. In the event any verification fee is needed, it will be posted on the course registration site to provide an advance alert to students.
- Slippery Rock University complies fully with the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C. 1232g. This act protects the privacy of student information in distance education by requiring, with certain limited exceptions, that the student's consent must be obtained before disclosing any personally identifiable information in the student's education records. Additional information on FERPA and student record access can be found at: <http://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/policies-regulations-and-catalogs> (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/policies-regulations-and-catalogs/>)

SANCTIONS

Students who violate this policy are subject to disciplinary action through the Student Code of Conduct Policy

RESPONSIBILITY FOR IMPLEMENTATION

The Office for Information and Administrative Technology Services (IATS), part of the Division of Academic Affairs, is responsible for ensuring compliance with this policy and that deans, department chairs, and program coordinators are informed of any changes in the policy in a timely fashion. IATS is also responsible for ensuring that university-level processes remain in compliance with this policy.

SCOPE OF POLICY COVERAGE

This policy applies to all students taking distance education courses.

Authority for creation and revision

Reviewed by: ASA Academic Policy Committee, 1.30.16

Student Responsibility

Students are expected to know the requirements for their degree program. While academic advisers and faculty members will endeavor to aid students, the responsibility for compliance with regulations and requirements rests with the student.

Summer and Winter Sessions

Summer sessions at Slippery Rock University are as follows:

- Pre-Session (two and one-half weeks)
- Session I (four weeks)
- Session II (four weeks)
- Summer Term (eight weeks)
- Full Summer (ten weeks)
- Post-Session for Internships
- Extended Summer Term (Physician Assistant Students Only)

Information on the summer sessions is made available through an online summer schedule, which may be accessed from the Academic Records and Registration website in mid-March.

Students may enroll for up to 6 credits in Pre-Session, 7 credits in Sessions I and II and 12 credits in Full Summer, Summer Term and Post-Session. Undergraduates may take no more than 18 credits for all summer sessions combined. For more information about summer sessions, please visit the Summer Session webpage (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/summer-session/>).

Winter session runs between fall and spring semesters. All courses are offered online, at the Regional Learning Alliance, or off-campus (internships). Students are permitted to take up to 7 credits in Winter session. Information on Winter session is made available through a Winter Session webpage (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/winter-session/>) in early November.

The Rock/Basic Course Requirements (Undergraduate)

The following Basic Requirement/The Rock courses are subject to the university's continuous registration policy:

Liberal Studies Program	Rock Studies Program
Civil Discourse (COMM 200)	Civil Discourse (COMM 200, POLI 235, PHIL 110)
Critical Reading (ENGL 104)	Critical Reading (ENGL 104)
Critical Writing (ENGL 102)	Critical Writing (ENGL 102)
	Quantitative Reasoning (MATH 117)
	Foundations of Academic Discovery (SUBJ 139)

These courses will be graded as A, B, C, or NC (no credit). If an "NC" is earned, students must repeat the course during their next semester of enrollment if seats are available, and must continue taking the course until it is passed with a grade of "C" or better.

Beginning spring 2023, students are not permitted to drop or withdraw from any of the Basic Requirement/The Rock courses listed above once the course has started. In addition, students are not permitted to drop or withdraw from Beginning Algebra ESAP 110 once the course has started. This policy is in effect for fall and spring semesters only.

Theses (Graduate)

Theses (Graduate) page text:

The final copy of a student's thesis must be submitted in a PDF Format to Bailey Library. To do so, use the Submission Form (link below) to submit your thesis, which will be added to the institutional repository, with a record added to the library catalog.

Please contact rockarchives@sru.edu with any questions or concerns regarding the submission process.

Students should consult with their faculty adviser/graduate coordinator for official thesis style guides. Approval code from the Institutional Review Board for the Protection of Human Subjects (IRB-PHS) is required before data collection involving human subjects may begin. Research protocol guidelines may be obtained from the chair of the IRB-PHS.

Total Semester Hours of Credit and GPA (Graduate)

A minimum quality point average of 3.000 and between 30 and 60 semester hours of approved graduate credit and other individual program requirements are required for a master's degree. To assure a balanced and comprehensive program, additional hours may be required or desired by the student. Completion of the semester hour requirement does not in itself entitle one to receive a degree, and the university is not obligated to confer a degree upon completion of the required credit hours.

Additional degree program and university graduation requirements may apply. Requirements vary among programs; therefore, the student should check with graduate coordinators for specific degree or certificate requirements. Physical Therapy, for example, has requirements different from other programs as noted in the Graduate School of Physical Therapy

Student Manual. This also applies to the Doctor of Occupational Therapy and Ed.D. programs.

