Institutional Assessment

Assessment is the process through which effective learning is planned and measured by relating degree program goals to actual student performance. We do assessment to improve student learning. The Assessment Core Committee of Slippery Rock University has been working since 1998 to help the University community develop effective assessment processes. The web site reflects the collective efforts of both academic and student life programs to articulate student-learning outcomes and to devise appropriate and effective means of measuring student achievement.

Location

Slippery Rock University's campus is located in Slippery Rock, a borough in northern Butler County, Pennsylvania, that is a safe and friendly community of approximately 3,500 residents. SRU is less than an hour's drive north of Pittsburgh, one hour south of Erie and 45 minutes east of Youngstown, Ohio. Two major interstate highways, I-79 and I-80, intersect seven miles from the University, making the campus easily accessible.

Students

Three quarters of SRU's more than 8,800 students are from western Pennsylvania, including the largest number of students hailing from Pittsburgh and other cities in Allegheny County. Another 13% of students come from central and eastern Pennsylvania. The remaining 11% are out-of-state students, as students from 43 states and 30 countries are represented among the student population.

Faculty

The approximately 453 full- and part-time faculty members at SRU are teachers, scholars and contributors to the University and community. The typical faculty member teaches four undergraduate courses each semester, engages in scholarly research and creative endeavors and serves in a variety of decision-making roles. Of the current full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty, 48% are male and 52% are female and 18% are members of minority racial and ethnic groups. In addition, 91% of all full-time faculty are tenured or occupy tenure-track positions, and 94% of full-time tenured or tenure-track faculty have earned a doctoral or other terminal degree.

Campus

SRU's gorgeous 660-acre campus is located in the rolling countryside of western Pennsylvania. More than 30 major buildings and 64 total facilities, which blend traditional and modern architecture, contributes to an optimal living and learning environment.

Bailey Library supports the University's mission by developing collections and services that make the library integral to the learning process, both within and beyond the classroom. SRU has completed a multiphased renovation of the library to better serve the needs of the 21st century student. Services and resources include, but are not limited to, personal librarians; holdings which include print and electronic books, government documents, print and electronic journals, newspapers, DVDs, audio books, archival records and special collections; group and individual learning spaces for scholarly work and recreational reading; interlibrary loan and document delivery services; the Technology Learning Center; the Instructional Materials Center; and University Archives and Special Collections Room.

Other facilities include Swope Music Hall, designed as both a performing and learning center; Vincent Science Center, with laboratories, classrooms and a greenhouse; and Morrow Field House, an instructional and recreational facility that houses a gymnasium, swimming pool, handball court, dance studio, tennis court and track. McKay Education, Spotts World Cultures and Eisenberg Classroom buildings are examples of standard educational facilities that have small and large classrooms, auditoria and other specialized classrooms.

Buildings erected since 2001 include the School of Physical Therapy Building and the Advanced Technology and Science Hall, which houses the Computer Science; Chemistry; and Geography, Geology and the Environment departments. Recent renovations include the Strain Safety Building, which underwent a $6.5-million upgrade in 2018 and the Performing Arts Complex which underwent a $29.2-million renovation and will reopen in 2021. The University opened the Harrisville Building in 2016 in nearby Harrisville, Pennsylvania, to house the physician assistant and occupational therapy programs.

Students reside in eight on-campus residence halls: six newer buildings housing students on the lower end of campus and two traditional halls located on the upper end of campus. Additionally, upperclass students can reside at the ROCK Apartments, an eight-building complex with 188 beds. Privately owned residence halls, apartments and other types of living accommodations are available off-campus.

There are two dining halls, Boozel and Weisenfluh, as well as dining options including Starbucks and Quaker Steak and Lube inside the 107,000-square-foot Smith Student Center. That building also houses a ballroom, theater, book store, conference rooms, a bank branch and other offices and amenities.