Transcripts

Students may obtain official transcripts of their academic records from the Office of Academic Records and Registration (<https://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/request-a-transcript/>) by written request or placing an online order. A complimentary copy of the transcript is sent to all students upon graduation. Transcripts are not released to students who have outstanding financial obligations, or other holds at the University. The University only issues official transcripts. Unofficial transcripts for currently enrolled students exist on MySRU under the Student Profile tab. Official transcripts include the student's entire undergraduate and graduate record. Students may request to have only their SRU undergraduate or graduate record sent.

A student's academic transcript will indicate any disciplinary action taken that leads to separation from the institution. That is, should a student be suspended or dismissed from the university under the provisions of the Code of Conduct (<https://www.sru.edu/offices/student-conduct/code-of-conduct/>), a notation will be placed on the student's transcript for the duration of the sanction. The notation will be removed upon expiration or by action of the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs; Chief Academic Officer or Chief Student Affairs Officer.

Transfer Credit Undergraduate

- In accordance with the PA State System of Higher Education Board of Governors Policy 1999-01-A: The Transfer Student Policy, Slippery Rock University of Pennsylvania strives to transfer college credit in a student-centered, fair, consistent, flexible manner, while maintaining the academic integrity of the university and its curricula.
- The acceptance or denial of transfer credit is not determined exclusively based on the accreditation of the sending institution or the mode of delivery. However, in some cases, programmatic accreditation at the higher education level is expected of the transfer institution.
- Courses, programs, and occupational experiences for military-related learning are evaluated based on their learning outcomes, using valid evaluation measures, including the recommendations of the American Council on Education (ACE), a third-party review conducted by appropriately qualified reviewers and their recommendations.
- Courses and programs evaluated and recommended for transfer credit by the NCCRS (National College Credit Recommendation Service) will be considered for transfer in concert with the academic departments.
- SRU does not limit the number of credits a student may transfer to the University; however, students must complete all university graduation requirements.
- SRU will consider all non-developmental transfer credits for which a letter grade of "D-" or greater was earned.
- SRU converts Quarter Hour credits to Semester Hour credits by multiplying the Quarter Hours by .666. Resulting credit hours valued as a fraction or percentage, 2.33, 2.5, etc., may be used to meet requirements. However, students must still earn a total of 42 credits of Rock Studies Requirements to meet all university graduation requirements.

- All questions and appeals regarding the transfer of credits to Slippery Rock University of Pennsylvania should be directed to the Transfer Admissions area of the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. There, questions are reviewed by the University's official credit evaluators and, if needed, are reviewed in consult with the chairperson of the academic department associated with the course. If a course syllabus is needed to further investigate the student's appeal, it is the responsibility of the student to provide this information. The Transfer Admissions office strives to respond to the student with a final determination within 10-14 days of receipt of the appeal/receipt of the syllabus.

Graduate

Graduate students requesting graduate transfer credit must complete the Graduate Student Transfer Credit Form (<https://www.sru.edu/Documents/admissions/graduate/Graduate-Student-Transfer-Credit-Form.pdf>) and submit to the Graduate Admissions Office with official graduate transcripts. Acceptance or denial of transfer credit is not determined exclusively on the basis of the accreditation of the sending institution or the delivery method of the course(s), but is based on how well the course matches and aligns with the current curriculum of the graduate program in which the student is enrolled and with faculty approval. At times, faculty may request a syllabus to be submitted for the course the student is transferring.

A maximum of one-third or 12 semester graduate credit (course) hours (whichever is met first) of the of the program's required total credit hours may be transferred to Slippery Rock University. For example, in a 30 credit hour graduate program, no more than 10 credits may transfer. These credits must carry at least a "B" grade, and be approved by the appropriate graduate program coordinator and the Director of Graduate Admissions. Those grades received for courses other than Slippery Rock University's will be recorded but will not be included in the student's cumulative grade point average.

Credits earned in extension courses and in off-campus centers of other institutions will be reviewed for acceptance. Transfer of credits from other institutions will be recommended by the graduate coordinator and be approved/disapproved by the Director of Graduate Admissions. No more than six semester hours shall be transferred from another institution if taken after a student has been admitted to a graduate program at Slippery Rock University.

Appeals of transfer credit evaluation must be made in writing to the Graduate Coordinator for review by the Graduate Coordinator and the Director of Graduate Admissions.

The Graduate Transfer of Credit Policy is reviewed annually by the Graduate Council.

Transient Student Status (Undergraduate)

Slippery Rock University students who are in good academic standing, or who are under academic probation/suspension and plan to take courses at another institution for transfer back to Slippery Rock University must complete and have approved by their adviser, chairperson and dean (if suspended) a transient student clearance form and comply with all regulations cited on that form. Credit will not be awarded for transient courses determined by the Director of Academic Records and Registration or his/her staff to duplicate coursework already posted on students' SRU records. Transient credit will be awarded for courses in which grades of “D-” or better have been earned. Grades earned as a transient student will not be computed in students’ SRU cumulative GPAs. Copies of the Transient Student form are available in the Office of Academic Records and Registration and online (https://www.sru.edu/documents/academics/academic-services/academic-records/Transient_Clearance_UGRD.pdf). Transient students may not take credit earned by examination. Other policies governing transient status are available from the Office of Academic Records and Registration. Students must complete 30 of their last 60 credits in residence at SRU. In addition, individual departments may establish residency requirements for their majors and minors. Students should check with their academic adviser to determine the requirements for their academic program.

Upper Division Course Work (Undergraduate)

All degrees require the completion of a minimum of 48 credit hours of upper division course work defined as any 100-or 200-level course with two or more 3-credit prerequisite courses (including sequential prerequisites, but not including basic competency courses or exams) and any 300- and 400-level courses. At least 24 of the 48 credits must be completed at Slippery Rock University.

At least half a student’s major must consist of upper division course work (only 300-level and above).

Students with fewer than 45 credits (Sophomore II) must have the permission of the instructor to enroll in 300 and 400 level courses.

Veteran Students Course Scheduling

Act 46 of 2014 requires public institutions of higher education in Pennsylvania to provide veteran students, as defined in the Act, with preference course scheduling. Non-compliance may be reported to the Pennsylvania Department of Education by submitting the Higher Education Complaint form found at: www.education.pa.gov (<https://www.education.pa.gov/Postsecondary-Adult/CollegeCareer/Pages/Students-Complaints.aspx>).

In accordance with the Pennsylvania “Higher Education Course Scheduling Preference for Veteran Student Act”, Slippery Rock University has broadened the definition of “veteran student” to include the following groups of students:

1. Any student who “has served in the U.S. Armed Forces, including a reserve component and National Guard, and was discharged or released from such service under conditions other than dishonorable”.
2. Any student currently serving in any branch of the U.S. Armed Forces, including a reserve component and National Guard.
3. Any contracted SRU ROTC student.

Veterans receiving “course scheduling preference” will be assigned the first registration date and time within their respective class level... graduate, post-baccalaureate and undergraduate.

Students, who have identified themselves as being “veterans”, as defined above, will automatically receive their priority registration date and time on MySRU. For consideration of transfer credit for military education and occupational training, Veterans should submit a Joint Services Transcript (JST) or Community College of the Air Force (CCAF) transcript to the Transfer Admissions Office. A copy of the DD214 or current Military ID should be submitted to the Veterans Certifying Official.

Students with questions concerning course scheduling preference for veterans may contact any of the following individuals:

Ms. Keshia Booker - Assistant Director of Multicultural Development, Keshia.Booker@sru.edu, 724-738-4440

Ms. Connie Edwards – Director of Academic Records and Registration, Rebecca.Farren@sru.edu, 724-738-4381

Ms. Amber Korcok - Veterans Services Coordinator, Amber.Korcok@sru.edu, 724-738-2862

Visiting Students (PASSHE)

Students desiring to transfer credit and grades earned at other universities in the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education back to Slippery Rock University may do so as “Visiting Students.” Courses taken under this program are treated the same as courses taken at Slippery Rock University in computing the students’ GPA. A special form, with a list of program requirements, is available in the Office of Academic Records and Registration and online (<http://www.sru.edu/academics/academic-services/academic-records/forms/>) and must be approved by the students’ adviser or chairperson, academic dean, and the Director of Academic Records and Registration.

Withdrawal From The University (Undergraduate)

REQUIREMENTS AND PROCEDURES FOR WITHDRAWING FROM THE UNIVERSITY

Students electing to withdraw from the university can do so through an e-withdrawal form which is located in the MySRU portal under ACADEMICS>ACADEMIC SUPPORT TOOLS>WITHDRAW FROM SRU. Only standard withdrawals may be completed through this form. For medical-related withdrawals, students should contact the Office of Student Support at 724-738-2121.

Undergraduate students who have left the university for whatever reason and for whatever length of time and are readmitted are responsible for meeting all graduation (Liberal/Rock Studies and major) requirements that are in effect the term they are readmitted, not the term they originally entered the university.

The last official day to withdraw from the University (all classes) is the day before Final Exams start. Please see the Academic Calendar (<https://catalog.sru.edu/academic-calendar/>) for specific dates.

Writing Outcomes For Slippery Rock University Graduates (Undergraduate)

1. Programs may ensure that their graduates attain the outcomes for writing ability determined for their disciplines through any of the following methods:
 - a. The outcomes could be demonstrated through work completed in a number of courses. Faculty in a program would identify the courses and the number of courses that could ensure graduates would attain the designated writing outcomes.

- b. Each program could designate course(s) either within the major or outside the major that students would need to complete in order to attain the writing outcomes for their major program.
 - c. The program's faculty could be charged with incorporating writing outcome in all courses within a program. Writing outcomes for the program would be accomplished through the practice of writing within the discipline throughout the program and demonstrated through production of a graduation portfolio during the senior year. The portfolio could be graded anew, or consist of already graded completed writing.
 - d. A program could use a combination of any of the above methods to ensure its graduates' attainment of the writing outcomes designated for the program.
2. Writing outcomes required of graduates of a major program should always be determined by the faculty teaching within the program; those same faculty should always determine whether the writing outcomes are being met.
 3. The university assessment core committee will evaluate and approve each major program's plan to implement and assess writing outcomes for the program's graduates. Each plan should include the following as appropriate:
 - a. A rationale for the method used to determine the graduation writing outcomes that would include accreditation standards and/or best practices in the discipline.
 - b. A description of the graduation learning outcomes for the program.
 - c. The curriculum for the program.
 - d. A rubric that will assess the plan's coherence with the university's, accreditation agency's, and/or discipline's stated writing outcomes for graduates.
 - e. If a course or set of courses is chosen, course outline(s) highlighting graduation writing outcomes should be submitted.
 - f. If a graduation portfolio is chosen, the rationale should specify the writing outcomes targeted and an explanation of how they will be demonstrated by the student in the portfolio presentation.
 4. The university will provide for support to assist programs in the development of implementation and assessment plans, and in faculty development regarding writing instruction within a discipline. This support may come from the Center for Excellence in Teaching and Educational Technology, the university's assessment core committee, or some other entity developed for the purpose of enhancing writing outcomes among SRU graduates. The Writing Center will continue to provide support for students as they develop their writing abilities.

outstanding course requirement the student needs to complete. This is different from an incomplete grade (p. 1199), which students must request.

- The X grade may also be assigned to a course by the Office of Academic Records and Registration at the end of a term when a grade is not submitted by the instructor. The Office of Academic Records and Registration will notify the dean of the college in which the course is taught that an X grade has been assigned. The dean of the college offering the course will request that the instructor submit a grade change form as soon as possible to assign a final grade for the student.

Other provisions:

- The X grade will not affect the student's semester or cumulative GPA at the time the grade is given. However, the X grade must be removed from the student's record prior to the end of the student's next semester of enrollment. At the end of the student's next semester of enrollment, the grade of X will be converted to a grade of F. At that time, the student's semester and cumulative GPA will be recalculated to include the grade of F;
- The X grade cannot be extended beyond the student's next semester of enrollment;
- If a graduating student receives a grade of X during their final semester of enrollment, the student will be permitted to graduate as long as the course in question is not required for graduation;
- A student should not re-register for a course for which they have received a grade of X in an attempt to complete any coursework. The grade of X cannot be resolved through a second registration or repeat of the course. The grade of X can only be resolved by communicating with the instructor of record a more appropriate course of action for the assignment of a final grade;
- An X should not be assigned to allow the student an opportunity to repeat the entire course;
- Students who have stopped attending class or who have never attended class should be assigned a grade of F. Students are responsible either for completing the required work in the course or withdrawing from a course for which they have been registered. If the instructor feels an immediate failing grade is not warranted, assigning the grade of X extends the student's opportunity to communicate with the instructor regarding a more appropriate course of action for the assignment of a final grade.

X Grades

The grade of X means "no grade given." The X grade may be awarded under the following circumstances:

- If a faculty member determines the student has not completed assignments or that course activities were not sufficient to make a normal evaluation of academic performance, a grade of X may be assigned. Note that once the X grade is entered, the instructor is required to indicate the date the student last participated or attended class;
- The X grade may also be used by an instructor if the student misses the final assessment (project or exam) and that is the only
